How He Trapped Her

How He Trapped Her,
Dr. John Erskine, a well-known Scottish divine, was remarkable for for his simplicity of manner and gentle temper.
He returned so often from the pulpit minus his pocket handkerch.ef that Mrs. Erskine at last began to suspect that the handkerchiefs were stolen by some of the old women who lined the pulpit stairs. So both to balk and detect the culprit she sewed a corner of the handkerchief to one of the pockets of his coat-tails.
Half way up the stairs the good doctor lelt a tug, whereupon he turned round and caught hold of the hand of the guiltyold woman, saying, with great tenderness and simplicity:

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded a sease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken in treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken in mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ## DEPARTMENT OF MINES.

GOLD NUGGETS AND METEOR-ITES AT THE FAIR.

Fac-Similes of Huge Chunks of the Precious Metal Worth Many Thou-sands of Dollars—A Collection of Meteorites brom Various Quar-ters of the World.

For the benefit of the uninitiated Chief Skiff, of the Mining Department at the World's Fair, has on exhibition a collection of fac-similes of great nuggets. The case containing them is in the southest corner of the galsimiles of great nuggets. The case containing them is in the southest corner of the gallery.

When the people come past and see the sining chunks of what seems to be pure gold they stop to investigate, says the Chicago Record. Most of them overlook the card "Fac-Similes" that shows the nature of the display. When they see the small signs, reading "Yalue $20,000," they gasp at the thought of such wealth concentrated in one spot. Then they get out note-books and take the full description of every rich piece in the case. And the descriptions tell very interesting stories of valuable discoveries.

Apparently the department was unable to secure data from which to illustrate the history of the American gold fields in this particular line. Most of the specimens shown are from Victoria, Australa, Australia and from the Siberian mines. One of the largest pieces is called the "Welcome" nugget, and is from Ballarat, Victoria, one of the great centers of gold production in Australia. It is a huge, rugged mass, reminding one of the eypress trees in a Southern swamp. Looking at it and picturing the feelings of the man who found it one can imagine the name given the find expressed the whole situation. The miner had been working for months, probably, and making little more than the ordinary wages. Then came the wonderful stroke that unveiled gold worth just $41.83, and weighing 2166 ounces. It is not difficult to the content of the conten Mexico, Kentucky, Arkansas, East Tennessee, Colorado are in company with Greenland, East India and Continental Europe, In some cases are cross-section exhibits, showing the peculiar steel-like stratification of the meteorite. Some of the sections have been polished, bringing out the figuring on the metal which in some instances looks very much like Damascus work and in others is almost exactly identical with the markings shown on laminated steel, such as is used for gun barrels.

The contribution from Babb's Mill, Green County, Tenn., is a grotesque imitation of a muskalionge fish, while the one from Wichita County, in the Ruo Brazos region of Texas, bears a card saying it was once regarded and cherished by the Comanches as an object of worship. The Indians thought that since it came out of the sky and got into their camp it must have been sent to them direct by their delity to serve as a warning and token of divine guidance.

MODEL SUNDAY SCROOL DUILDING.

It must have seen sent to them and token of divine guidance.

Model Sunday School Building creeted in connection with the World's Fair is thus described by the Chicago Record: High in the air iloats a flag with an inscription strange to Stony Island avenue. Beneath it on the dust-clad sidewalks drift the restless crowd that ceaselessly moves back and forth outside the Fair grounds. From the south come the sharp cries of fakins and "barlers" who stand before the purasticul sideshwas which have fastened themselves to the great Exposition. It is a common thing for some one in the endless column that is ever marching on Stony Island adapted to stop abrupily and look up at Gang. Usually he reads the inscriptional state of the second guidence is needed to grasp the significance of the strange flag. Another line of words over the first gives its full meaning. This line reads. The parliament of religions has given greater prominence than usual to the building which stands on Stony Island avenue just opposite the north end of the California Building. All last week D. L. Moody's presence filled the building with thousands, drawn from the big hotels which are grouped around it. FAC-SIMILES OF GIGANTIC GOLD NUGGETS.

A Matter of Health.

Housekeepers faintly realize the danger of an indiscriminate use of the Housekeepers faintly realize the danger of an indiscriminate use of the numerous baking powders nowadays found upon every hand, and which are urged upon consumers with such persistency by peddlers and many grocers on account of the big profits made in their sale. Most of these powders are made from sharp and caustic acids and alkalies which burn and inflame the alimentary organs and cause indigestion, heartburn, diarrhœal diseases, etc. Sulphuric acid, caustic potash, burnt alum, all are used as gas-producing agents in such baking powders. Most housekeepers are aware of the painful effects produced when these chemicals are applied to the external flesh. How much more acute must be their action upon the delicate internal membranes! Yet unscrupulous manufacturers do not hesitate to use them, because they make a very low-cost powders, nor to urge the use of their powders and false representations. All the low priced or so-called cheap baking powders, and all powders sold with a gift or prize, belong to this class.

Baking powders made from chem-class. Baking powders made from chemically pure cream of tartar and bi-carbonate of soda are among the most useful of modern culinary devices. They not only make the preparation of finer and more delicious cookery possible, but they have added to the digestibility and wholesomeness of our food. Eut baking powders must be composed of such pure and wholesome ingredients or they must be tabooed entirely.

be composed of such pure and wholesome ingredients or they must be tabooed entirely.

Dr. Edson, Commissioner of Health of New York, in an article in the "Doctor of Hygiene," indicates that the advantages of a good baking powder and the exemption from the dangers of bad ones in which the harsh and caustic chemicals are used, are to be secured by the use of Royal Baking Powder exclusively, and he recommends this to all consumers. "The Royal," he says, "contains nothing but cream of tartar and soda refined to a chemical purity, which when combined under the influence of heat and moisture produce pure carbonic, or leavening, gas. The two materials used, cream of tartar and soda, are perfectly harmless even when eaten, but in this preparation they are combined in exact compensating weights, so that when chemical action begins between them in the dough they practically disappear, the substance of both having been taken to form carbonic-acid gas." Hence it is, he says, that the Royal Baking Powder is the most perfect of all conceivable agents for leavening purposes.

It seems almost incredible that any manufacturer or dealer should urge the sale of baking powders containing injurious chemicals in place of those of a well-known, pure and wholesome character simply for the sake of a few cents a pound greater profit; but since they do, a few words of warning seem to be necessary.
