

Moving Your Merchandise!

Advertising creates a desire. Gratifying that desire starts a habit.

If you don't advertise at all, no desire is created. If you advertise a little and stop, the desire stops before it starts a habit.

It is habit you want to produce—the habit of reading your ads, coming to your store, buying your goods.

This is the only way to keep your merchandise continually on the move.

Everybody has a habit of reading the Somerset County Star, brought on by a desire to know the news. Take advantage of this habit by giving the people your store news through its columns.

When can we talk this over with you?

Correspondence Courses in Agriculture.

The Pennsylvania State College has for a number of years been conducting for the benefit of the farmers of this state, correspondence courses in agriculture. The present year the College is offering courses in thirty different subjects. Each course consists of from five to ten lessons on the subject treated. While each is complete in itself, these courses may be conveniently arranged in groups according to the special phase of agriculture of which they treat. Arranging them in these groups, it is found that there are eight courses in General Agriculture, seven courses in Animal Industry, four courses in Horticulture, six courses in Dairying and five miscellaneous courses.

The student is required to report on each lesson before the following lesson of the course is sent him, in order that the instructor may judge of his preparation and ability to proceed further with the work.

Tuition is free in all of these courses, and most of them are given independent of text books, the only expense of any kind to the student being for paper on which to make his report and postage on these reports as sent in to the College. In order to obtain the benefit of these courses it is necessary that students make formal application for enrollment to the Superintendent of the Correspondence Courses, State College, Centre County, Pa.

When a farmer who saw a football game the other day was asked about it by a neighbor, he said: "Nothin' to tell. Just let twenty big hogs out on a soft field any day and then throw down a peck or so of corn in a sack and see 'em go for it, and you'll know 'bout what a game of football looks like to a farmer. Only the hogs don't cripple each other quite so badly."—Ex.

The Boy Got the Job.

A merchant on Chestnut street has become very fond of an office boy he engaged last June, says the Philadelphia "Ledger." The boy entered early in the morning, when the merchant was reading the paper. The latter glanced up and went on reading without speaking. After three minutes, the boy said:

"Excuse me—but I'm in a hurry!"

"What do you want?" he was asked.

"A job."

"You do? Well," snorted the man of business, "why are you in such a hurry?"

"Got to hurry," replied the boy.

"Left school yesterday to go to work and haven't struck anything yet. I can't waste time. If you've got nothing for me, say so, and I'll look elsewhere. The only place I can stop long is where they pay me for it."

"When can you come?" asked the surprised merchant.

"Don't have to come," he was told. "I'm here now, and would have been to work before this if you'd said so."
