Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous lining.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Apt to Affect the Nerves.

Cold weather is just as apt to affect the nerves as any other part of the body, and neuralgia sets in. St. Jacobs Oil is just what you need to cure it, as it cures all the general pains and aches of the body.

The Rev. Dr. Withrow, the venerable pastor of the Park Street Church, Boston, which is commonly known as "Brimstone Corner," lives up to the old traditions of the church. "I do not see," he says, "how a man can be a Christian who rejects the doctrine of eternal punishment."

A Use for Liquefied Air.

It is reported that a new use has been found for liquefied air, the possibilities of which have been matters of discussion among scientific men for some time. According to the Mining Reporter, a discovery was made recently by which it is now practical to use liquefied air in underground work, such as mining, driving tunnels and sinking shafts. It is said that under proper conditions, the liberation of air from the liquid can be effective in generating power with which to run drills under ground, pumps, hoists, etc., while cool air can also be supplied in the deepest mines. The liquid air can also be used in freezing soft ground, making tunnel cutting less hazardous and tedious. If there is any reliability in this reported discovery, and its success can be practically demonstrated, it will make a new departure in the lines of work named, and once again make the genius of science the soul of industrial progress.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

Daughters Should be Carefully Guided in Early Womanhood.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance, or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination, but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

The following letter from Miss MARRIE F. JOHNSON, Centralia, Pa., shows what neglect will do, and tells how Mrs. Pinkham helped her:

"My health became so poor that I had to leave school. I was tired all the time, and had dreadful pains in my side and back. I was also troubled with irregularity of menses. I was very weak, and lost so much flesh that my friends became alarmed. My mother, who is a firm believer in your remedies from experience, thought perhaps they might benefit me, and wrote you for advice. I followed the advice you gave, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as you directed, and am now as well as I ever was. I have gained flesh and have a good color. I am completely cured of irregularity."

Light is the task where many share the toil.—Homer.

Victory belongs to the most persevering.—Napoleon.

Everyone has a fair turn to be as great as he pleases.—Jeremy Collier.

If thou desire to be held wise, be so wise as to hold thy tongue.—Quarles.

He that wants money, means and content, is without three good friends.—Shakespeare.

That man may safely venture on his way, who is so guided that he cannot stray.—Walter Scott.

The shortest life is long enough if it lead to a better, and the longest life is too short if it do not.—Colton.

Leisure for men of business, and business for men of leisure, would cure many complaints.—Mrs. Thrale.

The cheapest of all things is kindness, its exercise requiring the least possible trouble and self-sacrifice.—Smiles.

There is an unfortunate disposition in man to attend much more to the faults of his companions that offend him, than to their perfections which please him.—Greville.

A man's ledger does not tell what he is, or what he is worth. Count what is in man, not what is on him, if you would know what he is worth—whether rich or poor.—H. W. Beecher.

CAPTAIN CHADWICK'S VIEWS.

The Value of Armor in a Sea Fight Was Not Tested at Santiago.

Armor played but a small part; the ten-inch water-line belts of the Vizcaya class were not struck by any heavy shell, and the Colon was struck but five times by anything, her surrender being due to her inability to keep up the effort to escape and the fact that she had no chance against the overpowering force of four heavy ships in pursuit. Her captain states that she was not struck after leaving the vicinity of the harbor. When the thirteen-inch shells of the Oregon, fired from a range of 9000 yards—something over five land miles—began to fall near, she at once saw the hopelessness of her case.

The eleven-inch guns in the turrets of the Vizcaya class were en barbette, that is, they looked over the turret and not through a port in the turret. They had an overhead protection of a spherical two-and-three-quarter-inch shield covering the entire turret. This, in the Oquendo, had been pierced by an eight-inch shell at the edge of the opening for the gun, which had burst inside and had killed every one in the turret. When boarded the second day after the action all were found at their posts, a petty officer in the attitude of aiming. This occurrence illustrates what was strongly borne in upon us, viz, that no armor should be used which is not sufficient to protect. Light protection sufficient to burst a shell is far worse than none. In the case mentioned the shell, if the curved shield had not been there to burst it, by the resistance offered sufficient cause the fuse to act, might have passed over harmlessly. A six-inch had passed through a shield of five and a half-inch broadside gun of the Maria Teresa, and bursting must have killed the entire gun's crew. Of course such shields as mentioned will protect from ordinary shell fragments, but the larger fragments of a moderate-sized shell have enormous cutting power, the anchor-chain of the Iowa, for example, the links of which are of iron two and a half inches in diameter, being cleanly cut in two by a fragment of a five and a half inch shell, which burst on her head deck.—F. E. Chadwick, commanding the flagship New York, in Scribner's.

A Victim of a Cruel Joke.

A well known man—a staid and serious bank manager—was passing by the Liverpool town hall a few mornings ago, when he noticed a well-dressed man hurrying toward Castle street. They reached it together, and then the young man looked at him with a nervous start.

"Oh, sir," he gasped, "will you please call my friend for me? She is crossing the street. I—I have lung trouble and can't shout."

The elderly man looked where he pointed, and, sure enough, there was a young woman with bright feathers in her hat just crossing the road at a brisk rate.

"What's her name?" he asked.

"Ethel."

"Ethel!" shouted the bank manager.

The young woman with the feathers was almost across, and she didn't turn around.

"Ethel!" he roared again.

"This time she stopped and looked round, and the excited old gentleman motioned to her. When she came across the elderly bank manager was turning round to receive the thanks of the young lung-troubled man, but he had gone! Then there was trouble.—Weekly Telegraph.

Police Searchlights.

A miniature electric searchlight for the use of policemen, watchmen, miners, engineers, etc., is on the market. It is a great improvement on the old oil-burning lamp. The new light is club-shaped, made of leather with nickel trimmings, with a lens in one end that throws a brilliant light of considerable dimensions. Flashed in dark corners, in the rear of stores, in dark streets it quickly reveals any person or thing. The light is of three and a half volts, and the lamp in length is eight or nine inches and weighs about a pound. It is said to be good for several thousand flashes by simply pressing the thumb on a clasp. The illumination is furnished by a dry battery which may be replenished at a cost of 30 cents.—Electricity.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES.

The New Belts.

The new belts are of soft silk or satin ribbon, four inches wide, says Demorest's Magazine. They are just the length of the waist measure and are clasped in front by buckles not over an inch or an inch and a half wide. The narrow clasp naturally holds the ribbon in folds. At the sides the ribbon is allowed to widen to at least two inches, and in the back nearly the full width of the belt is revealed. This arrangement gives the very long-waisted effect in front which is just now so fashionable.

Spiced Grapes.

Squeeze the pulps from the skins of several pounds of grapes and then boil and press through a colander to get rid of the seeds. Place in a preserving kettle over the fire and add three and one-half pounds of sugar, one and one-half ounces of whole cloves and the same amount of stick cinnamon. Place the spices in a bag and let the sugar and vinegar come to a boil, and then put in the pulps and skins of the grapes, adding the bag of spices. The whole should be allowed to boil for an hour and a half, and should then be put in stone jars and served with oysters or meats.

Virginia Caramel Cake.

This calls for two-thirds of a pound of butter, one scant coffee-cup of milk, two cups of granulated sugar, four eggs beaten very light, two scant cups of well-sifted flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, stirred in at the last moment; bake in a quick oven in three layers. Make the caramel of one-half cup of milk; butter the size of a walnut, and three-quarters of a pound of chocolate; cook in a double boiler, stirring often until a bubble rises, but do not let it boil. Add three tablespoonfuls of vanilla extract after you take it from the fire. Use as fast as possible; it thickens as it cools. Spread the layers and cover the top quickly. Use the same dry.

Meat Omelet.

Take one pound of finely chopped beef and to it add one and a half teaspoonfuls of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of black pepper and six eggs. Beat the yolks of the eggs until they are quite light, and add the beef and mix well, then beat the whites to a stiff froth and drop them into the mixture. Put a piece of butter and one of beef suet in a pan over the fire, and when it is hot drop the omelet into the pan with a spoon and fry until it is a light brown, then drain on brown paper and serve at once on a dish on which has been placed a number of chopped potatoes and a spoonful of minced parsley. Arrange the omelets as a border with a few pieces of celery here and there.

French Chicken Salad.

Take a large, cooked chicken, remove all the fat, skin and bone and chop the meat in small pieces, with an equal quantity of white celery chopped fine. Mash the yolks of six hard-boiled eggs, and mix them to a smooth paste with a saltspoonful of salt, the same quantity of white pepper and a large teaspoonful of mixed mustard. Add two large tablespoonfuls of olive oil and one of good, strong vinegar, alternately, a little at a time. Take some fine, tender lettuce leaves and the whites of the boiled eggs and chop them together very fine. Put the chicken in the middle of a large dish, making it into a circular mound with a slightly flattened top, and pour the dressing over it. Lay the chopped lettuce and whites around the heap of chicken. Chop some pickled red beets and cucumbers, and arrange them in a pretty pattern over the yellow coating of the chicken. Garnish the edge of the dish with white celery tons and parsley.

Household Hints.

Sugar in the water for basting meats will add to their flavor. This is especially true of veal.

To have broiled ham at its best boil the ham so that it is nearly cooked, let cool in the water, then slice to broil.

When cooking onions place a pail of cold water at the kitchen door, which will prevent the smell from ascending.

To whiten the kitchen table, spread it all over with a thin paste made of chloride of lime and hot water; leave on all night and in the morning wash off.

To remove iron rust from marble, use a solution of one part of nitric acid in twenty-five parts of water. Apply carefully to the spots only, then rinse with water and ammonia.

Stains on white flannel are hard to remove. The best way is to mix together equal parts of the yolk of eggs and glycerine, apply it to the stains and allow it to soak for half an hour or so before the article is washed.

In putting up portieres, in the place of rings and pins, half-yard lengths of the cotton rope are sewed to the goods and thrown over the pole and tied. The ends are untwisted to make the unravelled rope tassels so much used now.

Gloss can be quickly removed from a garment by a gentle friction with emery paper. The fabric must be rubbed hard enough to raise the nap; and in case of cashmere or other smooth goods, rub the place with a warmed silk handkerchief.

Rub a little salad oil around the stopper that has stuck fast and then lay the bottle before the fire, being careful to place it at least eighteen inches away. When the glass is warm, the oil will ooze into the mouth of the bottle and the cork frequently comes away quite easily then with a little tapping.

AN AFFAIR OF THE NATION
It has been said of Americans that they are "a nation of dyspeptics" and it is true that few are entirely free from disorders of the digestive tract. Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Stomach and Bowel trouble, or Constipation. The treatment of these diseases with cathartic medicines too often aggravates the trouble.

THE LOGICAL TREATMENT

is the use of a remedy that will build up the system, thereby enabling the various organs to act as Nature intended they should. Such a remedy is found in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Here is the proof.

In Detroit there are few soldiers more popular and efficient than Max R. Davies, first sergeant of Co. B. His home is at 416 Third Avenue. For four years he was a bookkeeper with the wholesale drug house of Farrand, Williams & Clark, and he says: "I have charged up many thousand orders for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but never knew their worth until I used them for the cure of chronic dyspepsia. For two years I suffered and doctored for that aggravating trouble but could only be helped temporarily.

"I think dyspepsia is one of the most stubborn of ailments, and there is scarcely a clerk or office man but what is more or less a victim. Some days I could eat anything, while at other times I would be starving. Those distressed pains would force me to quit work. I have tried many treatments and remedies but they would help only for a time. A friend induced me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and after taking a few doses I found much relief and after using several boxes I was cured. I know these pills will cure dyspepsia in its worst form and I am pleased to recommend them."—Detroit (Mich.) Journal.
