And every thought requires an expenditure of vitality which must be restored by means of the blood flowing to the brain and other organs. This blood must be pure, rich and nourishing. It is made so by Hood's Sarsaparilla which is thus the great strength-giving medicine, the cure for weak nerves, that tired feeling and all diseases caused by poor, impure blood.

Klondike Newspaper.

The Klondike Nugget, one of the two papers published at Dawson, is having a great deal of trouble finding its town subscribers, who pay $24 a year for the privilege of getting a semi-weekly edition. A paragraph in a recent issue explains the difficulty by saying that it is very hard to find some of the houses according to the addresses left at the office. Among those mentioned were "the cabin with the screen door," "the slab house facing the river," "the big tent with two stove pipes" and "the cabin three doors south of where all the dogs are."—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Primitive Ice-Making.

The most ancient method of making ice appears to be that practiced in India Holes are made in the ground, dry straw is put at the bottom of these and on it, at the close of the day, are placed pans of water, which are left until the next morning, when the ice that is found within the pans is collected. The industry is carried on only in districts where the ground is dry, and will readily absorb the vapor given off from the water in the pans. The freezing, of course, is due to the great amount of heat absorbed by the vapor in passing from its liquid to its gaseous form.

One Woman's Funeral.

Mrs. Nancy L. Ba'er, a rich woman of St. Louis. Mo., who died recently, was a woman of very strong opinions. Although ber death was sudden, her funeral was as she desired it should be, having long since given instruc-tions to her friends how she wished it conducted. After cremation the ashes were carried to the undertak-er's in a small copper box. There the ashes were poured into a handsome Edgeworth urn, which was hermeti-cally sealed. The urn was then fast-Edgeworth cally sealed. ened to a foundation of wood cove ed with heavy black velvet. Two silver handles were on each side for the pallbearers, and on one side a silver late, with name and date of death. The urn and foundation were then fut in a heavy oak box and carried to her home in Indiana, the vase be-ing finally placed in the family vault.

Pelerine in Style.

An article of particular interest and prominence in the world of fashion, and one which, like the phoenix, has risen from the ashes of his former self with new glories and new endowments, is the cape. With its form this use-ful garment has changed its name — "pelerine" it is now called, and it is generally made of cloth. Its shape is long hebind, reaching to about 20 inches from the ground, and sloping in soft curves toward the front, where it fastens with but one or two hooks or frogs under the chin and over the chest. The graceful curves are in-variably edged by the omnipresent serpentine flounce, and the large flar-ing Stuart collar encircles the neck. The modern pelerine is a garment which appeals at once to practical as well as to artistic tostes as it comwell as to artistic tastes, as it com-bines with elegance of form all those qualities which so long endeared the

The Young Girl's Health.

The Young Girl's Health. "A young girl should be taught to carry her body erect, holding her ab-domen in and putting the ball of her foot first on the ground," writes Mrs. S. T. Rorer in the Ladies' Home Journal, "This is of the utmost im-portance to keep the organs in good condition. The clothing should be loose, light, warm and suspended from the shoulders. Skirts should be made of light material—either wool or made of light material-either wool or silk. The stockings fastened to the waist by means of supporters; the one skirt worn buttoned to the bottom of the waist, with an outside dress sup-ported from the shoulders, should form the necessary clothing. The shoes should be made to fit the feet, with broad soles and low, broad heels. Gloves should be sufficiently loose not to stop the circulation at the wrists. MRS. PINKHAM TALKS TO THE FUTURE WOMAN.

Will the New Generation of Women be More Beautiful or Less So? Miss Jessie Ebner's Experience.

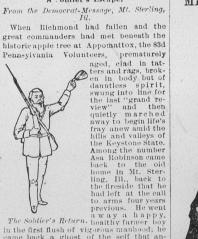

初 A pleasing face and graceful figure! These are equipments that widen the sphere of woman's useful-ness. How can a woman have grace of movement when she is suffering from some disorder that gives her those awful bearing-down sensations? How can she retain her beautiful face when she is nervous and racked with pain?

can she retain her beautiful face when she is nervous and racked with pain? Young women, think of your future and provide against ill health. Mothers, think of your growing daughter, and prevent in her as well as in yourself irregularity or suspension of nature's duties. If puzzled, don't trust your own judgment. Mrs. Finkham will charge you nothing for ber advice, write to her at Lynn, Mass, and she will tell you how to make yourself healthy and strong. Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound strength-ens the female organs and regulates the meases as nothing else will. Following is a letter from Miss JESSIE ERNER, 1712 West Jefferson St., Sandusky, Ohio. came back a ghost of the self that an-swered to President Lincoin's call for "300,000 more." To-day he is an alert, active man and tells the story of his recovery as follows: "I was a great sufferer from selatic rheamatism almost from the time of my discharge from the army. Most of the time I was unfitted for manual labor of any kind, and my sufferings were at all times intense. At times I was bent al-most double, and got around only with the greatest difficulty. Nothing-seemed to give me permanent rellef until three years ago, when my attention was called to some of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Williams! Pink Pills for Pale Poo-ple. I had not taken more than half a box when I noticed an improvement in my condition, and I kept on improving stead-ity. I took three boxes of the pills, and at the end of that time was in better con-dition than at any time since the close of my army service. Since then I have never been bothered with rheumatism. Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale Poo-gis the only remedy that ever did me any good, and to them I owe my restoration to comparative health. They are a grand remedy."
