HON. D. NEWLIN FELL.

Republican Candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court.

Hon. David Newlin Fell, of Philadelphia, the candidate of the Republican party for Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, was born November 4th, 1840, in Buckingham, Bucks county, Pennsylvania, where his ancestors settled in 1704. He belongs to the Sixth generation of the family, members of which still live there. He was educated under the direction of his father, Joseph Fell, who was a distinguished teacher and superintendent of the schools of the county, and who, for fifty years, was actively connected with and did much to advance the educational interests of the state. It was with pardonable pride and jealous care that he assisted and guided his son in laying the foundation for and building up a broad and deep mental and moral education. Upon the completion of his studies, Judge Fell was graduated at the State Normal School, at Millersville, Pennsylvania, in the class of '62.

At that time the Union armies were suffering terrible losses in the Peninsula and other disastrous campaigns, and the clouds which so often hung dark and threatening during those three years of awful strife were lowering from day to day. The holiday aspect of the war had long since passed. The many defeats which had overtaken the Union army gave fair warning to those about to enlist that the war was a stern and awful reality. As soldiers they would be called upon to endure hardship and suffer privation in all its forms and possibly meet death face to face. Their mission was not merely to march gaily to and fro, out of the reach of harm, and returning after a short enlistment, to receive the praise and honors showered upon some of those who had sprung to their country's defense.

It was at this time, with the wounded constantly returning, and with mourning on every side for those who would return no more, that Judge Fell, in the strength of his early manhood, started for the front. With a full realization of the brilliant prospects of success which his education and talents would secure for him at home, he enlisted in Company E, 122nd Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers. This command was recruited largely from students of the State Normal School. The sterling qualities of mind and heart which have since been so freely recognized by his fellow citizens, even at that early day, caused his student associates to elect him Lieutenant of the Company. Four days after being mustered into service, this command was at the front and assigned to the 3rd Brigade, 3rd Division, 3rd Corps, then under command of General Stoneman, and later commanded by General Sickles.

The most disastrous campaign in which the Regiment took part was that of Chancellorville, where 135 of its gallant men went down on the field of battle. The college chums and comrades of David Newlin Fell, who went through the ordeal of war with him, testify to his coolness and bravery, his modesty and unflinching courage, and with it all, his generous brotherly care for the comfort of every one of his command. Mustered out after the expiration of his term of service, he again went to his books and studies, and devoted himself assiduously to the science of the law. Again we find him with a preceptor who had a keen interest in his success—his brother, William W. Fell. Passing successfully and brilliantly the examination, he was admitted to the Bar, March 17th, 1866, where he soon acquired an extensive and lucrative practice.

His neighbors, early recognizing his abilities, elected him to represent the 20th Ward of Philadelphia in City Councils. The ready grasp and comprehensive knowledge of the details of city government which he here acquired and displayed, suggested his availability for membership on the Municipal Commission, created by legislative enactment to devise plans for the government of the cities of the Commonwealth, and upon which he served with distinguished ability. While still a young man, his ripe legal attainments and sterling qualities of character were recognized by Governor Hartranft, who appointed him, on May 3rd, 1877, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas No. 2, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Judge Pratt.

In the following November, as the sole nominee of both the Republican and Democratic parties, he was elected to the same position for the full term of ten years. When this expired in 1887, he was again honored with the double nomination and a unanimous election.

But all the civic honors which have been bestowed upon Judge Fell have never made him unmindful of his old comrades in arms, "the boys in blue." During more than a quarter of a century he has been an active and enthusiastic member of Post 2 of the Grand Army of the Republic. In addition to his services in the Post, he has brought his splendid attainments to the positions of Senior Vice Department Commander and Judge Advocate General of the Grand Army of the Republic Department of Pennsylvania. He has a large circle of acquaintances and friends among the war veterans of the Keystone state.

Such, in brief, has been the career of a brave and valiant soldier, an upright and public spirited citizen, and a learned and able Judge. This sketch may well conclude with a tribute paid him by the Hon. George S. Graham, of Philadelphia, upon placing Judge Fell in nomination for the Supreme bench when he said:

"His record in every place of public trust is full of honor and will bear the closest scrutiny. He always acquitted himself well, and won the encomiums of the people. Upon the bench he has created for himself an enviable name. No man is more highly honored and thoroughly beloved among all the judges of our county courts. His learning, his ability, his clear judicial mind, have made him a valued jurist, and his unswerving adherence to right, fearlessness in the discharge of duty, unflinching courtesy, manliness and modesty, have made him a model Judge, and endeared him to our bar and to our citizens generally."

SENATOR ALLEN, of Nebraska, is the "Vigilant" of the U. S. Senate, when it comes to making long speeches.

WHEN the U. S. Senate shall have been abolished, it will be a very short step to abolish the rest of the republic.

SENATOR VOORHEES has the good fortune to have the nerve to stand up again as fast as he gets knocked down.

SENATOR VOORHEES probably wishes that he had not played the part of Administration leader in the Silver fight.

JOHN BULL may find consolation for the loss of the yacht races in contemplating the statistics of the ocean commerce of the world.

THE wives of the Senators would be excusable for growing jealous of the invasion of woman's domain by their talkative husbands.

If it be true that "countries are governed best which are governed least," congressional dead-locks must be regarded as national blessings.

SENATORS might get some pointers on the art of talking a man into doing what he doesn't want to do from the Columbian real estate congress, which assembles at the World's Fair on the 23rd inst.

UNCLE CHARLES A. DANA thinks reading the Bible, Shakespeare and Milton a necessity for a first-class newspaper man. Uncle Charlie has never been credited with being a close student of the first named book.

THE disinterested public will naturally wonder if their sore heads were not in a measure responsible for the recent uncomplimentary opinions of President Cleveland, expressed by Carl Schurz and Wayne MacVeagh.

WINNEBAGO county, Ill., has raised the United States flag over every one of its school houses. That is what every county in the United States ought to do. Teach the children patriotism and love for the flag, and the country will be safe.

ONE of the oddest features of the present politico-financial situation is the denunciation of the President's policy by Clark Howell, the Georgia Democrat, and the defense of the President's policy by Murat Halstead, the Ohio-New York Republican.

A RUSSIAN editor while in a fit of temporary insanity discharged his proof-reader. As soon as the proof-reader could get his gun he returned and killed the editor. An American editor never discharges his proof-reader; when he becomes utterly unbearable, he gets him a better place in another office.

WHAT do our Democratic friends think of the Indianapolis city election? Two years ago the said city elected a Democratic mayor by almost 3,000 majority. Last week the same city elected a Republican mayor and a full set of city officers by over 3,000 majority. The good Democratic times did it, and still there's more to follow.

EVERY Republican should this fall vote his party ticket straight. There are times when splitting a ticket at a local election is justifiable, but this fall is not one of those times. The National Democratic administration is acting so badly that big Republican majorities ought to be rolled up everywhere, for reasons that are so plain that we do not need to state them.

LAST fall many thousands of laboring men asked for bread when they had bread to spare. They are still asking for bread, and they need it now, but the Democratic administration is giving them a stone. Laborers, you who voted the Democratic ticket, has the change brought you what you were promised? Confidentially, now, don't you think you have been duped?

It is never too late to repent. The Charleston News and Courier has at last got over on the right side of the Protection fence. Speaking of the thousands of hungry and unemployed workmen in Philadelphia, it says: "The cause of these people's poverty is Government interference with the laws of trade." That's hitting the nail square on the head. The Democratic administration's monkeying with our protective tariff was never dealt a harder blow south of Mason's and Dixon's line.—Philadelphia Press.
