LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Our gunners had some rare sport, this week, shooting ducks on the river. Johnson & McCulloh offer another astonishing bargain in furniture. Read their new "ad."

C. T. Hay has completed the wall for a large warehouse addition to his mammoth business block.

There are some new business locals in this issue that will greatly interest the buying public. Look them up.

Miss Della Beal continues very ill. That there may be speedy improvement in her condition is the wish of all. The Mutual Telephone Company extended its line from Chestnut Spring to Grantsville, last week, we are informed. C. T. Hay has received some magnifiscenery for his handsome new cent opera house, which will soon be put in position.

Salisbury's house famine still continues. Verily, "the son of man hath not where to lay his head in this growing town.

Mr. P. A. Beachy, of Lincoln, Neb., in remitting for THE STAR, says: "I am glad you have revived the paper. May you prosper, is my sincere wish."

E. J. Egan, Albert Reitz and Abram Livengood took their departure, Monday morning, for Huntingdon, Pa., where they will take a course at Juniata College.

J. F. Klare, an insurance agent well known in this vicinity, was married to Eva Kemp, of Meyersdale, in Greensburg, last week, says the Greensburg Record.

P. E. Kimmel, the founder of the Confluence Press, made THE STAR a tornal visit this wook will take the road in the interest of THE STAR.

A Georgia man who went to Alaska to dig gold writes home from Dawson "You may expect me in Georgia City: as soon as my clothes thaw enough for me to get my hands in my pockets and reach the money to pay for my ticket."

Our new job press is kept busy right along, turning out the neatest and most artistic job printing in Somerset county. Our job department is being well partonized by both Salisbury and Meyersdale, for which we are duly thankful.

Henry Loechel has torn down the old stable that stood on the west end of his lot, which is a decided improvement to the appearance of the place. There are some other old stables in this town that ought to be pulled down. Say, Joe Hay, can't you follow suit for a starter?

W. H. Weldemere, of Rockwood, representing the Merchants' Library Association, was in town last week on business. Mr. Weldemere is representing a most excellent scheme to promote the cash system. He claims to be the originator of the Merchants' Library Association.

Alexander Casebeer, of this place sixty-eight years old, was but a short time ago announced to be the father of a bouncing boy. As long as we have patriotic citizens of Mr. Casebeer's age we can snap our fingers at the Span-iards and the balance of the world.-Somerset Democrat.

The members of the United Evangelical congregation, of this place, are contemplating the erection of a parsonage on their church lot. These people have a snug new church, a very popular and able preacher, and they ought also to have a good parsonage. THE STARhopes they will be able to build.

Jas. M. Stewart, of the Pittsburg Dis*patch*, is in town booming the circula-tion of his paper. He has gained many new subscribers here. The Dispatch bright and well deserves its popularity It gives all the news in the most com plete manner. Its market reports, and general news of the day can not be excelled by any. It gives from thirty to forty columns more of reading matter than any other Pittsburg paper.

Died, Monday, March 28th, 1898, Miss Eva Stanton, of near Bittinger, Md Deceased was sick but a short time and died very unexpectedly. Her age was Mise 17 years, 8 months and 22 days. Stanton had been attending school at Grantsville and died at the home of her uncle, Mr. William Broadwater. She was a daughter of Thomas Stanton, who died a few years ago. The remains were iterred near the Lutheran church. at Bittinger, her pastor, Rev. E. S. Johnston, conducting the services.

Some people know how to be real Thursday, after an illness of several mean. A story is going the rounds about a man whose wife had gone visit ing and would not listen to his appeals to come home before her visit was out. He took a copy of his home paper and carefully clipped out just one item, then sent the paper to her. She wrote and asked what the item was about and he refused to tell her. The scheme worked admirably, and in less than a week she was at home to find out what had happened that her husband did not want her to know about. The new county scheme, by which it s proposed to slice up Westmoreland, Somerset, Indiana and Cambria counties and make Johnstown the new county-seat, has taken on a seriou phase within the past few days. Efective work, pushed by Johnstown en thusiasts, has been going on quietly in the Eastern end of Westmoreland county, and some of the most active in on position to the scheme believe that the new county promoters will be success ful unless vigorous measures are adopted at once .- Everette Republican.

The Meversdale Commercial us of being jealous of its prosperity Prosperity, indeed! We fail to see where the prosperity comes in. As often as Editor Smith has failed in business, and the plant he operates to-day being owned by a stock company, after all his years in the journalistic field. the Commercial has had anything but prosperty. It has progressed crawfish fashion. It has had a glorious opportunity to prosper, but owing to its crooked politics and double-dealing, it has a hard struggle for existence, for which no one is to blame but its editor. No, no, old man, we are not in the least jealous of you. Our prosperity is several laps ahead of yours.

Every issue of a live and reputable newspaper' is a mantle of charity, and the matter left out would often more than equal in volumn the matter published. If an editor could get out a cold-fact edition of his paper some day, and then get up a tall tree and watch the results, what a picnic he would have. Yet, people never take these things into consideration when something chances to get into the pa-pers that happens to pinch a little bit. They don't stop to think that the editor is not different from other people, is liable to err. Instead of condemning the newspaper for what it does publish. they ought to return thanks every day for what it does not publish .- E.c.

Candidate for Assembly.

EDITOR STAR :-- I wish to announce to the Republican voters of Somerset county, through the columns of your paper, that I will be a candidate for the Assembly, at the regular Republican primary election, and will register my name for announcement with the County Chairman in due time.

Very Respectfully, E. D. MILLER,

Thomas S. Williams Dead.

Thomas S. Williams, the owner of the arge West Salisbury hotel, died early vesterday morning, after a long spell of ill health. Mr. Williams figured prominently in the mineral development of this county and was the first operator to ship coal from Salisbury. He was engaged in this business for a number of years, but later he embarked n the hotel business in West Salisbury. He was a man of considerable wealth and business abilty, as well as a hard worker. He was a native of Wales, but came to Somerset county from Eastern Pennsylvania. He leaves a daughter and three sons to mourn his departure -Mrs. Ben Jones, Abram and Morgan, of this vicinity, and William, of Meyersdale. At the time of going to press the funeral arrangements have not yet been decided upon.

Between-Season Advertising. Mansfield (O.) News.

Between-season advertising properly onducted is of vast importance to every branch of trade, for it is then that the purchasing public lays its plans for future operations. A wise farmer never sows his seed carelessly because the harvest time is some months distant nor will a wise merchant advertise carelessly merely because his business season is not yet at hand. Furthermore to wait until the harvest time arrives before sowing the seed has never been found productive of crops, and the meron the Congressional library. War Blood Aroused.

The war spirit is particularly strong n and around the interesting old town Bristol. There was a sale near the town on Saturday, and the auctioneer aroused the fighting blood of those present by dragging into the light of day a great array of old army muskets, shotguns, cutlasses and other warlike paraphernalia. He puts these up for sale, and the bidding at once became very lively. The auctioneer was not slow to take advantage of the effervescent patriotism of the crowd, and plunged into a philippic against the treachery of Spain. The old guns went off like hot cakes, and the lot was soon cleaned up. One of the most enthu-siastic bidders, a worthy gentleman named John Balts, bought all his purse could pay for, and immediately organized an impromptu demonstration. He rigged himself up with a belt, an old army canteen, an old powder flask, sevmuskets over his shoulder. The other buyers lined up behind him, and by a common impulse joined in siging "Ral-ly 'Round the Flag, Boys," while they narched around the room. Their singing drowned the voice of the auctioneer and practically put an end to the sale.

A Locomotive in Service from 1851 to the Present Time.

umberland News. Baltimore & Ohio engine Mo. 99, which has been doing yard service at Parkersburg, W. Va., has at last been laid aside on account of the infirmities incident to old age. This is one of the old Ross Winan Camel engines, and was originally built in 1851. Her boiler was rebuilt in 1881, but she still has the cylinders, frames, etc., she had when in the days of early railroading she was the model freight engine. Her fate has not been decided yet, but she will probably be sent to the scrap pile, as it does not pay to rebuild engines of her class nowadays. There are only four of this class of engines now remaining, two of which, the 92 and 99, are now at Parkersburg. The other two, 135 and 143, are at Mt. Clare yard, Baltimore, Md.
