

Stock Raisings and Beets.
In all countries where the sugar beet is made a specialty much consideration is given the value of the beets as cattle food; that is, the residuum, after the sugar is extracted. By feeding stock in connection with the growing of the beets for sale to the factory, carrying home the pulp for stock food, the farmers' opportunities from the growing of beets are increased. Experiments in Pennsylvania show that the yields of beets range from ten to fifteen tons per acre, and the average amount of sugar to exceed 12 per cent. The farmer will have to contend with wet and dry seasons, and his profits will be more some years than during others, but it is believed that farmers have neglected the beet as an important food for cattle, independently of its use as a source for procuring sugar, not that the beet is as valuable as grain, but because farmers will find a larger increase in production from cattle by reason of the feeding of succulent food, and although there is some preparation required for all kinds of roots before feeding them to stock, such labor is unnecessary when the beet pulp from the factories is used, the combination of the pulp with grain giving better results than when beets or grain are fed separately.—Philadelphia Record.

FOR WOMAN'S BENEFIT.
Handkerchiefs With Colored Borders.
Colored bordered handkerchiefs have come back into style. Some women like them, but they are apt to be the women who enjoy wearing highly colored gloves and veils. The least irritating of these new handkerchiefs to a woman with really refined taste have merely a scalloped edge of fine colored embroidery and a tiny initial in one corner.
Flower Embroidery.
Flower embroidery forms a conspicuous element in the trimming of gowns, writes a Paris correspondent; indeed, there is a danger that it will overstep its purely decorative place and transform a costume into a display for fine needlework. Purely decorative and conventionalized patterns seem better suited to the adornment of dresses than even the most marvelously worked patterns designed after nature, but it is the latter that is to be considered.
Shoes for Pet Dogs.
Dogs belonging to some fashionable women are now made to wear shoes. These shoes are made of chamois and have light leather soles. The idea of the inventor was to protect polished floors, but the women who have adopted the shoes for their pets say they have done so to protect, not their floors, but the tender feet of the dogs from cold, heat and rough weather generally. The next thing pet dogs may be turning out in trousers and gowns.—New York Sun.

of affection, and, sweet and fresh as it always is, has become, from association, the synonym of anything carefully laid by for future use.—San Francisco Chronicle.
A Guardsman's Trouble.
From the Detroit (Mich.) Journal.
The promptness with which the National Guard of the different states responded to President McKinley's call for troops at the beginning of the war with Spain made the whole country proud of its citizen soldiers. In Detroit there are few guardsmen more popular and efficient than Max R. Davies, first sergeant of Co. B. He has been a resident of Detroit for the past six years, and his home is at 416 Third Avenue. For four years he was connected with the well known wholesale drug house of Farland, Williams & Clark, in the capacity of book-keeper.
"I have charged up many thousand orders for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," said Mr. Davies, "but never knew their worth until I used them for the cure of chronic dyspepsia. For two years I suffered and doctored for that aggravating trouble but could only be helped temporarily.
"I think dyspepsia is one of the most stubborn of ailments, and there is scarcely a clerk or office man but what is more or less a victim. Some days I could eat anything, while at other times I would be starving. Those distressed pains would force me to quit work.
"I tried the hot-water treatment thoroughly, but it did not affect my case. I have tried many advertised remedies but they would help only for a time. A friend of mine recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but I did not think much of them.
"I finally was induced to try the pills and commenced using them. After taking a few doses I found much relief. I do not remember how many boxes of the pills I used, but I used them until the old trouble stopped. I know they will cure dyspepsia of the worst form and I am pleased to recommend them."
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
The Head Claquer.
Jacob Schontag, for forty years head of the claquer at the Vinona Opera House, is dead. He knew all the operas of the repertory by heart, knew the strong and weak points of all the artists, and held a rehearsal of his subordinates in the afternoon before the production of an opera, when he drilled them on the parts of a production where their work was to be put in. He watched them during the performance from a seat that commanded a view of the whole house, but never applauded himself, save in desperate cases.

I Have No Stomach
Said a jolly man of 40, of almost aldermanic rotundity, "since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla." What he meant was that this grand digestive tonic had so completely cured all distress and disagreeable dyspeptic symptoms that he lived, ate and slept in comfort. You may be put into this delightful condition if you will take Hood's Sarsaparilla America's Greatest Medicine.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.
To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c. or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Steel Hairpins Doomed.
The attack now is upon the steel hairpin, for specialists declare that the shell or bone pin is better for the hair, and that many women have suffered martyrdom from nervous headache without once suspecting that the cause lay in the metal hairpin.
But what shall we do without the little implement which might be called "woman's best friend?" How are you going to supply the 75 demands that we make upon a hairpin? We use it to button our gloves and our shoes, to open the drawer whose lock is gone, to cut the leaves of our books, to clean our husband's pipe, to pin on the extra wrap, to draw the cork when the corkscrew cannot be found, to wedge a rattling window sash, to stone raisins, to fasten a card to the bellpull in snow time, to do duty as a bodkin and render no one knows how many little services of this sort.
The shell substitute is good for none of these things, and if it be doomed to crowd its humbler relative from the market we can only exclaim, "Though lost to sight, to memory dear."—Philadelphia Ledger.

From Clerkship to Partner.
Miss Marie Catherine Finegan enjoys the distinction of being a member of the firm of commission merchants in Chicago, and has risen to that position from the lowest rounds of the clerical ladder. Fifteen years ago she began work for the firm as cashier, at a salary of $5 a week. The second week she asked for a raise and received it, this being the only time she was obliged to ask for more pay. By watching closely the work of others she soon obtained a knowledge of their tasks, so that today she is so well posted in all the details of office work that she can, at a moment's notice, take charge of any of the many books used in the commission business.
German Wives and Their Property.
When a woman marries in Germany her property becomes her husband's, absolutely and forever. He can dispose of it whether she objects or not, and if the couple are divorced the property still remains with the husband. When she marries she gives up the small degree of independence she had before. Her husband can compel her to work, and she has no relief or protection, should he prove harsh and unkind, except public opinion.
While German wives, as a rule, seem contented enough with the present venerable law, wealthy American girls who have married German nobles in haste and in ignorance of it, have frequently repented at leisure.—New York Tribune.

Fashion Notes.
Pique skirts are made with three wide flounces.
Suits of a red or blue pique jacket and white skirt are seen.
White pongee is one of the materials used for yachting gowns.
Eton jacket suits come with long tabs at the front of the short jacket.
The gray faded shades of blue, red and brown are the popular colors for gowns.
A Roman sash, with hose to match, will add much to your white organdie costume.
Afternoon gowns are of white wool for skirt and sleeves and waist of lace over silk.
Tailored gowns are of white serge as a jacket suit, with front and double revers of batiste and lace.
Lace handkerchiefs, with the initial written in diamonds, are a late freak of costly extravagance.
Sapphire blue velvet and turquoise blue silk are used in combination to form the vest of a tan cloth gown.
White berage over white taffeta and trimmed with white satin ribbon and chiffon makes a lovely summer dress.
Some of the newest coats are quite long in the back, rounding down from the front, and fastened a little to one side.
Black silk coats made by the tailors and stitched and pressed in the most approved fashion are one of the Parisian novelties.
White silk gowns for summer are made of taffeta skirt, belt or sash and cravat stock with full waist and sleeves of net or mousseline.
The latest thing in belts to wear with shirt waists is a soft taffeta ribbon five inches wide, made tight enough to wrinkle into half that width, and fastened with a pretty silver gilt buckle.
The mushroom hat with a low crown and a brim that curves down all around, is one of the many shapes which have some merit as a protection for the eyes. It is trimmed simply or elaborately with flowers, and is charming on a young girl.

PERIODS OF PAIN.
Menstruation, the balance wheel of woman's life, is also the bane of existence to many because it means a time of great suffering.
While no woman is entirely free from periodical pain, it does not seem to have been nature's plan that women otherwise healthy should suffer so severely.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It relieves the condition that produces so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors. Here is proof:
DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—How can I thank you enough for what you have done for me? When I wrote to you I was suffering untold pain at time of menstruation; was nervous, had headache all the time, no appetite, that tired feeling, and did not care for anything. I have taken three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of Blood Purifier, two boxes of Liver Pills, and to-day I am a well person. I would like to have those who suffer know that I am one of the many who have been cured of female complaints by your wonderful medicine and advice.
—Miss JENNIE R. MILES, Leon, Wis.
If you are suffering in this way, write to Miss Miles did to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. for the advice which she offers free of charge to all women.

Military Justice.
Old Judge Dole, an early settler of Pike, in the county of Wyoming, New York, was a military man in his early days, having, to quote his own words, "at the Britishers" in the war of 1812. And he carried his habits of military discipline into the management of his farm.
One hot summer day his hired men, five or six in number, decided to take a nap after their luncheon of doughnuts and pie. Instead of setting to work again at haymaking, they selected one of their number to act as sentinel and keep watch for the old judge, and the rest of them stretched themselves at full length in the shade of a big tree.
Unfortunately, or fortunately, the sentinel also yielded to the desire for slumber, and at the end of ten minutes was fast asleep at his post.
Just five minutes later the judge appeared, to see how the work was going on, and he saw at once the state of affairs. From the sentinel's position the judge knew what duty the man had been expected to perform, and without waiting for any explanation, he proceeded to administer a sound drubbing with his stick.
When he had sufficiently admonished the sentinel, the old judge let him go saying, "There, I guess that'll learn you not to sleep on your post!" And without taking the least notice of the other sleepers, the disciplinarian marched off, perfectly satisfied.
Economy in Housekeeping.
In good housekeeping, as in nature, nothing need be wasted. One might suppose that an old chair had a legitimate ending when the seat was quite gone and the four legs falling apart. Yet see—the four legs will support a square board, and when the whole is stained and varnished there is a most useful little table for the porch, or painted white, it may become a stand to keep close by the sewing chair and hold the work basket. A second table may be evolved by using the longest spokes of the chair back as legs, only in this case the shape of the table's top had best be triangular and for its three legs will be sufficient. This will make a very small table, and need not be stained or painted if a bright cover is thrown over it; but its most convenient use will be to hold a light tea kettle at 4 o'clock. All these handcraft trifles should be handed over to our amateur carpenters—boys and girls—for it is the right of every family of children to possess a tool chest and a work bench set in the garage. A tool chest is an excellent investment in a household.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Butterflies Lest Hat Trimming.
The ladies who wear alpine hats, pry into other people's affairs, make a desperate howl about "the cruel slaughter of birds to appease woman's vanity," and who eat fried chicken and spring lamb when they can get it and never murmur anything about "the slaughter to appease the glutton," can change their cry. Birds, except the white doves, are no longer used on hats. The fact is not due, however, to the hue and cry of the ladies in the alpine hats and who would look agape in a picture hat. Fashion has so decreed it. Butterflies on invisible wires hover over the dainty concoctions of lace, chiffon and flowers that grace my lady's head. Sometimes there is a flock of butterflies and each with jeweled eyes and head.
A Common Pocketbook.
The pocketbook question is one of the most serious difficulties of married life. There are very few women who find it pleasant to ask for money, and the number will grow smaller as rapidly as the year's go by, for every year more and more girls learn the sweetness of independence. A girl who has earned her own living, even for a little while, never will be entirely satisfied unless made to feel that she has as much right as her husband to what he brings into the house. He may comply with her requests ever so cheerfully, but she will not feel quite fairly treated so long as she is compelled to ask him for what she wishes to spend. There must be a common pocketbook, or the wife must have an allowance, the spending of which is never to be questioned.
Lavender Perfume.
Old-fashioned lavender perfume has come back to favor among the many other revivals of nearly a century ago. It appears in the list of French extracts and sachets, and its delicate fragrance exhales from the petals of choice Parisian made artificial flowers. The odor of lavender is agreeable to many people who do not like other perfumes. In imagination it is always associated with freshness, sweetness and home-wisely daintiness. Poets have sung the praises of lavender, and in general estimation the odorous gray-blue-tinted spike ranks next only to the regal rose and the modest violet. Lavender produces a sense of refreshment, and the modest color of the flower seems in perfect unison with its scent. The lavender plant was formerly considered an emblem

Styles in Teeth.
It is curious to what an extent the mutilation of teeth goes on among savage nations, and even among certain civilized people, such as the Japanese. With them a girl is never married without first staining her teeth black with a repulsive kind of varnish, and the custom is especially adhered to among members of the richer classes.
On the west coast of Africa a large proportion of the teeth are deliberately broken when children reach a certain age. Both in the new world and in the old the custom exists of extracting the two front teeth of domestic servants. In Peru the custom has existed from time immemorial and used to be a sign of slavery in the days of the Incas. It is also the custom on the Congo and among the Hottentots. Teeth are stained in various colors among the Malays.
A bright red and a bright blue are not uncommon, and a bright green is produced with the aid of arsenic and lemon juice. Livingstone related that among the Kafirs a child with a prominent upper jaw was looked upon as a monster and immediately killed. On the upper Nile the negroes have all their best teeth extracted in order to destroy their value in the slave market, and to make it not worth while for the slave traders to carry them off.—Tit-Bits.

It is a weapon which protects bicyclists against vicious dogs and foot-pads; travelers against robbers and thieves; homes against thieves and tramps, and is adapted to many other situations. It does not kill or injure; it is perfectly safe to handle; makes no noise or smoke; breaks no law and creates no lasting regrets, as does the bullet pistol. It simply and amply protects, by compelling the foe to give undivided attention to himself instead of to the intended victim. It is the only real weapon which protects and also makes fun, laughter and lots of it. It shoots, not once, but many times without reloading and will protect by its appearance in time of danger. Although once fired, it may be used again. It does not get out of order; is durable, handy, and nickel plated. Sent boxed and post paid by mail with full directions how to use for 50c. in 2c.
