Economizing Vital Force.

As a result of careful study and As a result of careful study and many exhaustive experiments the writer is convinced that the average man or woman uses up in the performance of ordinary every-day acts from three to fifteen times the amount of vital force necessary. The vitality so wasted is in many cases sufficient to make all the difference between weakness and strength, between weakness and health or between failure and success.

Lost His Bearings in Prayer.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— I am very pleased to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for womb and ovarian difficulties from which I have been a sufferer for years. I was the only medicine which was at all benefie's, and within a week after I started to use it, there was a great change in my feelings and looks. I used it for a little over three months, and at the end of that time I suffered no pain at the menstrant period, nor was I troubled with those distressing pains which compelled me to go to bed, and I have not had a headache since. This is nearly a year ago. I always keep a bottle on hand, and take a feeling strong, and I never have that tired out feeling any more.

"I certainly think that every woman ought to try this grand medicine, for it would prove its worth. Yours very truly, Miss ELSIE DANFORTH, 203 De Soto St., Memphis, Tenn."
