FINE PARTY FERVOR

Gratifying Result of Republican Canvass of the State.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMEN REPORT

Predictions That the Majority Will Be the Largest Ever Given in an "Off Year" Campaign.

[Special Correspondence.]
Harrisburg, July 18.
A canvass of the state has just been completed through the chairmen of the Republican county committees, and it shows a very gratifying condition of affairs from a Republican standpoint. The party is united and harmonious, and there is a splendid feeling manifested among the rank and file of the organization. That Pennsylvania will make a very creditable showing at the coming election is apparent from reports that come from the several counties. In order that at the very outset of the canvass there might be definite data on hand regarding the feeling in the different sections of the state, Chairman Wesley R. Andrews, of the Republican state committee, sent to each of the county chairmen a letter soliciting detailed information as to conditions and sentiment in their respective localities.

In this letter Chairman Andrews said that he fully realized that the phenomenal Republican majority polled in Pennsylvania last fall was largely due to the great issues then pending before the American people and the fact that both national and state candidates were running.

A Letter of Inquiry.
Continuing, Chairman Andrews said: "There being no national or congressional ticket in the field this year, it can scarcely be expected that the majority will be as large as last; nevertheless it is exceedingly desirable that the full vote be gotten out, particularly in view of the fact that a noticeable decrease in the majority would invite the criticism of our opponents who would try to make it appear that the Republicans of Pennsylvania were no longer in accord with the policies of the national administration.

"Again, a large falling off in the Republican vote this year would inspire the opposition to make strenuous efforts in the congressional districts in 1906, in the hope of reducing the Republican representation in the national house of representatives, and which, if successful, might imperil the election of a Republican speaker, and thereby seriously embarrass the administration of President Roosevelt. In view of the difficulties that might be occasioned by the failure to get out the Republican vote in November next, I am led to thus early address you, and to urge the necessity of your perfecting the organization in your county at the earliest possible date, and of conducting thereafter an energetic campaign until the curtain rings down on Tuesday, November 7."

Republicans Standing True.
The chairman supplemented this with a request for a report regarding the political outlook and inquiring whether it would be reasonable to expect that a full vote can be polled.
In response to this letter, Chairman Andrews has received answers from every Republican county chairman in the state and he is more than delighted with the information they impart.
"I do not recall an instance in my years of political work," said Colonel Andrews, in discussing this correspondence, "when I have had such prompt and highly satisfactory replies to a letter of inquiry of this character so early in a political contest. All the letters indicate the Republicans of Pennsylvania are standing true to their party colors, and that they will be heard from in no uncertain tones in November next as loyally supporting the entire Republican ticket."

Many of the letters gave not only the opinions of the county chairmen, but the latter quoted other leading Republicans in their respective counties, indorsing their statements as to the feeling among the voters.
People Contented and Happy.
"Our county is standing steadfast in the Republican column," wrote one of the chairmen. "We will give a larger majority than usual in an off-year campaign. Our people are contented and happy. They believe in Roosevelt and they propose that the Republican party of Pennsylvania shall herald to the world in November next that the Keystone state is not faltering in her loyalty to the national administration, and will be found next year electing a solid Republican delegation to congress to support the president in his progressive American policies."
"Insurgency and mugwumpery have no foothold in this county," reported another of the chairmen. "We are all in line for the whole Republican ticket. While we may not get out as many votes as we did for President Roosevelt, we will more than hold our own for a state election, and our majority will be above the average. I hear of absolutely no dissent, while, on the other hand, there is an ardent and aggressive Republican spirit evinced by the young men of this section."

From one of the northern tier of counties the chairman sent this message: "Put our county down for fully as large a majority as we polled at the presidential election. This may seem strange, but a canvass shows that we are going to get large accessions from men who last year voted the Democratic ticket for the last time. I don't know what is to become of the Democratic party up our way. Old-time Democrats see no hope for their party in the future. They are satisfied with the condition of affairs throughout the country, and are going to vote with us next November. Roosevelt has captured many of them, and they are going to be with us from now on. Our people are prosperous."

Coal Mining Regions Loyal.
Throughout the anthracite coal region there appears to be an unusually confident spirit shown in the correspondence received by Chairman Andrews. One chairman from this region among other things said: "Every county in the coal mining districts of this state will be found 'standing pat' with Roosevelt and the Republican party. Our men are employed and contented. They have no concern as to the future, and they are determined to vote the full Republican ticket. They believe in letting well enough alone. They want no change, and cannot be switched from the Republican ticket by any arguments or chicanery of independent Republican or other assistant Democrats."

One of the western county chairmen, after predicting that his county would increase its Republican majority over the highest figure ever given in an off year, added: "I bank upon this estimate because after having interviewed several hundred of our active Republicans I discovered a remarkable condition of affairs. We have for years been bothered with an element which, while professing Republican principles, have always found one pretext or another to vote against our ticket."
"Kickers" Stop Kicking.
"They do not comprise over three hundred voters all told, but three hundred voters for the ticket means quite a difference in the size of the majority. There will not be five per cent. of these old-time 'kickers' against us this fall. They may all get into line before election day. Stalwart Republicanism seems to be in the air, and that is why you may look for a splendid showing from our county; in fact, I believe you will have the same reports from all parts of this section of the state from what I hear in travelling on trains."

All of Chairman Andrews' letters told practically the same story. The majority will surely be above the average for an "off-year."
There was no room to question the intense party fervor which exists.
PENROSE AND KNOX
They Stand Well With the President, and Are Working in Harmony.
Washington, July 18.—Members of the Pennsylvania official colony here are still talking about the conference which Senator Knox held with President Roosevelt last week at Oyster Bay. There is no doubt of the fact that Senator Knox is one of the closest men in the country to the president. Roosevelt has great respect for his judgment and it is known that questions of the highest importance were discussed at this conference.
Pennsylvania's two United States senators stand well with the president, and they are working in absolute harmony in looking after the interests of their constituents in the Keystone state.
Senator Penrose, in his last visit to the White House, which was just before the Roosevelt family left on their summer vacation, had a very satisfactory talk with the president, and the latter showed his appreciation of the cordial support of the senior senator from Pennsylvania by giving him two important consular appointments that very day.
One of these places went to Maxwell Kennedy Moorehead, of Pittsburg, who was appointed consul to a desirable post in Canada, and the other was landed by B. F. Chase, former chairman of the Clearfield county Republican committee, who goes to Catania, Italy.
Probably in no other state in the union do the two United States senators work in greater harmony than do Senators Penrose and Knox.
Every now and then reports to the contrary emanate from Philadelphia, but they are absolutely unfounded.
Senator Knox in his recent interview in Pittsburg showed that he is in full sympathy with the Republican organization in Pennsylvania and that he believes that the Republican party is quite competent to manage its own affairs without seeking advice or assistance from Democrats or others who are not good Republicans.

Judge Stewart's Popularity.
"Governor Pennypacker's appointment of Judge John Stewart, of Franklin county, to the vacancy on the state supreme bench gave universal satisfaction to all who have the best interests of the commonwealth at heart," declares the editor of the Meadville (Pa.) Gazette. "Judge Stewart is without doubt one of the very best lawyers in the state. For 17 years he has filled the office of president judge of Franklin county, and his decisions have been reversed by the supreme court a fewer number of times than those of any other common pleas judge in the state. He is a veteran of the civil war, where he served in the 126th regiment, P. V. I. He stands for all that is best in Republicanism, and will receive the full party vote should he be nominated for the full term, as he undoubtedly will be."

A Strong Ticket.
"The Republican state ticket is a thoroughly good one from top to bottom, and should receive a hearty indorsement at the polls," says the editor of the Warren (Pa.) Mail. "Every man on it is well qualified for the position he seeks, and every Republican should give him loyal, earnest support."

HOME DRESSMAKING
By May Manton.
FOR BUSY WOMEN.

House Dress or Nurse's Costume 5024. Sizes 32 to 42 Bust.
No dress suits the active, busy woman quite so well as this one that is made with waist and skirt joined at the belt. It enables her to be tidy under all circumstances, doing away entirely with all danger of parting at the waist line, and is thoroughly comfortable at all times. Illustrated the material is dotted percale, muslin, chambray and all other simple washable fabrics are equally suitable for cooler weather. It can be made from light weight wool materials. The dress is made in shirt-waist style with a comfortable, all-over collar at the neck and includes regulation sleeves finished with straight cuffs, while the skirt is plain, but goes to floor gracefully and becomingly. In addition to serving for the busy housewife, the model makes an excellent one for the trained nurse, for whom we have always been in the line that makes the most use of all materials for the sick room. Material required for medium size is 8 yards 22 inches wide. Patterns mailed by Fashion Department ten cents each.

House Jacket 499. Sizes 34 to 44 Bust.
Tasteful in design, jackets are always certain to find a welcome. They are so much more comfortable than the tight fitting waists yet are becoming and attractive. They do away with all sense of that carter'sness which is always objectionable. Here is a most attractive one that is made of figured cotton combined with a fine and which can be very easily and readily be made when at the same time it is graceful and becoming. The big collar makes a most desirable finish for the neck and is always pretty of contrasting material but can, nevertheless, be made to match the jacket if better liked. Again, the sleeves in place of being finished with frills can be made in bishop style with straight cuffs, a fashion which is often preferred by active women. Material required for medium size is 3 1/2 yards 32 inches wide with 1/2 yard for collar and frills. Patterns mailed by Fashion Department ten cents each.

Girl's Dress 5022. Sizes 8 to 14 Years.
No model is better for the school frock or the frock of daily wear than this one that suggests the shirt waist while it is more youthful in effect. As shown the material is dotted batiste with collar and cuffs of white, but white the model is especially desirable for washable fabric. It also can be made available for the light-weight wool of the cooler season with collar and cuffs of the material or with cuffs omitted and collar of linen made separate and attached by means of button-holes and studs. The dress is an exceedingly becoming one to young girls and is made with waist and skirt that are joined beneath the belt. Material required for medium size (12 years) is 6 1/2 yards 27 inches wide with 1/2 yard 22 inches wide for collar and cuffs. Patterns mailed by Fashion Department ten cents each.

The Wit of Women.
Senator Depew, at a dinner in Washington, was praising the wit of women. "Against this wit," he said, "we men are powerless. Even when all the right and logic is on our side, woman, with all her wit, will nine times out of ten put us to shame."

"Thus a man once found that his wife had bought a few puffs of false hair. This displeased him. He hid in the hall one day, and, just as the lady was fixing the false puffs on her brow, he darted in upon her.
"Mary," he said reproachfully, "why do you put the hair of another woman on your head?"
"Why," his wife answered, "do you put the skin of another calf on your hands?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.
