known as a poetess and elocutionist, of Lexington, Ky., tells how she was cured of uterine inflammation and ovaritis by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: --For years I mjoyed the best of health and thought that is vould alwaysdo so. I attended parties and receptions thinly clad, and would be suddenly chilled, but I did not think of the results. I caught a bad cold eighteen months ago while menstruating, and this caused inflam-mation of the womb and congested ovaries. I suffered exeruciating pains and kept getting worse. My attention was called to your Vegetable Com-pound and the wonderful cures it had performed, and I made up my mind to try it for two months and see what it would for me. Within one month I fold mon better, and at the close of the second I was entirely well. "I have advised a number of my

To Save Sponge Fisher's Lives. Experiments are being made at La Goulette, Tunis, with a new submarine vessel, invented by Abbe Raoul, the vicar general of Carthage, to the vicar general of Cartage, to be used in sponge fishing. The vessel is made of steel and resembles in shape a huge porpoise. The entrance to the central chamber is hermetically clos-ed by a heavy lid fastened with screws and the occupants survey their sur-roundings through portholes. A long spear terminating in a grapping hook, worked from the interior of the submarine selzes the sponge and desubmarine, seizes the sponge and de-posits it in a net at the side of the vessel. The craft is propelled by posits it in a net at the side of the vessel. The craft is propelled by electricity furnished by accumulators through a cable attached to a vessel on the surface, with which it is in constant communication by means of a telephone. The vessel is lighted by electricity and a lamp hanging in the bow lights up the surroundings while the sponge fisher is beneath the water. Three men may easily descend in the vessel at the same time. The object of the vessel is to reduce the great mortality among sponge fishers.
