TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease CONSUMPTION, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send free of charge a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, CATARRH, BRONCHITIS and all throat and lung MALADIES. He hopes all sufferers will try his remedy, as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address, Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, Brooklyn, New York.

TOPICS AND COMMENT.

In everything we take high place, The mart, the field, the forum: Our yachts are first in every race, In short, high cockalorum. We may not have the skill and brains To beat the whole creation, But we kill more people on railroad trains Than any other nation. —New York Press.

The populist party is, it seems, in danger of becoming depopulated.

POOR GROVER! Gresham told him the plaguey old gun wouldn't kick.

The Democrats have not yet agreed upon the scapegoat, but other people have.

If McKinleyism is dead, as many Democrats have so often asserted, it has proven a very lively sort of a ghost.

What is to be the financial policy of the administration is still an unanswered question. Repealing laws will not make a policy.

The word "jukeket," as applied to Congressional picnics, is now well-nigh obsolete. They are now "tours of inspection."

Tix, tin, "Merican tin, McKinley at the fore again. That is not much on poetry, but alas! it is great in fact. —Indianapolis News (Ind.).

There are few people who mistake vindictiveness and personal enmity for statesmanship, but Secretary Gresham is evidently one of them.

CLEVELAND to Hill—"How about Maynard?" Hill to Cleveland—"How about the rest of the country?" —St. Louis Globe Democrat.

If the Mexican revolutionists can only find some descendant of the Aztec Kings, they can count upon the assistance of the Cleveland administration in restoring monarchy in Mexico.

The Royalists of Europe may applaud the Cleveland-Gresham Hawaiian program, but Americans—well, just wait until they get a chance to show their disapproval with their ballots.

The tariff-smashers are slowly, but surely, finding out that the wage-earners of the country prefer regular employment and high wages to irregular employment and starvation wages.

Bores, Hill and Flower might use the most powerful microscope ever made, and still be unable to locate even the slightest trace of what they once thought to be promising Presidential booms.

In announcing their intention to restore the imperial government of Brazil, if they are successful, the Brazilian revolutionists are evidently trying to secure the aid of the Cleveland administration.

It is likely that the Democrats in Pennsylvania and Iowa were fooled by the name Jackson and helped to pile up the big Republican majorities, thinking they were voting for old Andrew Jackson.

The men who purchased diplomatic positions under the present administration may not find their residence abroad as pleasant as they expected; European papers are printing some facts about them.

ACCORDING to the Gresham idea, every white man in this country is an "alien" and the Indians are the only "Simons" Americans of this country. Really, it looks as though the nursing of hatred has affected this man's brain.

ONE of our exchanges devotes editorial space to a remedy for the removal of warts, which reminds us that the ballot in the hands of intelligent voters has lately proven itself to be the best remedy for the removal of political warts.

Gov. FLOWER became so "rattled" over the election returns that he actually appointed a Republican to the bench of the New York Supreme Court. Well, that is one more good effect of the Democratic defeat than was expected.

The Populists are rapidly going the way of all the other third parties the country has seen. Even those men who agreed to a certain extent with some of the party's ideas, were disgusted and driven off by the brainless freaks it elected to office.

It is now announced that the New York bankers are to aid Secretary Carlisle in maintaining the gold reserve at $100,000,000. Isn't this the administration that a few months ago announced its determination to run its finances independently of Wall Street?

Why doesn't Mr. Cleveland act more consistently? If he has a right to set up a monarchy in Hawaii, why should he object to the exercise of a similar right in Brazil by European governments? Does he banker after a monopoly of the monarchy business?

The Prison Trusty, a newspaper edited by convicts in the Kansas penitentiary, and bought by many persons as a curiosity, is most enthusiastically in favor of Populists. It is edited by a friend of Gov. Lewelling, who is doing time for 10 years. —Pittsburg Times.

COL. KATE FIELD says in her paper that the reason no newspaper has ever called itself the moon, is because that planet is understood to be made up of worn-out matter. Colonel Kate is in error, the true reason being the fact that the moon gets "full" so often.

PERHAPS those who presented the royal crown that was once the property of his royal highness the late Duke of Essex, uncle of Queen Victoria, which was on exhibition at the World's Fair, to the new Columbian Museum, had an idea that it might at some future time come in handy to his royal highness Grover Cleveland.

MCKINLEY to-day is the most picturesque character in American politics. He fought his way intrepidly through the toils of a Congressional gerrymander, he led the Republican column to victory in a year of general defeat, on the issue of which he is the personification, and stands in triumph in this, the hour of a thundering protest against the destruction of the legislative fabric which is largely his own handiwork. —Albany Journal.

Now that the election is over, one fact may be recalled with interest. In the great fight in New York state against dishonest politics and the besmirching of the Judiciary, the people received no aid from Grover Cleveland. He never by word of mouth indicated opposition to Judge Maynard. He did not even go to New York to vote against him. Yet Mr. Cleveland is regarded as a great reformer of bad politics and base politicians. —Philadelphia Press.

THE Cleveland Plain Dealer, an out-and-out Democratic paper, remarks that Senator Cameron's eccentricities do not seem to have greatly disorganized Republican politics in Pennsylvania. No, we should say not. If Cameron wants to do the Ghost Dance act with the wild, woolly, Populist cranks and ranters of the West, let him dance; but the people of Pennsylvania will favor sound money and vote the Republican ticket, just the same. Cameron would make a good dime museum freak.

At Dayton, Ohio, there is, unfortunately, reason enough to remember the existence of the Soup House Administration. The Dayton Evening Herald made inquiries from only 37 of its hundreds of business enterprises, and found that where 7,904 hands were employed last year there was work now for only 3,242 hands. With 4,662 people finding no employment from among only 37 factories, we can readily imagine that business has not been booming in Dayton and that the good people there "want a change."

REFERING to our recent industrial census, the Home Market Bulletin, of Boston, says: Of course such a loss of wages is a tremendous impairment of the purchasing power of the people. Men who don't work cannot buy. Thus the merchant, the local mechanic, the teacher, in short, everybody in the community suffers, sooner or later, and all this because a party has been brought into power whose declared policy impairs the confidence and imperils the business of the people. —American Economist.

With the Tariff issue settled and reduced to a Free-Trade basis, the industries of the United States, already established, might again resume work. We might have to manufacture because we have the investment on our hands, but farewell to the prosperity of the American workman; farewell to the stability of American labor; farewell to the prosperous communities with prosperous workmen; farewell to the growth of our manufactures and to the inauguration of new enterprises in the United States. The way would be opened to long disastrous strikes by discontented labor. Capital would avoid enterprises where its profits depend upon the stability of labor, and in the end labor and capital would both suffer. —American Economist.

THE Nicaraguan Congress, to keep foreigners out of the country, has passed a law which subjects them to everything but hanging. If we understand Ingalls, at Wilkesbarre, night before last, he is in favor of something like that in this country. —Pittsburg Times.

Yes, and so is THE STAR. It would be different, if the same class of people would continue coming to our shores that used to land here. But instead of respectable Englishmen, Germans, Scotch, Irish, etc., the kind of people that used to emigrate to America, our country now serves as a dumping ground for the dirty Dagoes of Italy, the filthy Huns from Hungary and the paupers and criminals from nearly every other country on earth. They come here and sow the seeds of anarchy and pestilence, and every American may well tremble for his country if this state of affairs continues to exist.

THE re-election of Judge Gary in Chicago is an event which order-loving men of all parties can rejoice at. It has a much wider significance than the city on whose bench he will sit. He stood for law and order and embodied, as no other man could have done, the hostility of a great majority of Americans to Anarchism. The fact that he presided at the trial of the Haymarket Anarchists would of itself have given him this distinction, but it became doubly his due when it was added the attack Governor Altgeld made on him when pardoning the Anarchists. His defeat would have been a blot on Chicago that not even all the honor won by the World's Fair could have wiped out. The stinging rebuke Governor Altgeld received ought to penetrate even his hippopotamus hide and show him how profound the public contempt is for him and how deep is the obscurity that yawns for him when he leaves his present office. —Philadelphia Press.

THE Democracy is now on its second term of office within thirty-three years. It has with the country a reputation for bad administration, which Mr. Cleveland in his first term did something to remove, because he went into office with—if we may use the expression—civil service reform on the brain. But it will take more than one term to convince that portion of the people which makes majorities that it can be safely trusted with the Government. The notion which seems to have taken hold of the Administration, that the people's vote against the tariff, last year, was in some sort a vote of confidence in the Democratic party, is an hallucination. It would take a long period of good behavior to get people to believe in the Democrats as they have believed, and do believe, in the Republicans. The Democrats have not a day to spare in the matter of right living. There is nothing whatever standing to their credit. They cannot afford a single escapade. Their performances in this state, therefore, surpassing anything in American history in audacity and atrocity, must be set down as little short of insane. —New York Post (Dem.).

OF all the sad looking Democratic newspapers we have yet seen since the last election, the Hebron (Neb.) Register takes the cake. The Register is thoroughly disgusted with its party and is not content with printing a large cut of a jackass on its editorial page and labeling it "The Democratic Party," but it wails and scolds Democracy as follows:

"Behold what Democracy has made of itself—an ass, the tail of an ass."

The ox knoweth his owner, and the ass his master's crib; but Democracy knows nothing.

She weepeth sore in the night, but hath none to comfort her, for all her friends have become her enemies. For the congregation of hypocrites shall be desolate and fire shall consume the tabernacles of bribery.

A grievous vision is declared unto me; the treacherous dealer death treacherously. I am bowed down with the hearing of it.

Oh! that I had in the wilderness a lodging place of wayfaring men, that I might leave my people and go from them, for they be adulterers—an assembly of treacherous men.

Oh! Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that sellest thou the prophets and scrathest the tickets which are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not! Ohio, Iowa and Massachusetts gone, Kansas taken at one fell swoop and nothing left Democracy but Hill or bell or both!

For sale—A few votes left over from last Tuesday. Object in selling: Sickness and a d——d strong desire to retire from business.
