Fine Graphophone For Sale.

Desirable Real Estate For Sale.

Desirable Real Estate For Sale.

The Star is agent for the sale of a very desirable piece of real estate located 3 miles east of the thriving town of Salisbury. Said real estate consists of about 72 acres of land, part of which is in a fair state of cultivation, and part covered with a large amount of timber suitable for mine props and ties. A very thick vein of most excellent limestone, easy of access, is opened on the land, as well as a vein of the finest parting stone to be found anywhere. The famous findlay Spring, one of the finest pure water springs in all Somerset county, having a volume of water sufficient to supply a town of several thousand inhabitants, is also located on this land, and the spring alone is worth a handsome sum of money. There is also a fine bearing young apple orchard on the place, and a good, new two-story residence and suitable outbuildings.

The place can be bought at a very reasonable price, or will trade same for desirable town property. For terms and further particulars, call on or address The Star, Elk Lick, Pa.

SMALLPOX IN ROCKWOOD.

Six Cases Diagnosed as Such by Dr. H. Gary, State Health Officer. Rockwood Gazette.

For more than three weeks, it appears from present information, there has been smallpox in Rockwood, and while every effort has been made to keep the information from the public, at the same time many people were being exposed, and today it is impossible to form any idea of whom has or has not been infected. Suffice to say, six cases were discovered in town, Wednesday, by Dr. H. Gary, of Berlin, who is health inspector, representing the state board of health in Somerset county. About December 3, Somerset county. About December of E. A. Malsberry went to Pittsburg on business. Returning home, ten days later he was taken ill. J. J. Kipp, whose wife is a sister of Mr.

Malsberry, and with whom the latter boards, attended the jewelry store during the holidays, going to and from the infected house several times each day. There were those in town who suspected the case to be smallpox, but said little about it. At noon, Christmas day, the Malsberry store was closed, and George Malsberry and J. J. Kipphave not since appeared, but Dr. Gary's diagnosis, Wednesday night, was to the effect that Mr. and Mrs. Kipp and two small children are ill with the disease, and Mr. Malsberry is convalescing. We understand that Dr. Hemminger has not conceded that the ailment is small-

On last Monday night Dr. Hemminger reported to the council that Mrs Augustus Hoover, living in the alley just back of George Holzhouer's store and residence, was ill with smallpox, and it ap-pears she had been afflicted for several days, since the exposure must have oc-curred about November 25, when her husband's brother, James Hoover, had been there, and had developed smallpox, which Dr. Hemminger diagnosed pox, which Dr. Hemminger diagnosed as such at the time, as it now appears, and immediately notified the borough council and school board.

A MAN'S NECKTIE.

What the Manner of Its Arrange ment Tells to One Woman.

"I wouldn't attempt to judge a man by his coat," she said gravely, "but I would not hesitate two minutes to judge him by his necktie. It is an almost infallible guide. Of course there are exceptions, but the character and intellect of most men can be told by the way in which they tie their ties. Now, take the overclever man, for example.

"The tie of the genius has afforded "The tie of the genus has anothed much 'copy' for the pen of the satirist and the pencil of the caricaturist, but in reality any little peculiarity or idlo-syncrasy in dressing is generally the outward and visible sign of vanity men with no intellect at all. He may possess a charming selection of the best ties which Broadway can supply and does not in the least look eccentric —nay, rather, he often wants to be as smart in appearance as possible, bu somehow he rarely achieves his object.

somehow he rarely achieves his object.
Directly you see a really beautifully tied tie (except in the cases of military men and actors, with whom it is a part of the training) which never moves out of place, following faithfully the little idiosyncrasies of contempora-ry dandyism, you may be fairly certain that you are not face to face with an undiscovered Shakespeare or an em-bryonic Goethe. Of course, in the case bryonic Goethe. Of course, in the case of a rich and important personage, the lesser details of the toilet are usually left to the valet, but even then I defy a man of real brains to keep his tie at the exact angle for any considerable time. At dinner you will generally find that by the time the soup has arrived the evening tie has shifted its position or become obliquely set. This could probably be easily avoided, only it happens that the way in which a man wears his tie indicates pretty accurately the wearer's intellectual appreciation of trifies.—Toledo Blade.

POINTED QUESTIONS.

Put Yourself In the Other One's Place and Answer.

The great task of sound ethics is to stimulate the social imagination. We must be continually prodding our sense of social consequence to keep it wide awake. We must be asking ourselves at each point of contact with the lives of others such pointed questions as these:

How would you like to be the tailor

How would you like to be the tailor or washerwoman whose bill you have neglected to pay?
How would you like to be the customer to whom you are selling these adulterated or inferior goods?
How would you like to be the investor in this stock company which you are promoting with water?

How would you like to be the employ-r whose time and tools and material

How would you like to be the employer whose time and tools and material you are wasting at every chance you get to loaf and shirk and neglect the duties you are paid to perform?
How would you like to be the clerk or saleswoman in the store where you are reaping extra dividends by imposing harder conditions than the state of trade and the market compel you to adout?

How would you like to be the stoker or weaver or mechanic on the wages you pay and the conditions of labor you impose?

How would you like to be the busi ness rival whom you deprive of his lit-tle all by using your greater wealth in temporary cutthroat competition? temporary cutthroat competition William De Witt Hyde in Atlantic.

A Surprise Social.

New Year's was the time of a very pleasant occasion in the shape of surprise social on the lately married couple of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jennings, of Jennings, Maryland. The Mr. and Mrs. Stanley participants are under obligations to Miss Gerda Maryott, of Jennings, and the Misses Warnick, of Manadier's Ridge. The surprise was a complete success, as the congenial Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jennings expected to be present at this social at another home. but when the time came, the tables were turned and the crowd came upon them unexpectedly at their new home.

The evening was spent in a most pleasant and entertaining manner After refreshments were served and the New Year was appropriately wel-comed in, the crowd reluctantly dispursed with a most hearty invitation to return. And all agree that Mr. Stanley made no mistake in securing for himself the very congenial and pleasant helpman that he did.

The participants who were honored with an invitation and were present were the following: Misses Gerda Maryott, Myrta Otto, Allie and Cora Warnick, Annie Boyer, Mary Gnagey, Ida Warnick, Carrie Dorsey, Maud Bevans, Lucretia Warnick, Oma Otto, and Messrs. Dalton Cook, Bevans, Albert Reitz, Charles Layman, Mac Bowman, Lewellen and Urban Blocher, Clarence and Mahlon Warnick, Daniel Dorsey, Floyd Broadwater, E. E. Haselbarth and C. M. Tozer.

Our New County Officers.

This week the county officers that were elected last fall take hold of the various offices in the Somerset court house. The following named deputies and clerks have been chosen:

Commissioners' clerk, John R. Boose; assistant clerk, Ed. H. Horner; solicitors, Koontz & Ogle; jail physician, Dr. L. F. Barclay; janitor, John E. Good. Mauditors' clerk, Chas. C. Schmucker; attorney, J. A. Berkey.

Sheriff's chief deputy, N. B. McGriff; assistant deputy, Wm. C. Begley; attorney, J. A. Berkey.

At this writing Register of Wills Chas. C. Shafer, Treasurer W. S. Matthews, Clerk of Courts John G. Emert, and Prothonotary N. E. Berkey have not yet named their deputies, but all have retained J. A. Berkey as their counsel for their term of office.
