Williams, Frostburg, Md., for first-class work.

S. F. WILSON, Salesman for J. B. Williams.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Note the change in the B. & O. time card, which appears on 4th page.

Bruce Snyder and Charles S. Seal are all smiles. It's a girl in each case.

S. L. Livengood was quite sick, last week, but is again able to be about.

Frank Petry has the best chicken dog in town. Up to date he has killed 32 chickens for one man.

John Coleman now carries the mail across the mountain to Ursina. John is getting to be a big mail contractor.

Miss Cora Cnagay, of Grantsville, has returned from Southern California, where she had been for nearly a year.

Stewart Lichty came home from Connelleville, last week, to visit his old home. He made THE STAR a pleasant call while here.

No matter who voted for Alf Wagner or who voted against him, it must be admitted that he is a good Street Commissioner.

Mrs. George W. Robison and family were visited this week by Mrs. Robison's uncle, Mr. Jacob Brown, a Cumberland lawyer.

Geo. Livengood and family, of Scott City, Kan., are visiting friends and relatives here. Their numerous friends are glad to see them.

Hiram Fuller has the contract to build E. Statler's brick residence and Adam Fogle will erect a handsome brick residence for T. Glatfley.

What's the matter with our leading citizens that they do not shape things up to get electric light here? Do they love darkness rather than light?

Rev. J. H. Weaver, State Organizer of the Sons of Temperance, will deliver a free temperance lecture, in the Opera house, Thursday evening, July 20th.

Johns & Hartline are doing a booming business at their trade—plastering. They are excellent workmen, and everybody in the country seems to be onto the fact.

If this town had a board of trade, scores of beneficial things for the community would be accomplished that otherwise never get any further along than to be talked of.

Rumor has it that Mr. Will McMurdy and Miss Mattie Meager were married on Tuesday evening last, in Grantsville. If the rumor is correct, THE STAR extends its congratulations.

A visitor to the World's Fair was recently relieved of $3,000 worth of diamonds. That settles it; we will not go to the big exposition if there is danger of being robbed of our diamonds.

Misses Edith Lichliter, Lizzie Livengood, Annie McKinley and Mr. Geo. Hay have returned from the State normal school of California, Pa., all having passed the Junior examination of that institution.

Prof. C. E. Dickey spent several days among friends in Salisbury, last week. He has resigned his position at the California State Normal and has accepted the principalship of the Avilon schools, near Pittsburg.

M. Dively is visiting his family, this week, and all his friends here are pleased to see him. He says Pittsburg agrees with him and that his health is much better than it was before he secured a situation there.

We ought to have electric light, because, all things considered, it is the cheapest as well as the best. Besides that, it would tend to give our town a reputation for enterprise that would make it boom.

The contract for remodeling the Salisbury school house has been let to Alfred Wagner, for something like $850. Our schools will have six teachers, the coming term, which is good evidence that Salisbury's population is rapidly increasing.

FOR SALE! A good, new, 32-calibre, single-shot Winchester rifle. One of the best guns in Somerset county. Has set trigger and No. 2 barrel. It can be bought very cheap. Call at THE STAR office and see gun, if you are looking for a bargain in fire arms.

Rev. Robt. B. Robinson, the colored gentleman who was to deliver a lecture in the Opera house, last Saturday evening, could not be here, owing to sickness. Mr. Robinson is said to be a very fine speaker, and our people were much disappointed at his non-arrival.

Will Fogle come over from Berlin, this week, to work here at his trade—stone masonry. Whenever mechanics run out of work in other towns in this county, they know they can always find lots of work in Salisbury. Lots of building going on here, right along.

The Colored camp meeting to be held in A. P. Beachy's grove, to begin on the 15th, promises to be a great success. Everybody is getting anxious to hear the celebrated band of jubilee singers that will be in attendance. It will be worth going many miles to attend this camp meeting.

The Somerset Democrat and Somerset Vedette are making the fur fly in great shape. It seems to be a fight to the death, with chances in favor of the Democrat; but just the same, the Vedette is one of the ablest papers in the county, and in it the Democrat has a foe man worthy of its steel.

One hundred dollars will be paid for a case of Drunkenness, Morphine or Tobacco Habit that cannot be cured by the use of Hill's Chloride of Gold Tablets, manufactured by the Ohio Chemical Co., Lima, Ohio. All first-class druggists keep them. Read large advertisement regarding the Tablets in another part of this paper.

One of the successful picnics held in this part of the county on the 4th, was the one held in Durr's grove, at Poca-hontas. A good many of our people attended it and report a first-class time. The persons who got up this picnic understood their business and are receiving golden compliments from those who attended from here.

On the glorious Fourth quite a number of our young folks went to Grantsville to spend the day, and all report a good time. A grand ball was participated in on the platform erected in Jonas Cnagay's gigantic willow tree. John Barchus is said to have called figures, while Prof. Dickey was the orchestra and furnished excellent music with a mouth organ.

W. S. Kimmell, one of the editors of the Somerset Vedette, made THE STAR a fraternal call, Wednesday, in company with J. Willis Pisel, also of Somerset. Both of the gentlemen were very welcome and are invited to call again. They were accompanied to the town by Miss Mamie Mendler, of Bethany, W. Va., and Miss Mamie Patton, of Somerset.

Geo Hay was very anxious to go trout fishing after he returned from California, Pa. He therefore hid himself away to the waters of raging old Pine run, and it is now said upon good authority that there is one fish less in that famous trout stream than heretofore. Talk about the Extract works killing the fish! It's such fellows as George Hay that are making them scarce.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Alonzo H. Shumaker and Miss Lizzie Brandler, the event to take place on Tuesday evening, July 18th. Mr. Shumaker is a young man of excellent character and his bride-to-be is one of Elk Lick's most popular and handsome young ladies. THE STAR extends its most hearty congratulations, in advance, and wishes the couple a long, prosperous and happy life.

And still our citizens are taking no steps to have the name of this town changed, notwithstanding the fact that the present arrangement causes an endless amount of annoyance and inconvenience. So long as the borough goes by one name and the postoffice by another, just so long will strangers who are looking for a location think this is a little, insignificant backwoods hamlet. Can we afford to have such an impression prevail?

A modest Philadelphian, who evidently believes that the office should seek the man, is said to have recently written to President Cleveland as follows: "Here is a description of my person. If you have any offices that are hunting for a man of my style, please let me know." This applicant deserves a good job. He is willing to accommodate any office which happens to be looking for an incumbent. Modesty should not go unrewarded.—Ex.

Our genial friend Jonas J. Beachy, of Garrett county, Md., was a welcome caller at THE STAR office, last week. Judging from Mr. Beachy's conversation, we infer that the people out his way have had about enough of the Christian Science humbug that was recently worked out there for all the revenue that was in it. Beware of false prophets, false healers, she devils and all that kind of human cattle. Their teachings are both pernicious and sacrilegious.

Reports were read at the Forty-first annual meeting of the National council of the Jr. O. U. A. M., in Detroit, showing a total of 1,333 councils, with 131,280 members. The receipts of subordinate councils for the year were $888,578.10; paid out for benefits, $189,790.31; money in treasuries of subordinate councils, $964,135.90. The receipts of the National council for the year have been $28,063.26; paid out, $20,488.99; balance in National treasury $7,545.17.

Ed Engle found a money mine a short time ago, but alas! it was none of "Uncle Sam's" genuine coin that was found. He found a large number of counterfeit 1853 quarters, which had been secreted in an old stone fence in the Stutzman addition to Salisbury borough. The coins were very perfectly made, and when new would undoubtedly have been very hard to detect from the genuine, at least so far as appearance goes. They had evidently been in the stone fence a long time, for they were somewhat corroded.

Simon Tedrow this week tore down the mammoth stone chimney at the north end of the old Samuel Glatfley residence. One by one the ancient relics of bygone days in this town are disappearing and are being replaced by things more modern. While Mr. Tedrow was tearing down this chimney he encountered a lot of humble bees that had made their home in the big stone pile, and while they made it exceedingly interesting for him, he nevertheless came out master of the situation. Simon is game, every inch of him.

The 4th was a very dry day in Salisbury, but the big picnic over at Coal Run was a great success. Lots of our people took in the said picnic and report a most excellent time. Captain Paul Hoffman was on the ground, and as usual, was cluck full of sport and good nature. It just takes about one fellow like our genial friend Hoffman to make a picnic a success. But there were lots of other good, jolly people there, who also did their whole duty, and to the credit of the people of Coal Run it must be said that they know how to give their guests a good time.

This is a queer world and things are not all as they should be. If the Lord in His wisdom would see fit to mete out justice before the Judgment day arrives, what a change there would be. He would take some men out of penitentiary and put them to presiding over courts; He would take some lawyers and judges and send them to penitentiary; He would take some preachers and put them to digging coal, and take some coal diggers and put them to preaching the Gospel; He would take some school teachers and put them to sawing wood, and take some sawyers of wood and put them to teaching school; He would take some rich men and make them exceedingly poor, and He would take some poor men and give them their full share of the great wealth that their hard labor has produced; and He would make a host of delinquent newspaper subscribers pay for their papers; and He would make millions of other crooked places straight that He will attend to properly later on.

"There is a salve for every wound." We refer to Dr. Witt's Witch Hazel Salve, cures burns, bruises, cuts, indolent sores, as a local application in the nostrils it cures catarrh, and always cures piles. A. F. SPEICHER.

Death of Mrs. K. W. Simpkins. This whole community was saddened, last Friday, by the death of Mrs. K. W. Simpkins. She was taken sick on July 4th and died on the Friday following, her malady being impaction of the bowels.

Mrs. Simpkins was a most estimable woman and stood very high in the community. She had noble traits of character, being kind, sympathetic and generous. She will be sadly missed, indeed. The funeral was conducted by Rev. W. W. Kribbs and was attended by a large concourse of people. The deceased was a member of the Reformed church.

Hannah Rice was the maiden name of Mrs. Simpkins, and she was born in Liverpool, England, Aug. 21st, 1852. She was therefore in her 41st year of age at the time of her death. Some years ago (we do not know how long) she made the acquaintance of Mr. Simpkins, who at that time was a sailor. The acquaintance ripened into affection and resulted in marriage. In 1877 Mr. Simpkins brought his estimable bride to his old home, here in Salisbury, and in this town and vicinity they lived happily and contented up to the time that death entered the threshold. No children blessed their union, so the bereaved husband is left entirely alone. He has the sympathy of THE STAR and of the whole community. May he be strengthened by a divine hand to bear his sorrow, and may he again be reunited with his loved one on the other shore.

The deceased has three brothers and three sisters living in Liverpool, England. These also have our sympathy.
