is not available with something already on band. The unavailable odd bits and yards all go into the "black bag," and when there is enough for the gown or cloak, or both, she happens to want, away it is sent to the dyers and comes out black, with feathers and ribbon enough, and even stockings and gloves to make one of her lovely black "confections."

time 3,494,43 miles and has never met with an accident.

There are 45,000 union bricklayers in the united opening. When the ironis are timished about eight rows are crocheted to the neck, which forms the foundation for the sailor color. In every loop must be put two single crochets and this must be continued to the outer edge of the collar, which is cocheted in one with the jacket. From there the fronts and back are continued in addition to the collar. The border is composed of five rows of pink and six of white zephyr. Careful attention must be given to the corners where the stitches are gained, When the back and fronts are done they are joined, commencing four inches from the cottom, but sufficient space should be left for the sleeve. The latter is crocheted around and around into this opening and the border is the same as that on the jacket. The last row of the white is made of picots and the same edge is put all around the jacket. It is fied with a string and tassets of pink zephyr. The string is made of chain stitches and is 12½ inches in length.

A dress for a little girl of 4 or 5, having a blouse at once easy to make and comfortable for the wearer is to be seen in the next sketch. It is of tartan cloth in red and blue with straw colored twist. It is of tartan cloth in red and blue with straw colored twist, It is particularly suitable for school wear.

Sailor's suits are so often selected for small boys that there is little of movelly in them, but they always have a dressy look, while appearing, as they are, entirely serviceable. It must be this fact that leads so many mothers, who would almost faint at the thought of their sons upon the water, to make imitation Jack tars of the dear little fellows. The blouse of the one shown has seams only under the arms, and is put on over the head and gathered at the wrist with elastic. As will be seen from the illustration the blouse has a slit below the collar, which is buttoned invisibly, and prevents it being torn in putting on. The collar is loose and can be buttoned to the neck band. The plastron is loose, also, and fastens to tile blouse with tiny buttons underneath the collar. This arrangement affords a chance to have a variety of collars and plastrons. The trousers are timmed with gold buttons.

There is a dress for a little girl from four to eight years old in the fourth picture, and blue polaid. It is more dressy than my other example of the mixture of tartan and plain material, being a little more elaborate, but not much more difficult to make. It would be equally as pretty if velvet took the place of the plaid in the yoke and sleeves, but the velvet should be black or several shades darker than the woolen goods.

NEW STYLE OF GIRLS CLOAK.

The skirt and sleeves are secondeon pleated, and the cults are braided to match the bodice. The latter is lined with a bright contrasting silk if green has been chosen for the coak, or with black if red is the color. With the clock the dearest little bonnet, just like the old-fashioned bictures, can be worn, one that file close about the fash and that has a characteristic of the color with the color of the clock. The little bone under the chin. The bonnet should match the color of the clock. THE LEGISLATURE'S WORK.

BIZS UP OF THE PERBERT STATUS OF APPAIRS AT
THE STATE CAPITIAL—ADJOURNMENT SCARCELY PROBABLE BEFORE JURE—THE SENATE AWAY AHEAD OF THE HOUSE IT'S WORK.
HARRISON—The Legislature has not yet fixed the date of final adjournment, but
the session will hardly be extended beyond June 1. Two years ago the members left for good the last week in May. Already many members of the present sess on are tired of the dull routine work and are anxious to draw the balance of the salary
due them and go home.
The Senate is still away ahead of the Hones with its work, although holding but,
one session aduly to the two held by the House. In 1891 the House began holding night resulons April 14 and continued to do so four days a week until the close of the session. the senate will hardly hold night
sessions, but it is probable that it will hold
morning and afternoon sessions effer this week.
There's lots of work ahead for the mem-

sessions, but it is probable that it will hold morning and afternoon sessions after this week.

There's lots of work ahead for the members of both branches. Four hundred and fourteen bills have already been introduced in the Senate, 145 of which have passed. 'The Senate has had also passed 15 House, bills, making a total of 157. The total number of bills favorably reported from the committees to the Senate is 395, many of them being House bills. But 19 bills have been adversely reported. Many others were reported from committees negatively though, but were afterward referred back to the committee, then brought out with an affifmative recommendation, and are now well on their way through both branches. The Senate has voted down 12 bills, the most important of which was the measure to extend the minimum school term to seven months, the Cronse bill regulating the charges of telephone companies, the Crothers rapid transit bill and the Meek fence bill.

There have been introduced in the House

Crothers rapid transit bill and the Meek fence bill.

There have been introduced in the House 762 bills up to the present time, or 25 more than found their way into this body at the same time 2 years ayo. Five hundred and forty-three bills have been retorted from committee to the House this season. Seventy of these have been racted upon finally and six have gone to the Governor for his consideration.

six have gone to the Governor for his consideration.

The number of bills adversely reported to the Horse is far in excess of those negatived by the Senate committees. This list includes many measures of importance, among them the auti-discrimination and anti-free-pers measures, the Quinnan Railrond Commission bill, the bill making it unlawful for railroad companies to charge more than 2 cents a mile for carrying passengers, and a number of free textbook measures. Two years ago the aggregate number of bills reported from committee up to April 1 was 583,80 had been passed, and seven sent to the Governor.

MEADVILLE.—The assignees of Delemater & Co. have began paying creditors of that firm They number nearly 1,200, and there is $109.797 73 in all for distribution. The general creditors will get but 25-10 cents on the dollar. The judgement creditors of G. W. Delamater get 14 mills on the dollar. The unsecured creditors of G. B. Delamater get 14 7-10 mills on the dollar, and those of T. A. Delamater 28-10 mills on the dollar. Crawford county gets $4,007.02 on its claim of $45,000, and the State $7,582 80 on its deposit of $104,000. This latter sum, however, goes to the bondsmen of the State Treasurer who made good the loss to the State when it occurred.

HAZELTON—The explosion of a blast in Pardee Bros.' Laurel Hill mine broke down the wall of an old shaft which was full of water, and flooded a portion of the Pardee mine. Two miners were drowned, and the others at work had a narrow escape. Their names are Thomas Hudson and John Trembath.

The Kane bill, requiring unnaturalized persons 21 years of age or over to pay a license of $3 annually when employed within this commonwealth, passed finally by a vote of 125 to 11. A similar measure was vetoed 2 years ago, by Governor Patticon, but Mr. Kane is sanguine that the present bill will meet with the chief executive's approval. The Minchell bill, prohibiting the employment of any but American citizens in the erection, enlargement or improvement of institutions or public buildings or public works to which State funds are appropriated, was defeated on final passage. I began to get restless for fear the war would be over before we had the opportunity of meeting the enemy and testing the difference between Southern chivalry and Northern grit, and I remembered the first battle of Mannassa, how the boys in gray had routed and put to flight the boys in blue—which yictory was a blessing in disguise. After marching and countermarching several hours, we came in sight of the Federal forces in an open field, where we could see the boys in blue and gray as they charged and advanced upon each other in "deadiy battle array." Here we halled for awhile, and had the plessure of letting the Federal artillery play upon us for some arthirty minutes or more. While we were standing here waiting on the enemy, we saw a regiment of men come helter-skelter, pell-mell, stampeding, and panic-stricken, and we thought General Grant and his entire army were making a grand charge; but our detusion was dispel ed when we recognized our boys in gray, who had made a charge and been repulsed; they had as brave hearts as we, but their cowardly legs had got scared and run away with them. When we charged bayonets and stopped the enemy with as much zeal and valor as if they had not retreated or fallen back. I would no

HOMRIBLE TALE OF SHIPWRECK

A Few Men Almost Dead Saved From a Lost Vessel.

The steamer Loy Angeles, from San Francisco, arrived at Redond, Cal., having on board Captain Drummond and three of the crew of the four-masted steel British ship
King James, previously reported abandoned
on fire. The aptain and his companions
were picked up-off Huenne one morning.
Their boat, when it left the burning vessel,
contained 18 men, but 13 were drowned by
its being capsized.

The boat was capsized during the evening
of March 31, and four of the occupants were drowned. The captain, his son and the remainder of the crew succeeded in righting her, but the boat was full of water and they remained up to their wal-ts in water 14 hours, when the men, worn out, exhausted, and chilled began dying. One after anoth r they passed away until eight, including the captain's son were dead. The dead were pinshed overboard.

When picked up by the Los Angeles this morning the captain and the three remaining members of the crew had been five days without food or water. They were so weak as to be unable to stand or walk, and had to be lifted from the boat.

down with the vessel. Details of the calamity are lacking.

The censors are suppressing all reports of the disaster to the palace steamer, and journals printing stories of the calamity have been seized by the authorities. A ukase has been issued prohibiting newspapers from being printed before the afternoon, presumably to permit the censors to enjoy their morning snooze before having to examine the proposed issues.
