

What You Get

When You Buy Medicine is a Matter of Great Importance.

Do you get that which has the power to eradicate from your blood all poisonous taints and thus remove the cause of disease? Do you buy HOOD'S Sarsaparilla and only Hood's? If you do, you may take it with the utmost confidence that it will do you good. Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla is America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure biliousness, indigestion.

W. J. Mercer, dry goods editor of the New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin, recently delivered, at the rooms of the Merchants' Association, New York city, an address on "Cotton Industry in the South." At the present time there are 500,000 spindles in the South running on that class of goods known more particularly as Fall River goods. The South maintains that its progress so far in the direction of fine goods is only an earnest of what it is able to do in the future. I found nowhere in the South spinning finer than 60s, nor weaving finer than 40s yarn. Taking the whole South, which I visited, the average week will not be less than 68 hours.

Clergyman's Experiment.

A laudable attempt on the part of a Notting Hill clergyman to practically illustrate to the working class portion of his flock the combined benefits of religion and a tankard of beer has, we regret to hear, proved unsuccessful. The Rev. Prebendary Denison started, for the social pleasure of his congregation, a club, where the reverend gentleman or his curate went, after dispensing theological pabulum in the church, and served the members with beer and other corporeal refreshments. The idea was to keep them away from public houses and to afford them honest recreation with a reasonable amount of tipple. By the rules no man could be served with liquor more than three times in the course of a night. But the clergyman was unaware of the degree of not of original sin at least of bibulous ingenuity among the rougher classes of Notting Hill. They evaded the rule by clubbing together their twopences and treating each other, so that in the course of the evening a member was able to obtain half a dozen, or even more, drinks, instead of three. The result was sometimes unpleasant, and the Prebendary has therefore reluctantly determined to give up the experiment.—London Telegraph.

AN OPERATION AVOIDED

Mrs. Rosa Gaum Writes to Mrs. Pinkham About it. She Says:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I take pleasure in writing you a few lines to inform you of the good your Vegetable Compound has done me. I cannot thank you enough for what your medicine has done for me; it has, indeed, helped me wonderfully. For years I was troubled with an ovarian tumor, each year growing worse, until at last I was compelled to consult with a physician. He said nothing could be done for me but to go under an operation.

In speaking with a friend of mine about it, she recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, saying she knew it would cure me. I then sent for your medicine, and after taking three bottles of it, the tumor disappeared. Oh! you do not know how much good your medicine has done me. I shall recommend it to all suffering women.—Mrs. ROSA GAUM, 720 Wall St., Los Angeles, Cal.

The great and unvarying success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in relieving every derangement of the female organs, demonstrates it to be the modern safeguard of woman's happiness and bodily strength. More than a million women have been benefited by it.

Every woman who needs advice about her health is invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass.

THE REALM OF FASHION.

A Popular Type of Millinery. This is a hat for a young girl, and it is the latest confection from the establishment of a famous New York milliner. It is made of eern Yeddo straw, and turned up sailor fashion. It is trimmed with a drapery of black velvet and a broad contour feather set in the velvet diagonally. It is a beautiful type of the hat that is so extremely popular this season.

Graduation Gowns.

The regulation graduation gown boasts just a little refreshing air of originality this season. Perhaps it is the variety in materials used that gives this impression, for the couturieres all seem impressed with the importance of keeping graduation gowns exceedingly simple.

The chief charm of these gowns is the exquisite needlework, that is simply marvelous on close examination. At one of the shops was shown a large square yoke of tiny tucks and hand embroidery done with sheer mull. There were yards of hand-embroidered frills to match—all of it the work of a devoted old aunt who had been working on her niece's graduation gown for years.

Most of the models shown are too fluffy in effect. Organdie was the material most favored, but mousseline de soie, chiffon, veiling, tulle and a number of gauzy materials were in evidence.

Two or three of the gowns were made of silk poplin, and they were fashioned more on the clinging lines than were the others. Simplicity was their most striking characteristics, too; but it was a sort of classic simplicity.

A "Marguerite gown" was exquisitely dainty. It was made of white chiffon over a transparency of white taffeta. The skirt was composed of seven frills of chiffon, brier stitched around the hems with white silk.

Marguerites were embroidered in an irregular, artistic pattern over the ribbon. The sleeves were slightly draped and were mounted by short, full puffs of the chiffon. The lower edge of the puff was held with a band of the embroidered ribbon. Graduation gowns made entirely of accordion plaited sheer materials are considered by a great many young women the simplest and most tasteful gowns to be had.

With their soft long sashes and ribbon bows they certainly boast a juvenile air that is bewitching, and they adapt themselves to all sorts of figures. They soften the lines of angular figures and, strange to say, the roundness of the roly-poly girl is lost in this softness of her gown.

Many girl graduates incline toward ruffles, and for these there is the skirt all ruffled from hip to floor. These ruffles are the only trimming the skirt boasts. They can be of lace or organdie or any other thin material. The graduation dress is generally to be worn for the girl's "very best" all summer. After graduation it is made gay with ribbons and is often worn over a colored slip of taffeta.

Philippinas Cloth.

The world of fashion is under obligations to these Philippine Islanders for that most beautiful of all textiles, the silky cloth known as pineapple, pinas, or Philippinas cloth. It is made from the soft but strong fine hairs of the pineapple plant, whose collection, treatment and spinning demand a world of labor. It is woven upon hand looms, excepting in one or two of the smaller cities, where European looms are employed. The cloth has all the brilliancy and luster of silk, but is a little stronger and more rigid. It is woven with rather an open thread, so that it affords ventilation to the body of the wearer, and in this manner makes one of the coolest garments for summer wear which is known.

Card Case to Match Gown.

To keep pace with fashion one must own a card case to match each gown. These cases come of leather in all of the fashionable dyes. If a woman cannot afford the luxury of such variety a green case of rather bright hue is the one which will best suit the greatest number of gowns.

Elaborate Summer Gown.

This lovely dress is to be worn at a garden party—one of the first outdoor affairs of the season. It is in the form of a polonaise and is of pale heliotrope crepon, trimmed with narrow bands of cream satin. The yoke and collar are tucked satin.

The skirt is a beautiful one of plain cream satin. Over the satin is laid a heavy embroidery in a deeper shade of cream. The flowers in the design stand out as though thrown there and the flowers on the skirt look as lifelike as the lovely silk rosebuds of which the flower hat is completely made.

"Yours Truly."
The habits of people in signing letters are receiving more attention, and interesting conclusions are drawn from a study of the different ways writers subscribe themselves. The curt "Yours" and "Yours truly" are found not only in business letters, but in personal notes as well, for there are plenty of correspondents who don't believe in gush, and who think that "Yours truly" or "sincerely" means about all they wish to convey. Opposed to these sensible and essentially practical persons is that class of writers made up usually of young and enthusiastic individuals, as a rule of the gentle sex, who throw words about as carelessly on paper as they do in conversation. The use of the word love by such people is a distressing sign of emotional weakness, or carelessness, or of insincerity, and possibly arises from the same impulse that prompts women to kiss each other indiscriminately. One Boston girl, who is quoted by the Journal, has taken her own stand in the matter, and at the risk of being considered "cold" and "thoroughly Boston" she sticks to it. In her childhood she was taught to sign "affectionately yours" to her far-away great-aunts and second cousins, some of whom she had never seen, but all of whom she tried to like, because of the claims of kindred, and the word "affectionately" came to mean to her nothing at all except polite and necessary fiction. So she signs "affectionately" to people she is supposed to be conventionally fond of, and when she says anything more she means it. She thoroughly approves of "Cordially yours," and this, by the way, is seen more and more frequently now in notes between acquaintances who are on distinctly friendly or cordial terms. After all, "Your friend," when it can be used truthfully, is a simple and satisfactory way of ending friendly letters. Some people have the habit of not pre-facing their names with any set form of words at the end of letters. They stop when they get through, and write their signatures without any frills.—Worcester (Mass.) Gazette.

Expensive Mirth.

"Cheery words cost nothing."
"That's where you are way off. I said two cheery words yesterday and they cost me $17."

"How did that happen?"
"Well, I slapped a big man on the back, and said, 'Hello, Fatty!'"

"That was all right."
"No, it wasn't; he turned out to be a man I didn't know, so we knocked each other down and got into court."—Boston Journal.

A New York paper says that "the expectation that electricity would destroy the demand for horses has not yet been realized." Why, of course not; it is impossible to eat an electric battery.

Platonic love is a sort of prologue to the real thing.

How Relief Came.

From Cole County Democrat, Jefferson City, Mo.

When la grippe visited this section, about seven years ago, Herman H. Eweler, of 811 W. Main St., Jefferson, Mo., was one of the victims, and has since been troubled with the after-effects of the disease. He is a well-known contractor and builder, a business requiring much mental and physical work. A year ago his health began to fail alarmingly, and that he lives to-day is almost a miracle. He says:

"I was troubled with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and a general debility. My back also pained me severely. I tried one doctor after another and numerous remedies suggested by my friends, but without apparent benefit, and began to give up hope. Then I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People extolled in a St. Louis paper. After investigation, I decided to give them a trial."

"After using the first box I felt wonderfully relieved, and was satisfied that the pills were putting me on the road to recovery. I bought two more boxes and continued taking them."

"After taking four boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People I am restored to good health and feel like a new man. I am now capable of transacting my business with increased ambition."

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a wonderful medicine and anyone that is afflicted with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration and general debility, will find that these pills are the specific. HERMAN H. EWELER."

Subscribed and sworn to before me, a Notary Public, this 24th day of May, 1917. ADAM POZORSKO, Notary Public.

Mr. Eweler will gladly answer any inquiry regarding this if stamp is enclosed. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure people troubled with the after-effects of the grippe because they act directly on the impure blood. They are also a specific for chronic erysipelas, catarrh, rheumatism and all diseases due to impure or impoverished blood.

He Tiptoes Now. "What a quiet man your husband is, Mrs. Ritzley, and it's surprising, too. Before he was married he was one of the noisiest young men I ever knew. How did you break him of it?"

"I didn't break him of it. The baby did it. It didn't take him long to learn the value of silence after little Alfred came."

Dick—I called on Mrs. Dattleigh—that sprightly little widow, you know—last night and just in a joking way proposed to her.
Tom—Yes?
Dick—Well, it looks now as if I will have to furnish a very elaborate diagram to get her to see through it.—Cleveland Leader.
