HOW CANDIDATES ARE DEFEATED

Ex-Secretary Etta Tells How Ex-Congressman Arnold Was Counted Out.

A STATE CONVENTION STORY.

The Machine's Efforts to Defeat Fusion Will Now Be Aired in Court. The Anti-Quay Fighting Force Has Engaged Counsel to Defend Its Interests—Secretary Greist Comes Out in His True Colors.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—The opening of the state convention of the anti-Quay party to-morrow will bring to light the terrible disaster on the Reading railroad and the threatened strike in the iron and coal regions, and will also give many events to narrate in the interests in state politics. But just as men may come and go forever, so must state politics go on, and the struggle of the people against the bosses continue.

There were some racy developments last week. Charles F. Etta, for 16 years one of the attaches and secretaries of the Quay administration, was elected by the machine leaders to rob ex-Congressman W. C. Arnold, of Clearfield, of the nomination for congress-man-at-large. True to his association with the machine, he served the machine leaders as long as he was connected with the organization, but when he learned that Arnold more than suspected that he had been swindled and defrauded the ex-secretary of the state committee told all the facts. They are interesting reading for Republicans who believe in the principles of the Stone-Wall Jackson school.

It is believed that Mr. Etta worked for the machine leaders as long as he was connected with the organization, but when he learned that Arnold more than suspected that he had been swindled and defrauded the ex-secretary of the state committee told all the facts. They are interesting reading for Republicans who believe in the principles of the Stone-Wall Jackson school.

It is believed that Mr. Etta wrote and swore to WHAT ETTLA SAID.

"You say that you told Mr. Skinner that I had never been more adequately rewarded than during McKinley's administration, and that he left the office of the Quay administration, and that he was chosen at this convention, in addition to govern and Lieutenant Governor, there were two candidates for the office of State Auditor.

There were three candidates for the latter two positions, viz., Galusha A. Grow, W. C. Arnold and C. A. Davenport.

"After the candidates for the other offices had been chosen, and just before the roll call of delegates for the vote on congressmen-at-large had commenced, Mr. Arnold, who had been left in charge of the Quay administration, and that he was chosen at this convention, in addition to govern and Lieutenant Governor, there were two candidates for the office of State Auditor.

"As there was not the order of procedure given at first that the order of voting was Grow and Arnold, the two candidates for auditor were soon changed to Grow and Davenport. What attracted my attention to this was that the number of responses was out of proportion to the number of delegates present. A great many responses of "Grow" and "Davenport" were in the same voice, and looking down among the white-headed delegates I could see two members of our Philadelphia select councilman and the other sitting beside him now a member of the legislature from Philadelphia, who was evidently the most active of a name whose owner did not respond promptly, thus indicating that the delegate was absent. I called Mr. Espenshade's attention to this fact, and he said that those who were voting for Grow and Davenport. As they continued to answer for absent delegates I told Mr. Etta that I would not be a party to such a trick, and he said, "Well, I will make a frank attempt to cheat that I laid down my pencil and ceased keeping tally." The fraud continued to the end of the roll call, and when he was told that it was a hundred and forty-five cents a head, he said, "I will not be a party to such a trick again." He then got up and voted for Grow and Davenport.
