Mabel Wishes to Know How to Rid Herself of an Unwelcome Suitor.

Animal pets have ever been a great Joy to the average sailor. There is hardly a ship afloat that does not carry one or more such little favorites, to whom the crew are universally kind. More than this, there is frequently developed an attachment between men and animals that is seldom to be seen on shore; and the intelligence displayed by these animals often far exceeds the wonderful stories we sometimes see in print. On men-of-war there is probably more consideration shown the crew in this regard than on merchantmen; at all events, you will find there many more ship's pets. It is by no means uncommon to see upon the same deck a dozen or more well-trained animals of various kinds whose natural homes are separated by thousands of miles.

Followed Directions. A girl who signs herself Mabel asks the Observer to tell her how to get rid of an unwelcome suitor, who is so persistent that no brand of snubs, or even coldness of the polar variety, has sufficed to banish.

It should be an easy matter to look a lovesick youth squarely in the eye and tell him that the time has come for him to do his roosting on some other front porch and to carry his little bag of caramels to some other girl.

First,—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, displacements of the uterus, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

SECOND.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can.

For thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, curing backache, nervousness, kidney troubles, all uterine and ovarian inflammation, weakness and displacements, regulating menstruation perfectly and overcoming its pains. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life.

A Virginia mountaineer who had strayed to Richmond on an excursion, and who, as his holiday progressed, became rather hilarious, grew overconfident of his own greatness. Looking round at his companions, says the Baltimore Sun, he boasted vainly.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I kin lick any man in Richmond."

No one offered to dispute the assertion, and he tried again.

One day, not so many years ago, I helped a man haul a steam engine of 200 horse power a distance of eighty miles, and after many days it was set up near an enormous steam boiler with quantities of coal and water sup with quantities of coal and water sup-plied, and finally moved the wheels of a big cotton mill. Nothing amazing about that! Listen: A company put a turbine wheel in the Yuba River, Cali-fornia, and developed enormous power which is carried by a great system of transmission lines, operating at 50,000 volts, long distances, in one case 232 miles. By means of small wires suffi-cient horse power to move the world is cient horse power to move the world is scattered along the western slope of the Sierras. You can neither see it nor taste it. To feel it is certain death. What could be more amazing?

PERRY'S MISSION TO JAPAN.

The President's Letter in 1853 Courted Japan's Friendship and Trade.

The original instrument was drafted in May, 1851, by Daniel Webster, then Secretary of State, and was signed by President Fillmore. There it rested. In November, 1852, Mr. Webster's successor, Edward Everett, fished it out of the departmental pigeonholes, took it to pieces and refashioned it. Three copies were prepared and were splendidly engrossed in English, Dutch and Chinese. These were inclosed together in a sumptuous gold case; and, to make the whole presentment still more impressive to the Japanese mind, the gold case was enshrined in a coffer of rosewood.

The document intrusted to Commodore Perry asked of the Japanese court two things, friendship and trade—first and foremost, friendship, for the safety of our seamen. Many a hapless crew had been driven into their ports by storm or wrecked on their rocky coast, escaping the perils of the deep only to be welcomed by those truculent islanders to a dungeon or a cage on shore. This wrong must be stopped at all hazards. And if, in addition, we could persuade Japan to enter into friendly relations of trade, the two countries, by mutual interchange of productions, might each promote its own prosperity and the welfare of the other. It was thought that Orlentals might see that as well as Yankees. In the end they did. But it cannot be said that Japan, any more than oyster, ever really yearned to be "opened."—Century.

No "Preumatics" for London.

The plan for a great underground pneumatic tube system in London, for the dispatch of letters and parcels, seems to have been definitely killed for the present by the adverse decision of the committee of the house of commons. One of the advantages claimed for the plan was that it would relieve the congestion of the streets by dispensing with a large number of vehicles. But it seemed to be held that the scheme was still too much in the experimental stage. London had one experience, years ago, with a pneumatic tube delivery, which proved unsuccessful, but it is explained that the general plan was defective, parcels being accumulated faster than they could be handled, so that there was no saving in time. No "Pneumatics" for London.

When asked what gave her such a brilliant and lovely complexion, she replied, 'A healthy woman can be sure of a fine skin if she will do as I do, use plenty of Cuticura Soap and water.' She insisted that I follow her example, which I did with speedy conviction. I find that Cuticura Soap keeps the skin soft, white and clear, and prevents redness and roughness."
