Whiskey $1.10 PER Gallon.

We claim to be the LOWEST PRICED WHISKEY HOUSE. We really sell whiskey as low as $1.10 per gallon, and mind you, distilled whiskey—not a decoction of chemicals—but of course it's new and under proof. It is actually produced by honest Tar Heels in the Mountain Section of North Carolina by the old time process. Every drop is boiled over open furnace wood fires, in old style copper stills, in exactly the same way it was made by our grandfathers a century ago. First rate whiskey is sold at $5 to $6 per gallon, but is not any better than "CASPER'S STANDARD." It is the best produced and must please every customer or we will buy it back with gold—we are incorporated under the Laws of N. C., with an authorized capital of $100,000.00 and the Peoples National Bank and Piedmont Savings Bank of Winston-Salem, N. C., will tell you our guarantee is good. This old honest, mild and mellow whiskey is worth one dollar per quart, but to more fully introduce "Casper's Standard" we offer sample shipments of this brand at half price, (packed in plain sealed boxes) 5 Quarts $2.95, 10 Quarts $5.00, Express Prepaid Anywhere in U. S. All orders and remittances (in stamps, cash or by check, etc.), as well as requests for confidential price list MUST BE ADDRESSED AS FOLLOWS:

Our Printer Moved to Meyersdale.

On Wednesday of last week our printer, Mr. T. R. Sufall, moved to Meyersdale, where he accepts a position with the Meyersdale Commercial. He informed us, however, before leaving here, that it is not his intention to work at the printing trade very long, as he has something else in view in Meyersdale at which he thinks he can make more money.

Well, we wish Tom success at whatever he engages in, notwithstanding the fact that he quit THE STAR before we could secure another printer. However, it affords us pleasure to say that Tom did not quit without giving us nearly 30 days notice, and we parted as friends after having worked together for nearly five years. During that time we never had a row of any kind, but attended strictly to our business and tried to do the right thing by each other as nearly as it is possible for two men to do. During a portion of the time we ate at the same table, warmed our shins at the same fireside and once in a while took a social "eye-opener" together. Therefore, when Tom moved away it seemed like losing a member of the family, especially so because we were left all alone in the print shop. We had another man hired, but the new man went back on his word because he did not want to leave his present employer in a hole, for he, too, was short of help. But while we have not yet a regular employe on hand, we will get the great paper out just the same, thanks to being a practical printer as well as an editor. Of course, under the circumstances, the paper will not be found up to its former standard, but this condition cannot last long. There is a good man to be had for every good job, but the man needed cannot always be had as soon as desired. However, it affords us pleasure to say that we expect to have an excellent man by about next week. When he arrives, the paper will soon be up to its former standard, and, if possible, ahead of it. Everything will come right where there is push and energy, no matter how handicapped one may be, and the editor of this paper has the two aforesaid qualities. We are in the habit of accomplishing the things we set out to do.

LATER: Since writing the above, Mr. Charles F. Sollenberger, of Chambersburg, Pa., has appeared on the scene and is now at work on this paper. Mr. Sollenberger comes here a stranger, but he shows every indication of being a good, reliable printer, and as soon as we get caught up with our work we expect to get out a better paper than ever.

Meyersdale Will be on a Spur, Says the Pittsburg Post.

The following concerning the Berlin cut-off appeared in last Saturday's Pittsburg Post: According to advices at hand, the project for abandoning the Sand Patch tunnel on the Baltimore & Ohio is being revived. It is said to be the company's intention to construct a new route, with accommodations for three tracks across the backbone of the Allegheny mountains. Several surveys have been made. The original survey for the abandonment of the tunnel—almost one mile long—so far as known, was made by Elliott Holbrook, formerly superintendent of the Pittsburg division. The latter is an authority among railroad engineers in certain specific lines, and years ago had a project on hand for the building of a double-deck bridge across the Monongahela river from the foot of Ferry street and for the boring of a Mt. Washington tunnel along the present general lines of the Wabash. Mr. Holbrook's scheme, so far as the city end of the project is concerned, was more pretentious than the Wabash plans. It included a roadway for teams, etc., leading from the business portion of Pittsburg to a point back of Mt. Washington, and all at a comparatively easy grade. The matter fell through because local capitalists, at that time, were a little dubious regarding the city's future. Most any of the proposed Sand Patch routes places Meyersdale on the end of a spur.

Better Than a Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on the affected parts, is better than a plaster for a lame back and for pains in the side or chest. Pain Balm has no superior as a liniment for the relief of deep seated, muscular and rheumatic pains. For sale by E. H. Miller.

Jumped to His Death.

On Wednesday night Joseph Brushton jumped from a third-story window at the West Salisbury hotel and injured himself so badly that he died on the Saturday morning following. The remains were sent to Lonaconing, Md., for burial. The deceased was a one-armed man and was 35 years old. He had been boarding with a sister at Niverton, but had put up with Landlord Fair for the night when he made his fatal leap. He jumped out on the south side of the house at about 11:30 o'clock, landing on the ground 35 feet below. His arm was broken in several places, his ribs were caved in, and he was injured so badly that he died without regaining consciousness.

It is thought that the leap was either the result of a dream or was made with suicidal intent, the latter theory being the most probable, as it is reported that the unfortunate man had been acting rather strangely for a day or two before the affair happened. It is said that when he left his sister's place he told her that if anything happened him he wanted to be buried at his old home, Lonaconing, from which place he came. Landlord Fair says the poor fellow spent most of the evening in the parlor with his little girls, singing hymns, seeming to be deeply affected by the lines as they were sung. The deceased was a native of England.

Farmers' Institutes.

The Fourteenth annual session of the Somerset County Farmers' Institutes will be held Dec. 12th to 17th. The first two days, Dec. 12th and 13th, will be at Barron's church, in Middlecreek township, and the last three days, Dec. 15th, 16th and 17th, will be held in the Court House at Somerset. The first session at each place will open at 1 o'clock p. m. The state will furnish four lecturers, namely, R. S. Seeds, of Huntingdon county; M. N. Clark, of Westmoreland county; W. H. Kiddle, of Butler county; and Prof. George C. Butts, of State College. These gentlemen have all had large experience in institute work, as well as upon the farm, and will come to us with a large stock of practical knowledge, which they will be able to impart to the satisfaction of all who hear them. Music will be a special feature of both institutes. At Barron's church the music will be furnished by the large choir of the congregation. At Somerset the music will be under the direction of Prof. E. E. Cook, of the College of Music of Southern Penna., who has recently received the degree of Doctor of Music, from the University of New York. Mr. W. L. Morrison will furnish a fine piano for the Morrison Music Store, of Somerset, for the use of the institute, and lovers of music may expect a rare treat. The Saturday evening session at Barron's church and the Tuesday evening session at Somerset will be under the direction of the ladies, and will be devoted especially to the interests of the home.

These institutes are conducted especially for the benefit of farmers and their families, yet, all persons are cordially invited to attend.

Boy's Life Saved from Membranous Croup. C. W. Lynch, a prominent citizen of Winchester, Ind., writes, "My little boy had a severe attack of membranous croup, and only got relief after taking Foley's Honey and Tar. He got relief after one dose and I feel that it saved the life of my boy." Refuse substitutes. E. H. Miller.
