No town in Somerset county is improving more at the present time than Somerset. The new court house when completed will be one of the finest in the state, excepting, of course, those in counties containing large cities. To go and view the work on the new structure, which is now progressing rapidly, is to satisfy yourself that the contractors know their business and will do a most thorough job. Aside from the new court house, a very fine opera house and several very substantial business blocks are also being erected in the county-seat. The new opera house will be one of the finest to be found in the state in towns under 15,000 population. In every respect, except its unpaved streets, our county-seat is a town that every resident of the county should be proud of.

Last Sunday Barney Krause took his son John to the Williamson School of Mechanical Trades, near Philadelphia, to be examined for admittance to that excellent institution. His other son, George, entered that school more than a year ago, and we are pleased to say that he likes the place and is making excellent progress. Barney is taking the right plan to make useful men and good citizens of his boys. His plan is far better than that of bringing his boys up as hangers-on of a miners' union. Lots of bright boys in this town are growing up to become idlers and criminals, simply because their fathers obey all the insane whims of a corrupt and worthless union. The boys are allowed to idle their time away at the very period of life when they should be forming habits of thrift and industry. A boy who grows up in idleness usually is a burden on his family.

The mine in which the accident occurred employs 80 men, and it is believed that at least 60 were in the mine at the time a News of the explosion brought assistance from the adjacent camps and hundreds of men were trying to enter the mine. Deadly fumes overcame the rescuers frequently, but their places were immediately taken by others ready to risk their lives. It was not thought possible that anyone in the mine could escape death. 12-1

Will Concentrate Plants of American Steel Hoop Company. Plans are now under consideration by officials of the United States Steel Company for the removal to Monessen next summer of the scattered plants of the American Steel Hoop Company. This move was virtually decided upon over a year ago, but the depression in business caused an indefinite postponement of the scheme. Improvement of business and the necessity for further economies in operation have brought the plan up again. Concentration of the steel hoop plants at Monessen will enable the Carnegie Steel Company to supply its entire trade in that specialty from the Monongahela town.

The plan is to dismantle the plants formerly operated by Lindsay & McCutcheon, the William Clark's Son Company and the Painters. These mills are old and poorly located while the plant at Monessen is equipped with the most modern devices and in addition has sufficient ground immediately about it to enable it to enlarge ten times its present size if necessary. Concentration of the steel hoop industry there would mean the employment of 1,200 more workmen.

WIDOWS WANT DAMAGES. Suits Entered by Eighteen Against Harwick Mine Owners. Eighteen women, deprived of the love and support of their husbands by the explosion, have filed suits for damages.

What You May Hear in a Certain Elk Lick Township School. If you visit a certain Elk Lick township school, it is altogether possible that you will hear conversation between teacher and pupils about like the following: Teacher—"Kin any of youse kids tell me wot a notary public is?" Billy Busybee—"A notary public, dear teacher, according to Webster's International Dictionary and other standard authority, is a public officer who attests or certifies deeds and other writings, or copies of them, usually under his official seal, to make them authentic. His duties chiefly relate to instruments used in commercial transactions."

Teacher—"Wrong! You thunderin' blockhead don't you know nothin'? Webster's Dictionary and Standard Authority, whoever he is, s'nt a runnin' this yer school. I'm a runnin' it, and I want a kirect answer. I'll bet a gallon of wisky your dad digs seab coal. Kin anyone else tell me wot a notary public is?" Ulysses Unionsteal—"A notary public is a feller wot must notify editors that fer to get too fresh an' shoot of their mouth too much with their pen by puttin' folkses names in the paper without said folkses permission fer to print their name."

Teacher—"Right you air, Ulysses, you are a smart, purty boy and will sum day be able to keep school like me. Now, Ulysses, tell the school wot kin be done with editors wot don't heed the notice of the notary public."

Ulysses—"Wal, teacher, I've heered smart people at Boynton say that editors wot don't keep folkses names out of their paper wen the notary public notifies 'em fer to do so kin be sent to the penitetch fer 99 years an' fed there on nothin' but beeswax an' buttermilk an' durn little of that witch is too durned good fer 'em."

Teacher—"Right you air agin, my smart, purty boy. I know your pap never dug no seab coal, and if you'll agree to spit out of the nearest winder wile you're chewin' tobacco in school, I'll let you have a chaw of my plug whenever you air a mind to."

Ulysses—"Thanks, dear teacher, you're the billiest feller I ever seed."

NO POISON IN CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

From Napier New Zealand Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. This remedy is for sale by E. H. Miller. 12-1

DO YOUR DUTY AT THE POLLS.

Speaker Cannon, after visiting all the close districts in the West, says that there is no doubt that the Republicans will have as large a majority in the next House as they have in the present House. This is encouraging news from a veteran campaigner who gets a good guesser in political matters. Mr. Cannon has been more intimately identified with the Congressional campaign than any other one man, and he has had exceptional advantages in studying the political situation. He is conservative in all things, and he is not given to boasting.

In the campaign of Judge Parker has become farcial in the last week in the denunciation of everything and everybody who is not promising to vote for him. He has become more virulent in his hatred and more venomous in his denunciation of business men and men of property than he was in 1896 or 1900, and he has demonstrated that his boasted conservatism of three months ago was only a pretense and a bid for the votes of the conservative business men. He has tried every dodge known to politics in his way of issues, and has at last landed at 43 just where Mr. Bryan landed in the city, beginning of his campaign eight years ago.

The net result of this variegated campaign of Judge Parker is the demoralization of the Democratic leaders in Congress. Representative John S. Sharp, Williams and Senator Bailey who have become disgusted and cancelled their dates for future speeches. They were expected to follow the whims of Judge Parker and his committee and make free trade speeches in one state and speeches against "imperialism" in another, while in other states they were expected to waste their breath in senseless denunciation of President Roosevelt and the Republican party.

After disgusting the people generally with such pop-gun campaigning, the Democratic leaders in Congress have become disgusted with themselves and gone on a strike. They admit that Speaker Cannon's estimate of the campaign is substantially correct and that the Republican party will remain in control of the Government, both legislative and executive, if there is anything like a full vote on Nov. 8.

This is the one point to be watched. The victory has been won in a fair fight, but it may yet be lost through overconfidence or negligence on election day. Every Republican should not only go to the polls, but see that his Republican neighbor goes and votes, not alone for Roosevelt, but for the whole ticket. The way to hold the victory won is to vote as you have believed and know to be right. Don't leave your duty for others to perform. Go to the polls and vote.
