

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla CURES

Dyspepsia, Intense Misery
"No pen can describe the suffering I endured ten years from Dyspepsia. I had almost given up hope of ever being any better when I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am entirely cured and advise any one suffering from dyspepsia to try Hood's Sarsaparilla."
The truth of this statement I am glad to verify at any time. Mrs. John F. Fox, 67 Erie Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Dyspepsia seldom causes death, but permits its victim to live in misery. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. It also cures croup, headache and dizziness.
Hood's Pills cure indigestion. 25 cents.

THE KIND THAT CURES

DANA'S SARSAPARILLA
When on her head has broken and discharged almost entirely gone. Habitual Constipation also greatly relieved. Dana's Sarsaparilla has proved so effective in relieving my wife of her sufferings, that I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who are afflicted with any of the above named ailments. It is the best medicine I have ever used. I have taken one bottle myself and find it a splendidly effective remedy.
Respectfully,

JUNIOR PARTNER—While I was taking town that buyer's order this morning I told him one of your funny stories. Senior Partner—Ha, ha! Did he laugh? Junior Partner—No; he countermanded the order.—Clothier and Furnisher.

SALUTED THE WRONG FLAG.

Commodore Stanton Deposed 'For Recognizing Insurgents.

The navy department at Washington learned by authority on Wednesday by telegram from Rear-Admiral Stanton, in command of the United States naval forces at Rio de Janeiro, that this officer had saluted the flag of Admiral Mello commanding the insurgent fleet. This salute was unauthorized by any instructions the Admiral had received. It was an unfriendly act toward a friendly power and the secretary of the navy, after consulting with the president and secretary of state, issued an order detaching Admiral Stanton from command of his squadron and turning it over to Capt. Pickens, the next officer in rank. This was in reply to a telegram of inquiry.

Commodore Stanton's record as a naval officer is an excellent one. Born in Sag Harbor, N. Y., July 18, 1834, he entered the navy as sailing master in 1853. On July 18, 1862, he was commissioned Lieutenant-Commander. Prior to the war he had served on the steamer Memphis, on the Paraguay expedition, and had also on the Pacific coast. He was placed in charge of the steamer Toga in the special West India expedition in 1863, and in 1863-64, commanded the steamer Anoin on the Western gulf blockading squadron, positions of great responsibility. From 1871 to 1874, when he was transferred to the Atlantic, Commodore Stanton commanded the receiving ship at Portsmouth, N. H., and the steamer Monocacy on the Atlantic station. In November, 1881, he was assigned to the command of the ship of the North Atlantic Station at Philadelphia, where he remained until November, 1884, when he was assigned to the command of the steam frigate Tennessee, and in 1885-86, he was assigned to duty as commander-in-chief of the South Atlantic station, shortly after the Columbian naval review of last spring.

Naval officers who know Commodore Stanton are at a loss to understand how he came to make such a serious mistake, if such it can be called.

Interesting Medical Investigations.

In a communication to the Societe Medicate du XIIe Arrondissement de Paris, Dr. Rosenblith shows that effusions of blood in sprains are very rapidly reabsorbed by massage.

In practice the injured articulation is at first immersed in very warm water in order to dilate the superficial vessels, after which preparation of the affected region massage is performed outside of the injured part. It is then gradually approached, a very gentle stroke being applied to it at first, followed by more vigorous friction, thus gradually producing insensibility.

When partially obtained a more or less energetic kneading is pursued, according to the varying degree of sensibility experienced by the patient, and to the massage part is finally applied a compressive bandage, with wadding, which is wrapped in a flannel or linen band. If the strain occurs in the inferior limbs Dr. Rosenblith—contrary to the ordinarily commended practice of avoiding movements for a shorter or longer period—advises the patient to walk as soon as he can do so without feeling great pain.

Walking, he says, adapts the articular surface in a natural way and actuates the venal and lymphatic circulations by the muscular contraction.

But It's Her Bright Side.

The inhabitants of this earth have never seen but one side of the moon.

The explanation is this: The moon makes one revolution on her axis in the same period of time that she takes up in revolving once around the earth, thus the same geographical region of the lunar surface is always toward us.

Cataract Cannot Be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease, cataract is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Cataract Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Cataract Cure is a scientific medicine. It is prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription.

It has more than three times the strength of Cowen's mixture with Staff, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cupful. It is delicious, nourishing, and EASILY DIGESTED.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

SHOULD be used wherever yeast has served heretofore. Yeast acts by fermentation and the destruction of part of the gluten of the flour to produce the leavening gas. Royal Baking Powder, through the action of its ingredients upon each other in the loaf while baking, itself produces the necessary gas and leaves the wholesome properties of the flour unimpaired.

It is not possible with any other leavening agent to make such wholesome and delicious bread, biscuit, rolls, cake, pastry, griddle-cakes, doughnuts, etc.

The Gondolas Must Go.

Fair Venice is in danger of losing a feature which has become world famous and to which many a romance may be traced—to wit, the gondolas and gay costumed gondoliers. In the place of the former a fleet of American electric launches will ply Venetian canals, and instead of the gondoliers American engineers will guide these new-fangled boats.
