Mer Face and Mer Fortune.

"Why do you treat me with such coldness?" he pleaded. "What have I done to merit your displeasure? I refuse to release you without an answer."

"Remove your arms from around my waist," she commanded. "I hate you."

"But, surely, you have some reason for this sudden change in your attitude toward me. Give me a chance—let me know how I have offended you. I must have an answer."

"I heard you telling that Ka Flippe woman that my face would make a clock stop," she angrily replied.

"Did you? Why didn't you listen to the rest that I said. I told her that your face would make a clock stop to admire your beauty. I said that even the horses in the streets stopped and turned their heads to feast their eyes when you passed along. I said—"

"But it was needless for him to continue. And the next day it was announced that her father had been caught in a wheat corner and ruined.

With a wall of despair the unhappy young man tore her picture out of his watch case and yelled:

"Why couldn't it have happened before I sullied my white, pure soul with that awful lie!"

Thus do we see how the wrath of heaven still falls upon the heads of the unrighteous.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Forgot and Looked Back.

Senator Chauncey M. Depew is the author of this story:

"One day I met a soldier who had been wounded in the face. He was a Union man, and I asked him in which battle he had been injured.

"In the last battle of Bull Run, sir," he replied.

"But how could you get hit in the face at Bull Run?" I asked.

"Well, sir," said the man, half apologetically, "after I had run a mile or two I got careless and looked back."—Washington Post.

"You don't say so?"
"Yes, I told him what a bad cold I had, and he said he didn't know of anything that would cure it."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

She Danced When Ninety-five Years Old.
An old lady by the name of Ann Betts, living in Brooklyn, N. Y., will be 100 years old next October. She claims the use of Speer's Wines the past 39 years has been the means of keeping her in good health. About four years ago she danced in a set composed of four generations, herself, her son, her grand-daughter and great-grand-daughter. She is yet in good health and using Speer's Wines daily. Her address will be given to any doubting person.

THE WORLD'S PRODUCTION OF PETROLEUM.
In Mr. F. H. Oliphant's report on the production of petroleum in 1902, published by the United States Geological Survey as an extract from its annual volume of Mineral Resources, a comprehensive account is given of the progress made in 1902 in all the oil fields of the United States and also of the year's development in all the other known fields of the world. This means a statement of the discoveries of oil and prospects for its development in Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Trinidad, the West Indies, the Central American States, Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Venezuela, Russia, Austria-Hungary, Roumania, Germany, Italy, Great Britain, New South Wales, New Zealand, Algeria, Persia, the Dutch East Indies, the Philippine Islands, Japan, India, China, Hawaii and Korea.

The world's production of petroleum in 1902 amounted to 185,151,089 barrels. Of this the United States and Russia produced 91.44 per cent. For years Russia has led in point of production, but an increase of 19,377,722 barrels in the production of the United States in 1902 and a decrease amounting to 4,628,515 barrels in the production of Russia caused these two countries to change places, and put the United States at the head of the list. Our country has, however, a still more important advantage over its foremost petroleum rival. More than double the quantity of the higher grades of refined products is obtained from the average crude petroleum produced in the United States than is obtained from Russian oil. The United States produced nearly 2.8 barrels of refined products in 1902 for every barrel produced by the rest of the world.

The purest and most valuable grades of crude petroleum in the world are from the Appalachian and Lima-Indiana fields in the United States. A very fair grade of oil is also produced in a comparatively small way in Sumatra, Java, Galicia, Roumania and India.
Within recent years crude petroleum of inferior quality has been largely consumed as fuel oil. In Russia petroleum has been distilled only sufficiently to meet the Government requirements as to the flash test, and the remainder is marketed as fuel petroleum, under the head of residuum. This is also true, to a certain extent, in our newly-developed fields in Texas, Louisiana, and California. Cheap transportation by pipe lines and tank ships has made this variety of fuel marketable in distant quarters of the globe that are destitute of coal.
