CARES OF BUSINESS BRING

Trials and Temptations to the Husbands and Fathers Struggling to Make a Living.

Text: "Speak ye comfortably to Jerusa lem,"—Isaiah xl., 2.

What an awful six weeks in commercial eircles! The crashing of banks from San Francisco to New York and from ocean to ocean. The complete uncertainty that has halted all styles of business faithy that has halted all styles of business faithy that has halted all styles of business faithree months and the pressure of the money market for the last year have put all bargain makers a their wirs' end. Some of the best men is the land have faltered—the best men is the land have faltered—and whose hearts are enlisted in every good work and whose hands have blessed every great charity. The church of side every great charity is the sympathies and plead be fore heaven with all availing prayer. The schools such men have established, the churches they have built, the asylums and beneficent institutions the have fostered, will be their eulogy long after their banking institutions are forgotten.

Such men can never fail. They have their treasures in banks that never break and will be millionaires forever. The stringency of the money market, I am glad legislature at their convening next month in Washington to relax. May the wisdo of Almignity God come down upon our National legislature at their growning next month in Washington and such results be reached as shall restore confidence and revive trade and multiply prosperities! Yet not only now in the time of financial disaster, but all through life, our schell convention of the string and try to offer
some curative prescribe.

In the first place, I have sometime feel ruinous trials and temptations on that it takes now three or four times so money are from small and limited eaptial in business. It is everywhere

Again, I remark that many of our business menare tempted to neglect their home duties. How often it is that the store and the home seem to clash, but there ought not to be any collision. It is often the case that the father is the mere treasurer of the family, a sort of agent to see that they have dry goods and groceries. The work of family government he does not touch, Once or twice in a year he calls the children up on a Sabbath afternoon when he has a half hour he does not exactly know what to do with, and in that half nour he disciplines the children and chides them and corrects their faults and gives them a great deal of good advice, and then wonders all the rest of the year that his children do not do better when they have the wonderful advantage of that semi-annual castigation.

KEYSTONE STATE CULLINGS. SOLDIERS' COLUMN

TOWANDA—The boiler in the Towanda nail works exploded Tuesday afternoon. Andrew Benjamin was instantly killed. Ross Hatton fatally injured and a man named Bennett severely burned and bruised. Another man named McGovern is missing and thought to be in the ruins. Within a few minutes after the explosion the whole plant was in flames and the buildings were completely destroyed. The plant was owned by W. H. Godcharles and the loss is estimated at $25,000 about half covered by injurance.

Braddock—Two small boys, Stanison and Harry Peterson, aged respectively 8 and 19 years, sons of a Pole employed at the Edgar Thompson Steel works, were drowned here in the Monongahela river. The remains were brought up from the river with very little trouble, the little chaps clasped in each others arms, and taken to an under taker's establishment.

OLD-FASHIONED POTATO BUGS BACK.

WASHINGTON,—The old-fashioned potato by the modern striped-jacket bug, has again made its appearance in Franklin township and is devouring all the potatoes, cabbage, and other growing plant tops in sight.

OSCAR KRATZER and Dr. Bagnal fait of Warren, claim the sturgeon of the striped of the striped by side and where the striped by side by side and where the striped by side and where the striped by side by side and other growing plant tops in sight.

OSCAR KRATZER and Dr. Bagnal, fishermen, of Warren, claim the prize on a spoon-bill sturgeon 2 feet long. They pulled it out of the river just below the bridge, but envious people are skeptical, and charre the lucky fishermen with putting up a job by fastening the sturgeon to a line before it was thrown into the Allegheny river. However that may be, the catch is in Warren on exhibition.

A PRINCESS was born on Blue Island, near Monongahela, last Tuesday night. She is a Bohemian princess, her mother being a gypsy who claims to be in the royal line. Dr. Charles Scott, who was called, suggested that the child be called Mary Queen of Scott, but the parents said the child would be named Eulalie.

THE State Supreme Court granted an injunction to restrain the Mavor from interfering with the plans of the building of City Hall at Philadelphia, This completely knocks out the Penrose bill, which was a bone of contention at the last session of the Legis ature.

THE Pennsylvania railroad supported the surviving reople and animals of Main's circus doring 10 days' idleness after the wreck, built a train of 13 new cars, paid for all repairs, completed the original number of wagous and also paid Mr. Main $75,000 in cash.

A Young farmer of Huntingdon township, Westmoreland county, has been fined $20 for misinforming a keeper of a tollgate as to the distance he was going, thereby saving about 3 cents toll.

ANNE BYRANT, of Ridgeview, near Derry station was bitten four times by a copperheadsnake yesterday. All efforts to produce sleep have failed and the victim struggles violently. BELLEFONTE citizens have organized a boycott against members of the town coun-cil who passed an ordinance making it un-awful for cows to stray about the streets.

The name of the place known as Bethel, on the Somerset & Cambria railroad has been changed to Holshopple. It is hard to see where the improvement comes in.

John Casper, the 10 year old son of a Jeannette groceryman, took his father's loaded revolver from a bureau drawer, played with it and is expected to die.

WILLIAM MACKY, of Woodside, Fayetta county, has a potato stalk that measured five feet and is coming out in bloom.

THOMAS WILSON, carpenter, fell off the barn of A. T. Polliard, near Rimersburg, a distance of forty feet and was killed.

JOHN C. BOWERS, of Bedford, aged 40 years, fell asleep on a track and 60 cars; assed over his legs. He died in a few hours.

Hickman County, Kentucky, has a judge who is so exceedingly slow to anger that he does not appear to know "contempt of court" when he know "contempt of court" when he sees it. During the trial of a case before him recently two lawyers got mad and went at each other fist and skull. Quiet was restored at last, but soon the belliserents were at it again. When the second riot had been quelled and the frightened spectators had returned to the court-room his honor mildly observed to the Sheriff that "it seems to me there is entirely too much disorder in the court-room."—Indianapolis News.

THE SWORDS OF GRANT AND LEE

"Fame hath crowned with laurel
The swords of Grant and Lee."

Methinks to-night I catch a gleam of steel among the pines,
And yonder by the lilied stream repose the

The ghostly guards who pace the ground a moment stop to see
If all is safe and still around the tents of Grant and Lee.

The gallant men who saw them flash in comradeship to-day
Recall the wild, impetuous dash of val'rous blue and gray;
And 'neath the flag that proudly waves above a Nation free,
They oft recall the missing braves who fought with Grant and Lee.

Their graves are lying side by side where once they met as foes.
And where they in the wildwood died springs up a blood-red rose;
O'er them the bee on golden wing doth flit, and in you tree
A gentle robin seems to sing to them of Grant and Lee.

Orant and Lee.

To day no strifes of sections rise, to-day no shadows fail.

Upon our hand, and 'neath the skies one flag waves over all.

The Blue and Gray as comrades stand, as comrades bend the nee.

And ask God's blessings on the land that gave us Grant and Lee.

So long as Southward, wide and clear, roto mad's river runs, Their deeds will live because they were Co-lumbia's hero sons; So long as bend the Northern pines and blooms the orange tree, The swords will shine that led the lines of valiant Grant and Lee.

Methinks I hear a bugle blow, methinks I hear a drum;
And there with martial step and slow, two ghostly armies come;
They are the men that met as foes, for 'tis the dead I see,
And side by side in peace repose the swords of Grant and Lee.

A Northern Soldier's Prison Life.

Our captors did not allow us to see their newspapers, but, happily for us, a true Union lady lived next door to the jail, and in the evening when all was quiet, she read then we would for our benefit. This Jasted then we would be the word of the guard. We deter headquarters by one of the guard. We so one of the men (of course he was a Yankee; when the benefit was a Yankee; when it began to grow dark he tied a board hait to a small string and threw it from the varied window into the Union lady's yard. In a few minutes he had a bite, hauled in his ine, and draxgling from the nail was the Charleston "Mercury." After that we went ishing every night, and always with success.

Some curious experiments were tried by those who were sufficiently daring to attempt to get to the Union lines, and some times these desperate movements met with success. One fellow who was acting as nurse told the men that if they would put him into a blanket and carry him to the dead house, which was outs de the guard, and nail him carelessly in a coffin, he would take care of what followed. Accordingly, the thing was done, and the next morning the old darky whose task it was to carry away the corpses of those who had reached the end of their sufferings during the eight, started with his load for a burial place outside the city. When a safe distance had been reached, the nurse gave the coffin lid s kick and arose. The darky gave one fright fully ell and fied toward Richmond, while the dead man went on his way rejoicing.—

H's Honor's Mild Protest.

Hickman County, Kentucky, has a side of forty for the saddest incidents of the war which I witnessed was after the pattle of Gettysburg. Off on the outskirts, eated on the ground, with his back to a ree, was a soldier, dead. His eyes were vieted on some object held tightly clasped in his bands. As we drew nearer we saw twest an ambrotype of two a call children in his was an ambrotype syes on his little loves, brought tears to my syes which I could not restrain had I wanted. There were six of us in the crowd, and we all found great lumps gathering in our throats, and mist coming before our eyes which almost blinded us. We stood looking at him for some time. I was thinking of the wife and baby I had left at home, and wondering how soon, in the mercy of God, she would be left a widow, and my baby boy fatherless. We looked at each other and instinctively seemed to understand our thoughts. Not a word was spoken, but we dug a grave and laid the poor fellow to rest with his children's picture clasped over his heart. Over his grave, on the tree against which he was sitting I inscribed the words:

"Somebody's Father,

Diphtheric Poison from Apples.

Attention is called to the fact that apples stored in cellars or elsewhere are invariably covered with mold or mildew—often invisible, but just as real. The mold consists mostly of microscopic plants, including numerous species of fungl, all of which are more or less poisonous. Physicians say they have traced cases of diphtheria in children to the use of moldy apples. Mothers are in the habit of giving little children apples to play with, and the babies try to eat them. In such cases the mold should be carefully removed from the apples.—Troy Times.

The following story is told of Mark Twain by a gentleman who lives near his residence at Hartford: One day Mark answered the telephone, and, after hallooing for some time without an answer, he used some language in the generally seen in print, but which was certainly picturesque. While the end of the second an answer in the store of an eminent divine whom he knew very well. "Is that you, Doe tor?" questioned Mark: "I didn't hear what you said. My butler has been at the telephone and said he couldn't understand you." bloody connect across the state Pate in wise county, Va, some days ago between the State militia and outlaw Flemene's boys. Half a dozen or more were killed.

"Dee'Taylor, one of the gang, was caught some mouths ago and hanged, and the brothers, four in number, are wanted for complicity in the murder. Two weeks ago they were located in Wise county, and the Governor of Virginia sent a company of 60 soldiers to assist the sheriff. The outlaws were surrounded and a bushwhacking siege of three days ersued. Calvin Flemens was mortally wounded and captured early in the fight, but the three other brothers killed a half dozen militiamen and succeeded in getting higher up in the hile, where friends are reported to be going to their assistance. As the Flemens and their friends are all dead shots and desperate men, the ultimate result is a marter of anxious speculation.

For years the Fleming boys and an innimerable following of relatives have terrorized the mountainous regions of both with the state of the state of the state and then the other. The family ended the daying alife the authorities of family of which and then the other. The family ended the armed that the state of the family is utterly fearless and all are well armed. Their strongholds in the caves of the Cumberland mountains are many and almost inaccessible.

Abouteight months ago a family of three were attacked in their cabin, the man shot at the door, his wife brutally treated and then shot, as was also their child, They were left for head, but the woman lived long enough to me ean ante mortem statement to the effect that the Flemens were the guilty parties. For a long time no effort made to arrest them. Finally the sheriff of the State, and, backed by militia 60 strong and each member sworn in as a deputy, tried to capture the Flemens, but failed.

The Italians derived "starboard" starboard and Larboard.

The Italians derived "starboard" from que ta borda, "this side," and "larboard" from que la borda, which means "that side." Abbreviated, these two phrases appear as sta borda and la borda. Their clo e re-emblance cau ed so many mistakes that the admiralty ordered the "larboard" be discontinued and "nort" substitute he discontinued and "nort" substitute. to be discontinued and "port" substi-tuted. "Port" for "larboard" is said to be first used in Arthur Pitt's "Voyage"." in 1580.
