COL. WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

The Middle-of-the-Road Populists have placed Wm. J. Bryan in nomination for the presidency, and it is expected hat the Democrats will follow the example set by the Populists. Mr. Bryan enters the presidential race of 1900 with some advantages over those he possessed four years ago, having gained experience, and having the adminis-ration to oppose—there being naturally some feeling in certain quarters against the party in power. Mr. Bryan is a native of Illinois, having been born at Salem, just outside the region which is called "Egypt." His father, Silas L. praska as a leading attorney. He is a man of great oratorical powers, and most per dwith bis since it.

CATS FOR COMPANY. They Cheer the Life-Savers During Lonely Vigita Nearly every life-saving station along the Atlantic coast of Long Is-land is a haven for cats. It may seem strange that among the beach hills, surrounded by water in many In-stances, the cats should be represented to largely in Uncle Sam's service, but life-savers say that if it was not for the presence of the animals life would be a constant bore and at times dan-grous, for hived among the beach hills, with their growth of seawed, are swarms of rats, vicious as wildents and ready to devour anything from a joing fattife-saver down to a fish. Fre-quently force battles enaue between the cats and their enemice. Capt. John Edwards of the Short Beach Life-Saving station, opposite Freeport, has the largest number of east, there being about fifty at present in the family at the station. The captain and his crew take great pride in showing them to visitors and explaining the reason of their habitation among them. Each man in the crew has become strongly attached to the cats, and at a signal from any one of them ail the pussies will scamper toward the station and stand in a circle as if expecting orders. When meals are ready the cook calls them by a shrill whistle, and each family as the large the cook calls them by a shrill whistle, and each family seems to form fato a group of attached y schrill whistle, and each and in derive and y the cook calls them by a Shrill whistle, and each family seems to form fato a group of attached y as the station and y family and y the station and y family and y the station and y family and each and in a circle as if expecting orders and in a circle as if expecting orders and in the group the station and y the station and y family and each and y as hrill whistle, and each family seems to form fato a group of attached and the station and y attached and a strong the station and attached to the cats and the a signal from any one of the as if expecting orders when mea
