I have used Ripans Tablets with so much satisfaction that I can cheerfully recommend them. Have been troubled for almost three years with what I called bilious attacks coming on regularly each week. Was told by different physicians that it was caused by bad teeth, of which I had several. I had the teeth extracted, but the attacks continued. I had seen advertisements of Ripans Tablets in all the papers and had faith in them, but about six weeks since a friend induced me to try them. Have taken but two of the small boxes of the Tablets and have had no recurrence of the attacks. Have never seen a testimonial for anything before, but the great amount of good which I believe has been done by Ripans Tablets induces me to tell mine to the most testimonials you doubtless have in your possession now.

John Wanamaker Is After the Bribers and the Bribed in the Next Fight.

MONEY FOR SOME ONE TO GET.

Quay Makes a Cold Bluff, But Does Not Put Up the Cash—A Great Victory Last Tuesday in the State Election. Quay Will Be Beaten For the United States Senate—Mr. Wanamaker Makes a Statement—Mr. Quay Can Only Win by Corrupt-Machine Methods—His Trial to Come Up Soon.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Harrisburg, Nov. 15.—One of the greatest victories ever won in Pennsylvania politics was achieved on Tuesday last, when the Business Men's League, the Wanamaker and the anti-Quay forces of the state elected enough members of the next legislature to defeat the re-election of M. S. Quay for the United States senate. William A. Stone, the slated candidate of the Quay faction, was elected governor by a minority of all the votes cast in the state of Pennsylvania. This was expected. If the readers of these letters recall, at no time was there a prediction made that William A. Stone would not be elected as the successor of Daniel H. Hastings. The defeat of Quay, however, was confidently predicted.

But the election of Mr. Stone marks the last triumph for the Quay ring. He was its slated candidate, and he went up and down the length and breadth of the state declaring that his defeat would mean a rebuff for the administration of President McKinley and a setback for Republicanism of at least ten years. This specious argument caught thousands of anti-Quay voters, who, while they voted for W. A. Stone for governor, voted solidly against members of the legislature pledged to Quay's return.

STONE ELECTED, QUAY DEFEATED.

The result of this was the election of William A. Stone for governor and the defeat of M. S. Quay for the United States senate. All during this campaign W. A. Stone ignored state issues, and constantly declaring that his election meant the upholding of the hands of President McKinley and the triumph of national Republicanism.

During this state fight the slated candidate, Stone, steadily maintained that Senator Quay was not an issue. That he was making his contest for governor upon national questions—sound money, the McKinley war policy and territorial expansion. Quay was kept in the background. So far as the machine story, speakers were concerned they ignored Quay and Quayism. But the instant that Stone was elected governor Quay declared himself satisfied and announced himself, as though it had only occurred to him, a candidate for re-election to the United States senate. He issued a proclamation worthy of the president of a Central American republic, in which he laughed to scorn the efforts of the reformers like John Wanamaker, Francis B. Reeves, Rudolph Blankenburg and others, and declared, with defiance that he was the Republican candidate for the United States senate. With characteristic nerve, Mr. Quay announced that he would give $10,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of anybody bribing, or attempting to bribe, any member of the legislature in the approaching senatorial election.

Of course this was only a fringe bluff on the part of M. S. Quay. He made a similar bluff two years ago, when he defied the people of the state that there should be certain reform in the system of voting. It was this same system of bluffing that led Quay to make an offer of $10,000 reward for the detection of corruptors. But there is another side to this story.

BLUFF, BRAG AND BOODLE.

Quay never meant that his offer of $10,000 reward should be taken seriously. If he did, it was his duty to place that sum of money in the hands of a reliable party to be used for the detection of corruptors. The offer constitutes but a part of the Quay machine system of bluff, brag and boodle. Quay issued his proclamation and defiance last Friday morning. On Saturday at noon John Wanamaker issued his statement to the public. It created a sensation all over the state. Like Quay, John Wanamaker offered a reward for the detection of men who might corruptly try to influence voters in this state. But the Wanamaker offer was not a bluff. In this instance it meant a solid, substantial offer. In proof of his offer, and as a guarantee of good faith, the people of Pennsylvania, Mr. Wanamaker deposited in the Real Estate Trust company of Philadelphia, securities for a sum equal to $20,000, which he publicly offers to pay for any information that will lead to the detection of any corruption, any promise or gift of cash, or of office, or of any other valuable thing, to secure votes in the next United States senatorial contest.

It was a wonderfully bold, brave thing for John Wanamaker to do, and in his statement to the people of Pennsylvania on the subject of Mr. Quay's candidacy he said:

JOHN WANAMAKER STATEMENT.
"Matthew Stanley Quay in a proclamation published yesterday has interpreted the result of the recent election as his personal triumph and vindication. He announces himself a candidate for re-election to the United States senate in response to what he claims to be the invitation of the Republican party of this state recorded at the last election. The publicity of his act is consistent with the Quay's past history and falsifies the utterance of every Republican speaker recently on the stump in Pennsylvania. Colonel Stone, who will become governor by a minority of the popular vote, constantly affirmed that Senator Quay's re-election was not an issue in the campaign."

"Loyal Republicans were asked to support Colonel Stone as a vindication of President McKinley and to give support to his national policy. Senator Quay himself was silent through all the campaign and endeavored to retire himself, his record, and his official character from public observation and discussion. Notwithstanding this he defiantly fronts the honest sentiment of the loyal Republicans who supported Colonel Stone for governor in fear lest the latter's defeat might be construed into a condemnation of the president by appropriating the fidelity to the national administration as an approval of his own political record, morals and practice.

ELECTION A QUAY DEFEAT.

"The truth is the recent election is a most significant rebuke and defeat of Senator Quay and all he represents. His candidate for governor received a minority of the votes cast for that office, and is only elected because the opposition was not solidified upon a single candidate. Colonel Stone is not the choice of a majority of the voters of Pennsylvania."

"Significant above all is the result of the election of members of the general assembly. The next legislature will be composed of 254 members; of these at least 155 are expressly commissioned by the people and pledged to vote against Senator Quay, and not more than 99 can in any contingency justify a vote for his re-election."

"Senator Quay hopes, however, to defeat the popular will by the tyranny of his own peculiar machine methods. If the men who are elected are loyal to the constituencies which elected them and the pledges and promises upon which their elections were obtained, it is not possible for him to secure a sufficient number of Republican members who will be found so false to their pledges and their constituencies as to voluntarily consent to any machine subterfuge or device for strangling manhood, independence of character and political freedom."

"Senator Quay's manifesto, in which he emerges as the baptized child of the Republican election, is the exultant yell of a political boss. His masquerade as only a recent candidate for the senate evolved by the result of the election will deceive no one who is not willing to be deceived. He deceives only himself, however, if he thinks the contest against his hateful domination is settled and ended. It will continue; it is still going on, and it will not cease until his rule and methods are exterminated from the politics of the state. To this I pledge my unremitting energy and devotion."

MOCK DEVOTION TO REFORM.

"Senator Quay's bold eversion, once before illustrated in a mock devotion to reform, is again evidenced in his latest utterance. During the state chairman's fight in 1895, at a time when, by his own confession, he was confronted with overwhelming defeat, he sought rescue from the forces which he had before treated with derision and scorn. As a student of reform, he had saved him from political extermination he contemptuously repudiated them all."

"The desperate plight in which he finds himself has prompted him to counterfeit the now seven months' old action taken by the Business Men's League in offering $10,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of any one buying or attempting to buy votes. "I fear that Mr. Quay will be as unmindful of this offer in his hour of defeat as he was of his pledges two years ago in his hour of triumph. To prevent the success of his attempt to bring into ridicule honest efforts aimed at the debauchery of legislatures, I make the following proposition and place it beyond revocation or amendment by myself or any one else:

OFFERS A BIG REWARD.

"I today place on deposit with the Real Estate Trust company of this city marketable bonds and approved securities to be held by it upon trust, to secure the payment of $20,000 to any person or persons who will give information that will secure the conviction of any one who corruptly gives or offers to give, directly or indirectly, to any member of the general assembly any money, appointment to office or thing of value to secure the vote of such member for any person for the office of United States senator; or information that will lead to the conviction of any member corruptly receiving any money, appointment to office or other valuable thing for his vote for United States senator."

"This offer shall continue in force for the term of one year from the date of the election of the United States senator to succeed M. S. Quay. In addition to this, I also agree to procure counsel and pay all costs of prosecution in any case coming within the purview of the above offer."

"I want to congratulate the people of Pennsylvania upon the abundant evidence they have given of returning interest in the higher duties of citizenship. Pennsylvania has no less Republicans than ever, but it is much less for the Quay machine when it gives a plurality for a Republican candidate for governor and at the same time elects a majority of assemblymen opposed to the return to the senate of the boss of the machine."

"With the expurgation of Quayism will come clearer pages on our statute books and lofter practices in our legislative halls, and the patriotic labor of our honest citizens of Pennsylvania throughout the campaign just ended will have rich reward."

"JOHN WANAMAKER."

THE PRISONERS WAITING.

The penitentiary will yawn for crooked and corrupt members of the legislature during the next session. If Quay is honest in his offer of $20,000 that will be reward for the detection of any one who will lead to the detection of any corruption, any promise or gift of cash, or of office, or of any other valuable thing, to secure votes in the next United States senatorial contest. The publicity of his act is consistent with the Quay's past history and falsifies the utterance of every Republican speaker recently on the stump in Pennsylvania. Colonel Stone, who will become governor by a minority of the popular vote, constantly affirmed that Senator Quay's re-election was not an issue in the campaign."

and the people of Pennsylvania. Quay is under $5,000 bail on the criminal charge of using a bank's money and state funds for his own use. The day after the election he openly declared that he was going to Florida for a rest of three or four weeks, thus ignoring the criminal suits that were hanging over his head in the courts of Philadelphia.

The day that Quay left for Florida District Attorney George S. Graham, of Philadelphia, served notice on his attorneys that he proposed to push immediately the suits for misusing bank and state's funds against Quay. That the brazen declaration that he, Quay, proposed to go to Florida for a long vacation, thus ignoring the criminal charges hanging over him, would not go with the district attorney of Philadelphia. That M. S. Quay must come to the front and face a jury, the same as any other common person under indictment for a crime. Quay grew hot under the collar at this and wrote a slam-banging letter to his attorneys, saying that he would come back from Florida whenever he was wanted. There the case rests today. It is a sure thing, however, that M. S. Quay, United States senator from Pennsylvania, will be called upon in court to answer certain charges within the next 30 days.

The people of Pennsylvania might as well understand now the truth of what has been preached in these letters for months past, that John Wanamaker and the friends of good government and of honest politics, and anti-Quay machine influences, are in this fight to stay till the crows come home, and the curtain is rung down. Quayism, with all its rottenness, its corruption, its subversion of manhood, its control of the votes and consciences of men, is doomed to extermination. The curfew has rung; the dawn of a new day is at hand; the grave of Quayism has been dug.

Riverside.

Nov. 11th.—Hurrah for the grand victory and clean sweep of the Republicans!

Let us again hear from "Ned," the Deal correspondent.

Sore throat is prevalent in this vicinity. Many are afflicted, but we are glad to note that no cases have proved serious.

Frank Thomas has resigned his position as road-maker and is now employed by R. M. Beachy.

A pole 50 feet in length has been raised at the Thomas school, and a large American flag waves triumphantly from morn till night. Surely patriotism is yet alive in our land.

C. J. Burkholder, the renowned mineralogist, is prospecting for coal and other minerals. We have not yet learned of his success.

Charles Crossen has completed his new house and is now building a new stable.

Joseph Hoover has gone to Lancaster county for the purpose of bringing his brother's live horse home.

Elijah Livengood has moved his saw mill. Not much chance for boat lumber, as most Democrats have made Salt River their permanent abode.

Some hobos or hoodlums from our sister state, Maryland, have been trying to make themselves conspicuous by following in a hideous manner on their way home from church, on Sunday evenings. They have further continued their nuisance by boasting in a vain manner of their publicistic accomplishments, and to give vent to their brute-like feelings, have challenged quiet, law-abiding young men for a listic encounter. Of course these hobos possess no fighting ability, and no one fears them, but they are shunned and despised by those who do not wish to have their reputations marred by associating with such placomps.

—of Valuable—

REAL ESTATE!

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the last will and testament of John Marker, late of Upper Turkeyfoot township, deceased, I, the undersigned, executor of the said decedent, will expose to public sale at the "Homestead" one and one-half miles northwest of Kingwood, in Upper Turkeyfoot township, Somerset county, Pa., on the following described tracts of land, to-wit:

No. 1. All that certain tract and parcel No. 1, of land situate in Upper Turkeyfoot township, in said county, adjoining lands of Daniel Sechler, Irvin Sullivan, Daniel M. Marker and Arenas Snyder, containing 18 acres, more or less; 10 acres of which are cleared and the balance well timbered. This farm is in a high state of cultivation and lies in the midst of an excellent farming community. The surface of this farm is smooth and rolling. There is erected on the same a good two-story frame dwelling house, barn and a complete set of farm out-buildings. There is a fine apple orchard on the farm as well as a large variety of other choice fruit trees.

No. 2. All that certain tract of land situate in Middlebrook township, in said county, adjoining lands of George Cramer, William King, Abraham Peck and others, containing 10 acres, more or less; 40 acres are cleared and the remaining 10 acres are well timbered. This is a splendid grazing tract.

No. 3. All the limestone on, in and under certain piece or parcel of land situate in Middlebrook township, in said county, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a post by the lands of Sechler and Peck, thence south forty six and one-half (46 1/2) degrees, west forty-four (44) perches to a post, thence by lands of Peterson's north thirty-three degrees, east one (1) perch to a post, thence by land of Green King north forty-six and one-half (46 1/2) degrees, east forty-four (44) perches to a post, thence by land of Cassin north south thirty-three degrees, east one (1) perch to the place of beginning, containing forty-four (44) perches, together with the tree-enclosed and acreage to and for the purchaser, his heirs and assigns for the purpose of removing and conveying away from the said ground the said limestone.

TERMS:

One-third of the purchase money in parcels Nos. 1 and 2 to remain a lien on the premises, the interest to be paid annually to Rachel Marker during her natural life, and at her death the principal sum to be paid to the legal representative of John Marker, deceased, as is provided in his last will and testament. The balance of the purchase money of No. 1 to be paid as follows: $2,000 down on the first day of April, 1899, and the balance in payments of $2,000 per annum, without interest, which payments are to be secured by judgments upon the premises.

No. 2. The balance after one-third to be advanced to the purchaser, and the interest on the delivery of the deed and the balance in one year thereafter, without interest; deferred payment to be secured by judgment upon the premises.

No. 3. This tract will be sold for cash upon the delivery of the deed and the interest will be released. Possession will be given on the 2nd day of April, 1899.

RAEHL MARKER, Executor.

Returns for Congress and Senator.

Associate Judges Horner and Black held the Computation court at Somerset, last week, and at the conclusion of their work appointed Joseph Sechler, of New Centerville borough, to carry the returns of Somerset county for S. B. Senator to Bedford, and W. H. H. H. borough, of Ursina borough, to carry the returns of Somerset county for Congress to Hollidaysburg. Both places are fixed by law as the points where the District returning boards shall meet on the Seventh day after the election to compute the returns for state Senator and Congress. From these places the joint returns are forwarded to the State department at Harrisburg. The returning boards met on Tuesday last and performed this duty.
