The Terror of the Sea.

In "The Terror of the Sea" in the March McClure's, P. T. McGrath recounts the awful toll taken by the derelict of the passers on the highways of the sea.

Crossing the Atlantic has become a commonplace, but, lest we forget the vast power and the mystery of the sea, here are true tales of the perils that beset the mariner, and of the mysterious fates that have overtaken stout ships, all within the memory of the youngest sea-captain.

These stories of great ships found, not once but many times, silent and empty in mid-ocean, with all sail set and everything in its place, everything right and shipshape; but with crews vanished completely, leaving no trace and never to be heard of again. These stories chill the blood and, because they are true, they give a sharper thrill than fiction.

DASTARDLY DEEDS.

Defeated Strikers Smash Tools and Explode Dynamite.

On Tuesday night a large quantity of dynamite was exploded near some houses owned by the Merchants Coal Company, at Coal Run, and occupied by foreign miners. The explosion was terrific, and it resulted in breaking many window panes in the company houses, also in cracking the plate glass in D. K. Malcolm's store, which is a considerable distance from the scene of the explosion. Thus it will be seen that while the coal company suffered damage at the hands of enemies, Malcolm suffered damage at the hands of his fool friends.

The explosion was undoubtedly the work of defeated strikers, ostensibly for the purpose of frightening the foreign miners out of the community in order to make room for miners who had been striking, but who are now begging to be put to work at the price they steadfastly refused for 16 months. The same night another depredation was committed at the Meager mine, by the same kind of people, who entered the mine and broke and twisted all the tools in the place.

Such crimes only embitter the coal companies all the more against their old employes, and as a result comparatively few of them, especially of the Coal Run brand, will ever be able to find employment in the mines of this region. It is also rumored that an explosion took place near the old Shaw mine, at the lower end of the region, on Tuesday night, but at the hour of going to press we have no particulars.

Yellow Dog May Establish Guilt or Innocence of Sam Turvey.

A yellow dog is held a prisoner by Sheriff A. J. Coleman. The dog will be an important witness it is said, at a murder trial to be held in Somerset, shortly. The animal is being carefully guarded, and it is expected that his actions when on the stand will have a great deal to do with influencing the jury. The dog, it is said, belongs to Samuel J. Turvey, who was remanded to jail by Judge Kooser at the conclusion of a habeas corpus hearing, without bail, to answer for the murder of William Sutton, a strike breaker employed by the Somerset Coal Company, who died recently from the effects of a gunshot wound received while on his way to work. Mention of this case has been made before by THE STAR.

Sutton and a man named Kemp were on their way to work, last October, when they were fired upon by a man who stood behind a hickory tree. Kemp was shot in the leg. He kept watching the spot from which the shot seemed to come, and saw a common yellow dog with a bushy tail running to and fro. Shortly there was another shot, and Sutton was hurt. Then Kemp, it is declared, saw Turvey and the yellow dog in a ravine. Turvey carried a shotgun, Kemp said. The testimony of Kemp is almost positive, and the court held Turvey for his appearance.

The officials learned of the dog's appearance at the shooting and determined to secure it for the trial. It is now in custody, and will be kept securely until the next term of court. The innocence or guilt of Turvey will probably be proven by the identification of the dog as his property.

ABOUT RHEUMATISM.

There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by E. H. Miller. 5-1

YES, WE CAN!—We can supply cuts suitable for any and all kinds of advertisements and job printing. Call at THE STAR office and see our large assortment of specimens. CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY THE BEST AND MOST POPULAR.

"Mothers buy it for croupy children, railroad men buy it for severe coughs and elderly people buy it for a gripped," say Moore Bros., Eldon, Iowa. "We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than any other kind. It seems to have taken the lead over several other good brands." There is no question but this medicine is the best that can be procured for coughs and colds, whether it be a child or an adult that is afflicted. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by E. H. Miller. 5-1

Fire in West Salisbury.

Last Saturday evening a large storage warehouse in West Salisbury was consumed by fire. The building was a structure 144x36 feet, erected several years ago by the American Aniline and Extract Co., and used as a storage room for sumac leaves and stems, which said company used in the manufacture of tannic acid and dye material. After the extract factory was destroyed by fire, several years ago, the sumac warehouse was purchased by F. J. Anspach, of Philadelphia, who rented it to Luther Anderson. At the time of the fire Mr. Anderson had in the building about 18 tons of straw, a new mowing machine, grain drill, hay rake, hay ladders, cart, shovel plow, sled, sleigh and about $20 worth of paint, all of which went up in smoke. Mr. Anderson carried $275 on the contents, which will not cover his loss. The building was erected at a cost of $750, when lumber and labor were very cheap, and the insurance on the building was but $300. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

Automobile Bill Has Become Law.

Harrisburg, April 19.—Gov. Pennypacker today approved the Grim automobile bill and two other bills, and vetoed nine bills, including that prohibiting the making of usurious loans. The Grim bill regulates the speed limit of automobiles to a mile in six minutes in cities and boroughs, a mile in three minutes in the country; requires a license for which $3 shall be paid at the state highway department; requires the machine to carry a light in the front and the back; regulates the proceedings of action against offenders and prescribes a penalty of from $10 to $25 for the first offense and from $25 to $100 and 30 days' imprisonment for the second offense. The fines are to be used for the improvement of the public roads within the municipality in which violations of the act may be committed. The bill goes into effect Jan. 1, 1906, and no person under 18 years of age may take out a license.

CHEATED DEATH.

Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, E. H. Wolf, of Bear Grove, Iowa, cheated death. He says: "Two years ago I had Kidney Trouble, which caused me great pain, suffering and anxiety, but I took Electric Bitters, which effected a complete cure. I have also found them of great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble, and keep them constantly on hand, since, as I find they have no equal." E. H. Miller, the druggist, guarantees them at 50c. 5-1

Socialism in Practice.

Once, as the story goes, two Irishmen were engaged in a discussion, when Pat asked Mike what Socialism was. "Well, Socialism is sort of an equal division of property," declared Mike. "What's mine is yours, and what's yours is mine. That's the idea." "If you had $2,000,000," asked Pat, "would you give me $1,000,000?" "I would that," said Mike. "That's according to my principles." "If you had two houses would you give me one of them?" was Pat's next question. Mike insisted that he would. "And if you had two fine horses would you give me one?" Mike declared that he would follow his principles. "And if you had two goats would you give me one of them?" finally asked Pat. "I would not. I have them," declared the Socialistic disciple. And there is not in the books, be it remembered in these days when so many men are pretending to be Socialists, a better definition of Socialism than that.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FRIGHTFUL SUFFERING RELIEVED.

Suffering frightfully from the virulent poisons of undigested food, C. G. Grayson, of Lula, Miss., took Dr. King's New Life Pills, "with the result," he writes, "that I was cured." All stomach and bowel disorders give way to their tonic, laxative properties. 25c. at E. H. Miller's drug store, guaranteed. 5-1
