As the tree furnished the first shelter for Adam in the garden of Eden and wood was the first material for man's handlwork, so the forest and its leafy inhabitants come in for a share of honor in the Exposition, says the Chicago Record. The Forestry Building on the lake front, in the southern part of the grounds is built of wood and is filled with woods. It is wooden and it is wooded. Wood was the primitive material for most share of honor and the southern part of the grounds is built of wood and is filled with woods. It is wooden and it is wooded. Down the main aisle are two or three places where special designs are put on articles of glassware. A man picks up a tumber or a sauce dish, whisks it against the purring emery wheel, and when he takes it off a name, a bird or a flower has been ground in sharp outlines. This man is the friend of the souvenirs seeker, for he will etch any name that you desire.

The slik looms were rattling a high speed, laying thread upon thread of the Exposition badges. Each badge had a picture of Christopher Columbus and some fancy lettering in red and blue. And people were buying these badges as they came hot from the looms. About fifty people—women in the majority—stood around a knitting machine to see a blonde girl direct the making of a sock. At this place no souvenirs were

The buckeye tree is Ohio's own. On the homely buckeye is tacked a sign which reads "assulus glabre." But the loyal Ohioan prefers the common "buckeye."

MIDWAY PLAISAN above are carved the king's ministers, while above all are the king and his queens in the palace.

The carving was done in teak wood and has a strong odor of sandat oil. There are tables and mantels delicately carved in oriental designs. One mantel in the exhibit is of shisham, redwood, walnut, book wood and teak wood, and was raised from the rains of Vijianager, near Bellary, in Madras. The teak is 600 years old, and the shisham dates back before the Christian era. The mantel was designed by three Sikh carpenters, Aarman, Utam and Gopul, subjects of the Maharajah of Kapurthual. Here also are slabs of ebony from Indian forests and yes and tanning substances used by the Hindoos. A doorway of padouk wood forms the entrance to the British India exhibit. The wood in color is between mahogany and eherry, and in the beauty of the grain is more perfect than either.

The woods of Japan differ from those of any other Nation. The grain of the trees exhibited is exceedingly fine. Among some of the most beautiful and valued woods are the ito-mass and sugl-moku. The ito-mass is straight-grained and hard, while the sugi-moku has a beautiful wavy grain and issofter than the ito-masa. The yearly rings of the sugl-moku form in waves, and the wood is largely used in interior decorations. The forests of Ono-Gor and Hidd in the province of Shinano furnish a purplish red wood, called kaft, which takes a beautiful polish and is chosen by the wealthy for the adornment of their houses. PATHA DEDITOR UP CORTURED FORTY-NITH DAY.

SENATE—In the Senate to-day the silver purchase repeal bill was again taken up, and Mr. Washburn, of Minnesota, declared that the Senators from Washington and Wyoming were in favor of unconditional repeal. Mr. McMillan, of Michigan, argued for repeal and Mr. Dolph spoke against free trade, after which the Senate adjourned.

House—Outside of a humorous speech by Mr. Clark, Democrat, of Missouri, against the Federal elections law the proceedings in the House to-day were lacking in interest, and after a brief session the House adourned.

PIFITETH DAY.

Senatre—The debate on the repeal bill was continued by Mr. Dolph, Republican of Oregon, in tavor of its passage, but nothing final was accomplished when the Senate adjourned.

House—In the House to-day the debate on the Federal elections repeal bill was resumed, and after a short and unimportant session the House adjourned.

FIFITY-FIRST DAY.

Senatre—The compromise men made their pleas on the floor of the Senate to-day, Senators Butler and Blackburn, two inveterate enemies of unconditional repeal, pleaded for action on the line of a compromise. Mr. Blackburn's position, in brief, is compromise if possible, but early action in any case, no cloture and no filibustering. He will vote against unconditional repeal. There is no change it the general situation, nor is there likely to be any before next week. After continued debate the Senate adjourned.

Off South Carolina.

At Washington Clara Barton has made official report to the Red Cross of the progress of the Sea Islands relief movement undertaken by the association. She says:

"The work will be the heaviest and long-est continued yet carried on in this country With winter approaching, with all crops destroyed over a space of 40 by 100 miles in extent, with 30,000 inhabitants, one-fourth of them homeless, houses, cattle, fowls tools and all accumulations swept into the sea, their little boats which would enable them to fish, also swept away and eight months of this destitution to face, the situation is indeed serious.

them to fish, also swept away and eight months of this destitution to face, the situation is indeed serious.

"All the funds and material which the committees have to turn over to us will not carry the people through October and that is by far the best month they will see beforenex May. There is no work here and no prospect of any that will employ any part of the men. It is not probable that meat can be issued to them much longer. Hominy will be about all they can have and they will need ish to use with it.
"It is a harder field than Johnstown;more people to care for; more destitute and helpiess, spread over hundreds of square miles of territory, cut up by streams from ocean size to rivulets, subject to tides and full of malaria fever. At Johnstown there was $6,000,000 to back up the work;this present work all told, to-day, could no: show 30,000 in funds.

Cholera Robbed of Its Terrors.

A New York exchange notes the fact that the treatment of enoiera invented by Dr.
Elmer Lee of Chicago and triumphantly demonstrated in the hospitals of St. Petersbung last year has robbed the dread disease of most of its terrors. The process consists merely of flooding the intestinal canal of the patient with warm soapsuds at frequent intervals and thus washing out and rendering harmless the cholera germs, whose ravages are cerried on in the intestines. By the use of this method Health Officer Jenkins of New York has been able to save no less than 19 of the 22 cases that have devel op d at quarantine, reducing the mortality to 15 per cent. This is a wonderful achievement considering that the ordinary death rate of cholera runs from 59 to 75 per cent.,
according to the varuence of the plague.

Biblical Law.

EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS

Biblical Law.

In the early days of interior Missouri the late Judge E—cut cordwood, cleared up his homestead farm, and was employed upon one side of nearly every case that came up, being for some years the only lawyer in the county.

He had no books except an old leather-covered Bible and an old volume or two of history, similarly bound, but had read law a short time in Kentucky in his youth. He was very small and insignificant in appearance, but became before his death a splendid lawyer and an honored Judge.

A young attorney from the East settled in the little country town, with his library of about half a dozen new and handsomely bound law books, and on his first appearance in a case he brought most of his library to the Justice's office in a fine, beautifully flowered carpet bag, popular in that day. E—was engaged against him, and, as usual, had not a book.

When his adversary carefully drew his books from his pretty carpet bag and laid them on the table, E—looked astonished, but quickly recovered his ready resources, and asked the Justice to excuse him for a few moments. He hurried to his homestead, half a mile or so away, and put his old leather-bound Bible and histories into a grain sack and brought them to court, imitating his opponent in laying them before him on the The evidence was introduced, and

The evidence was introduced, and the Eastern man, being for the plaintiff, made his opening argument and read at length from his text books.

E— made his characteristic speech in roply, closing by reading law from his old Bible just the reverse of that read by his opponent and took his ceat, putting his Bible on the table. His adversary reached over and picked it up, and seeing what it was eazerly addressed the Justice:

"Your Honor," said he, "this man is a humbug and a pettifogger. Why, sir, this is the Bible from which he has pretended to read law."

The old Justice looked indignant, and interrupting the young attorney, said:

"Set down! What better law can we get than the Bible?" He then decided the case in favor of the defendant.—Green Bag.

Sheep-Shearing Machines.

Sheep-Shearing Machines.

So many trials of sheep-shearing machines have resulted in failure that the belief has become fixed that shearing by machinery is entirely impracticable. This idea seems to be a mistaken one, as machines operated by horse power are in successful operation in England and in Australia. It is said that a flock of 200 sheep will warrant the purchase of one of these machines.—Now York World.

Heathen Outwitting the Devil.

Heathen Outwitting the Devil.

A Chinese funeral never proceeds straight from the house of morning to the graveyard. The devil is always on the lookout for funerals and foliows them to seize the soul of the dead man, so, in order to outwit the evil one, the bearers take up the body and start with it in a brisk trot, while packs of fire-crackers and pyrotechnics emitting a dense smoke and vile smell are set off just as the procession starts. Having thus deceived Old Nick as to the direction taken by the bearers they run as fast as they can with the body, then sudienly turn 2 corner and stop while more fireworks are burned. The devil cannot turn a corner easily, and so, if really in pursuit, he shoots on by, and by means of a good deal of sudden turning and stopping and a lavish expenditure of fireworks, the funeral procession generally gets to the grave in safety, while the old boy, confused by their movements and haif suffocated by the fireworks, is still wandering about in the city. The Chinaman who dies in the country is not in such good luck, for there is less chance to outwit the enemy, but by many detours it can very often be done. be done.
