A Sensational Shooting that Will Interest Salisbury People.

The talk of Tunnelton, W. Va., is about a sensational shooting mattee which occurred one night recently, in which George Cummings, Jr., played the part of the injured husband, and H. N. Tetrick, of Tunnelton, acted the role of the gay Lothario. Mr. Cummings came home unexpectedly from his work in Arkansas, arriving about midnight, and found his wife absent. About three o'clock in the morning a surrey drove up to the residence, and George walked out to meet it. The vehicle contained Mrs. Cummings, Mr. Tetrick, Bob Hart and Miss Maude Conn. When Mr. Cummings saw who was with his wife, he opened fire with his little gun. The ladies jumped out and took to the tall timber, while the men hastened away with the team toward Gibson's livery stable, at a gallop never before equaled in Tunnelton. Nobody was hurt, but John L. Gibson says there is a bullet wound in the back of his surrey.

The Man Who Gave a Nickel to the Lord.

Sunday he wore a rose on the lapel of his coat, and when the plate was passed he gave a nickel to the Lord. He had several bills in his pocket and sundry change, perhaps a dollar's worth, but he hunted about, and finding this poor little nickel, he laid it on the plate to aid the church militant in its fight against the world, the flesh and the devil. His silk hat was beneath the seat, and his gloves and cane were beside it, and the nickel on the plate—a whole nickel, says the Toronto (Can.) Star.

On Saturday afternoon he had had a gin ricky at the case, and his friend had had a fancy drink, while the cash register stamped 35 cents on the slip the boy presented to him. Peeling off a bill, he handed it to the lad, and gave him a nickel tip when he brought back to him the change for the bill.

A nickel for the Lord and a nickel for the waiter!

And the man had his shoes polished on Saturday afternoon and handed out a dime without a murmur. He had a shave and paid 15 cents for it with equal alacrity. He took a box of candies home to his wife and paid 80 cents for them, and the box was tied with a dainty bit of ribbon. Yes, and he also gave a nickel to the Lord.

Who is this Lord? Why, the man worships Him as Creator of the universe, the One who put the stars in order and by whose immutable decree the heavens stand. Yes, he does, and he dropped a nickel in to support the church militant.

And what is the church militant? The church militant is the church that triumphs over earth the church triumphant of the Great God the man gave the nickel to.

And the man knew that he was but an atom in space, and he knew that the Almighty was without limitations, and knowing this he put his hand in his pocket and picked out the nickel and gave it to the Lord.

And the Lord, being gracious and slow in anger and knowing our frame, did not slay the man for the meanness of his offering, but gives him this day his daily bread.

But the nickel was ashamed, if the man wasn't.

The nickel hid beneath a quarter that was given by a poor woman who washes for a living.

Is Water Running Away?

Scientists inform us that the waters are drying up. The drying-up process, they claim, began with the extinction of the great glacial crust which once covered much of our planet. The gradual melting of this ice blanket kept the present dry beds filled with water, and when that supply was exhausted the water followed the fate of the ice and disappeared. The process of evaporation and disappearance is still going on, they tell us. Travelers and explorers report the total disappearance of many streams and lakes which existed within quite recent historic times. In Asia, Africa, Australia, and in various places in Europe, this drying-up process is continually going forward. Not only in the Old World, but on the American continent the water is passing away. We are informed that man can do nothing to prevent the catastrophe, and that, if all science is not at fault, the time is surely coming when the human race will die of thirst. The time is a long way off, however, and perhaps man will learn to live and flourish without water. Many now only drink it between drams, and others do very little washing.—Ex.

THE PEERLESS MULE.

Editor Smith, Of The Chula News, Sings His Praise.

Ed Smith, the versatile editor of the News, of Chula, writes this editorial upon a mule friend of his: "A mule from Chula brought $450 on the St. Louis market a few months ago. This mule from Chula has as many ancestors as anybody, but from now on, as far as he is concerned, there is a full stop; the lid is on; as Mr. Folk would say, nothing doing. Of course, everybody knows that Missouri leads the world on mules, and Chula town leads Missouri, that's why we talk. A mule colt will bring from $75 to $90 on the streets of Chula, about a dollar a pound. They are seldom offered for sale, however, as a mule was never known to get old or sick. A mule is always worth his 5-year-old price. He can always do anything he could ever do. At 35 he looks the same, acts the same, is the same, and matches his 5-year-old platoon half grandniece.

"His noble ears and mealy nose, His glistening coat and polished toes, His fine, straight legs and ribs of steel, His muscled neck as when you feel A monster warship's iron keel. His tendons of the strength it brings To twist a million catgut strings, He drags the battle engines forth, And proud to prove on field his worth, He dies like one of noble birth. A faith portrayed in form and face, To divorce mountains from their base. He dies at last a giant king Of all the creatures earth can bring. And leaves no child his praise to sing."

A SPLENDID IDEA.

A new idea in a Cough Syrup is advanced in Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. Besides containing Pine Tar, Honey and other valuable remedies, it is rendered Laxative, so that its use insures a prompt and efficient evacuation of the bowels. It relaxes the nervous system, and cures all coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. A red clover blossom and the honey bee is on every bottle of the Original Laxative Cough Syrup—Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. An ideal remedy for children. Mothers praise it. It is best for all. Sold by E. H. Miller. 11-1

He Scraped the Streets, She Looked On.

Some years ago a certain man and wife were keeping a hotel in Bedford county, getting along nicely, making money and raising a nice family of children. One morning the wife woke up to learn that her husband had eloped with another man's wife, the wife of a carpenter, who, because of his work, was much of the time away from home.

The run-aways located in Cumberland, where he kept a saloon and she kept the apartments in many cases thereto belonging. Finally the wife located here, too, and kept a boarding house. She raised the children and saw them all happily married, and later was married herself to a retired man of wealth, who gave her a comfortable home.

She told her run-away husband, one day, that she hoped to see the day when he would have to scrape streets for a living. The time came. The constable sold his saloon, and he was given work on the street scraping force in Cumberland. His former wife would go down and stand along the sidewalk and look on, but say nothing. He could not endure this long, and moved out of town to a back-woods farm, and there he and his paramour are yet. Now and then they come here to market.—Cumberland Courier.

Ruminations of a Dog.

I never did have parents, No one to care for me, Just a homeless dog of leisure, The kind you often see. But I'm thankful for the blessings, And I'm glad my lot ain't worse. I might have been a poodle, With a woman for a nurse. Oh, you measly little poodle, Baby ribbons in your hair, Put on dog just like a human, The way you're sitting there! Have your bath in perfumed water. Mamma combs your curly locks, Go out riding in your carriage, See the opera from a box!

Oh, you water-eyed impostor! Oh, you dude! You pink nosed fop! Why, a single flea, I'm certain, Would fairly make you hop. You are tucked away at evening With your gouty misery In a nightie and a cradle, Where a baby ought to be.

They call you lovey dove and sweetie— Oh, you curly headed pup! Just come down from off the carriage And watch me eat you up! Why, you pop-eyed little poodle! Would I trade my place with you? Bowwow! No; I wouldn't do it If you'd throw the nurse in too.

Yes, I know I'm full of sorrow— Full of fleas and all of that— Got no home and have to hustle In the alley with the cat, But I'm happy—oh, so happy!— That my lot ain't no worse, That I wasn't born a poodle, With a woman for a nurse.

ALL REFORM PLEDGES HAVE BEEN BROKEN

Mayor Weaver Orders Police and Firemen to Work Against the Republican Ticket.

TAXPAYERS ARE INDIGNANT

Gordon, a Democrat, Directs the Pay Roll For Politics and the Wanamaker Newspapers Suppress or Distort the News to Suit the Purposes of a Guerilla Combine.

[Special Correspondence.] Philadelphia, Oct. 10.

With the mask removed from the so-called reform party in this city, Republicans everywhere cannot but be disgusted with the revelations of hypocrisy, treachery and deceit, and they are going to the polls to cast an emphatic vote of condemnation of the new political combine which is seeking to wreck the Republican party in Philadelphia.

Mayor Weaver is no longer taken seriously in his public statements and he has ceased to have the respect of men who are familiar with the political intrigue which has been under way in this city since Weaver deserted the Republican colors and took his entire administration over to the Wanamaker-Gordon-Van Valkenburg camp, which has for years been the refuge of insurgents and party traitors of all classes and conditions.

A Deep Laid Scheme.

The City Party which was started by some well-meaning citizens, who were sincerely desirous of reform, has been captured by the Wanamaker-Gordon-Van Valkenburg combine, and it no longer stands for anything which its original promoters contemplated. Like the Lincoln Party in the state, the City Party has become an asset of Wanamakerism and is being used in a desperate campaign to disrupt the Republican party to further the game which the Wanamaker politicians have in mind for the future.

James Gay Gordon, Democrat, for governor, and John Wanamaker, of doubtful political standing, for United States senator, is the program on the cards of the men who are manipulating the City Party in this city and the Lincoln Party in Pennsylvania.

As in previous campaigns when the Republican party was attacked in the rear by Wanamaker guerrillas and attempts were made to defeat good Republicans, regularly and honestly nominated in accordance with the rules and regulations of the party, the rank and file of the Republican organization stand true and steadfast and are prepared to beat back the insurgent crew to defeat and dismay at the coming election.

In the other Wanamaker campaigns the Republican party was confronted with the most lavish expenditure of money to promote dissension and discord in its ranks and to strengthen the Democratic allies of these insurgents.

Public Opinion is Defied.

On every hand there is seen today the same evidence of the use of money to further the schemes of the men who are striving to defeat the Republican candidates, but there is now the additional power of the Weaver administration being exerted with a most flagrant disregard of public pledges of reform and a most defiant spirit of indifference to popular sentiment.

"The full power of my administration" are the words that come to the lips of every Republican citizen of the Quaker City when he reads of the disgraceful exhibitions of police and firemen engaged in political work and recalls the sensational speech made by Mayor Weaver when, in addressing a mass meeting in the South Broad Street Theatre, he announced that he had deserted the Republican party, and that "the full power of my administration" would be arrayed against the candidates on the Republican ticket.

Since then Mayor Weaver has spent much time with former Judge Gordon, Democrat, and E. A. Van Valkenburg, Wanamaker's political manager in Wanamaker's North American building, in consultation regarding the use of the "power of my administration" to serve the ends of Wanamakerism.

Gordon and Van Valkenburg are Weaver's most regular callers at his public office. It is an open secret that former Judge Gordon is the political dictator of the Weaver administration, and that what he says "goes."

Gordon a Reckless Politician.

With that recklessness which has characterized Judge Gordon's career, both while on and off the bench, the Weaver administration is today amazing and startling the citizens of Philadelphia with the daring and boldness of its actions.

Orders are being issued to the policemen over the lieutenants' desks in the police station houses for them to turn in against the Republican party.

Caucuses are being held in every ward in the city, composed of officeholders of the various departments under the Weaver administration and at which the policemen and firemen predominate. Campaign assessments are there levied to further the cause of the Weaver-Gordon-Wanamaker party and to plan for the formation of John Weaver Marching Clubs made up of city employes, to turn out in parades in the interest of the candidates of the City Party.

At these caucuses police lieutenants and sergeants are among those who address the employees of the city, all of them Republicans, and tell them that they must turn in for the City Party ticket, as their "bread and butter" is at stake.

These are the exact words used by one of the police lieutenants who spoke to his men in a station house.

The orders to the lieutenants to do this come directly from the city hall and are given with the full knowledge of Mayor Weaver. The lieutenants have not their hearts in the work, but are simply obeying orders.

Police employes are being used to canvass election precincts against the Republican ticket. They are detailed in full uniform to deliver calls for these meetings to the other city employes.

Police employes in the distribution of campaign buttons for the City Party, and the police patrol wagons are used to deliver boxes of these buttons.

Cabinet Officer Issues Orders.

A member of the mayor's cabinet, Director Shoyer, nightly makes his headquarters in the police station house in the Nineteenth ward, and gives instructions to Republicans employed under the city administration to work and vote for the City Party ticket.

City employes in every department of the Weaver administration are being assessed to defray the expenses of the City Party campaign.

Where Republican office holders under the mayor refuse either to work for the City Party ticket or give part of their wages to go into its treasury, they are discharged without further notice.

While the Republicans who are so unfortunate as to hold place under Mayor Weaver are being intimidated and terrorized in the campaign to wreck the Republican organization in the interest of Wanamakerism, the Wanamaker owned and controlled or subsidized newspapers are directing their batteries, as usual, against every man who has the courage to disregard their attacks and speak in favor of the Republican ticket.

Never in the history of Philadelphia has there been such a damnable condition of affairs from a journalistic standpoint.

Wanamaker interests dominate and control the Democratic Philadelphia Record; Wanamaker's son, "Tom," owns the North American, and Wanamaker's son-in-law, Wharburton, owns the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

The Philadelphia Press, which for years followed Wanamaker in his insurgent political campaigning when Wanamaker sought to obtain the seat occupied by the late Matthew Stanley Quay in the United States senate, and also tried to become United States senator when Penrose was first elected, is again lined up with the guerrillas and is fighting the Republican candidates with what little influence it has left.

A Newspaper Trust's "Hold Up."

The remarkable spectacle is presented in Republican Philadelphia of the candidates on the Republican ticket being compelled to pay, at advertising rates, for the publication of their letters of acceptance of the nominations of the Republican party.

To get the most ordinary mention of matters of interest to Republicans in the subsidized or Wanamaker controlled or owned newspapers, it is necessary to go with cash to the business office of the papers.

A number of leading manufacturers and business men have subscribed a fund to meet this extraordinary expense of the campaign for the Republican ticket. These newspapers, which are suppressing news of interest to Republicans and which would be calculated to aid the Republican cause, are opposing the Republican state ticket as well as the local candidates.

They are suppressing the news regarding the police in politics and the firemen in politics.

They are distorting the facts in every matter in which Mayor Weaver is concerned so as to play him up in the light of a great reformer and public benefactor.

They opposed the legislation before councils calling for the deepening of the Delaware river channel, while Mayor Weaver opposed it. Owing to the firm and positive stand of the Republican leaders and councilmen, this proposition finally passed councils, and Weaver finally felt obliged to sign the bill which he sought to defeat. These newspapers then gave the credit to the mayor, whereas he was absolutely entitled to none, for it was the Republican leaders who made this condition of affairs possible.

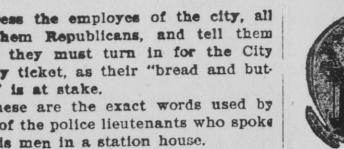

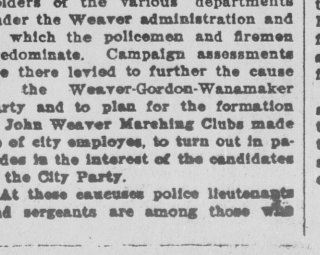

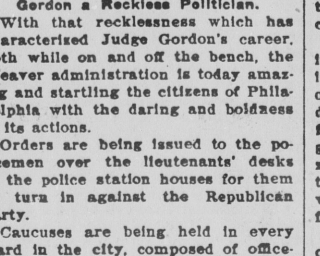

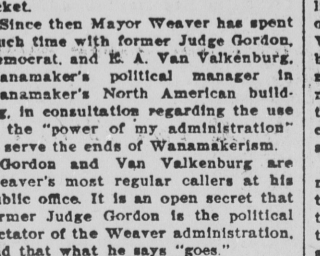

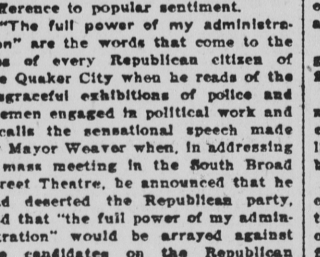

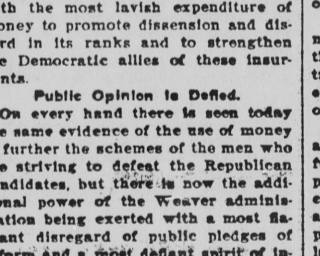

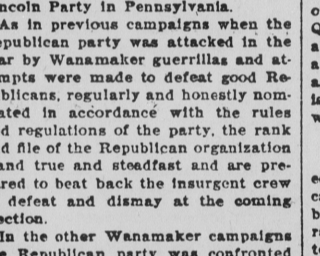

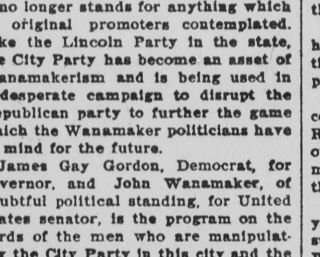

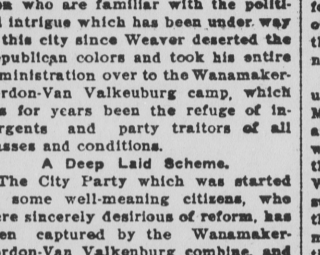

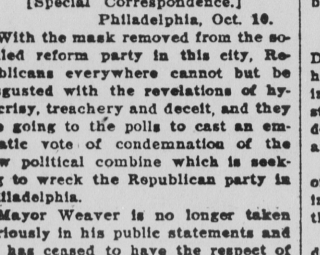

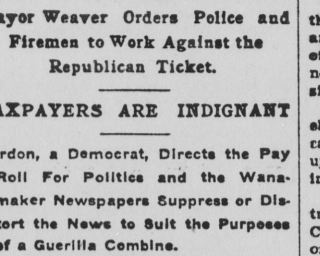

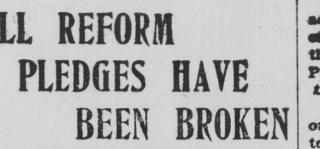

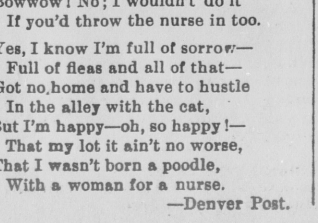

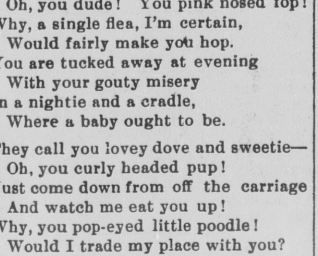

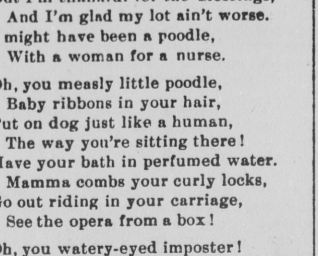

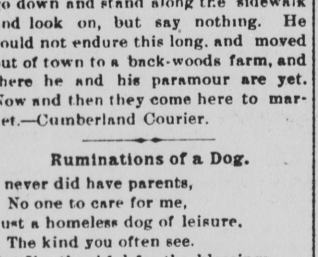

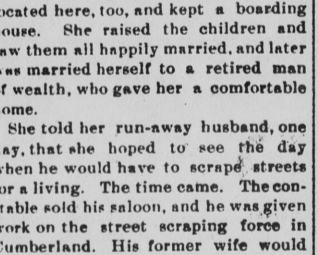

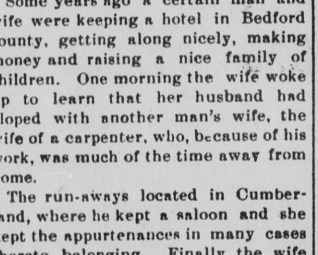

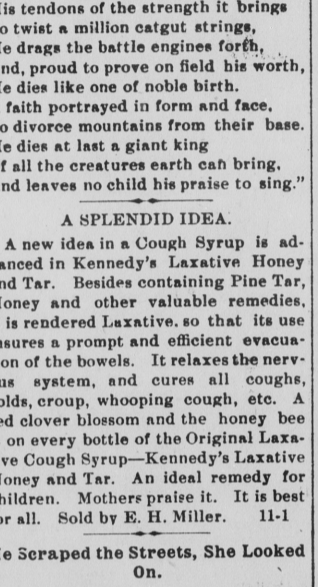

These newspapers are now trying to make it appear that Mayor Weaver is to be congratulated and thanked by the citizens who fought for the abolition of grade crossings, whereas he should be denounced for his hostility to the ordinance which was passed by councils and which he vetoed.

The Republicans in councils, refusing to bow to the mayor, and recognizing popular sentiment, passed the bill over his veto. When it became a law despite him, the mayor came out in a flamboyant statement in favor of grade crossings and asking the citizens to vote for the loan to provide the money to abolish this evil. This was done in an attempt to take credit from the Republican party.

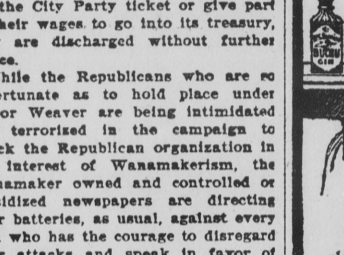

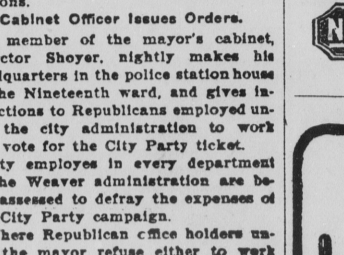

Any sane man would have remained quiet, but Mayor Weaver, relying upon the Wanamaker newspapers to give him the best of it and distort the facts to serve his purposes, turned somersault and completely changed front.

The Wanamaker newspapers have since been trying to make it appear that Weaver is entitled to praise from the citizens of Richmond, Kensington and the Twentieth ward, who demanded the abolition of grade crossings.

FREE TRAINING OF NURSES.

Young Women of Small Towns and Country Districts to be Favored.

By the terms of a fund to be administered in connection with the Philadelphia School for Nurses, Witherston Building, Philadelphia, a number of young women from every county will receive free training in nursing. It is planned to ultimately reach and help in this way every village and township.

The young women will be provided with room, board, nurse uniforms and all the refinements of a well-appointed Christian home. At graduation the diploma of the school and the Order of the Red Cross will be conferred, qualifying for practice in any state or country; the railroad fare will then be paid back home.

Those applying and chosen to receive the benefits of this fund will be given two years' training, with a rich experience in nursing the sick poor of the city under skilled leaders. The term may be shortened to eighteen months by taking a preliminary course of six months' reading and study at home. A special short course enables young women to quickly qualify themselves for self support and a substantial income.

In addition to regular nursing, the young women are taught how to preserve their own health; how to recognize, avoid and destroy contagion; how to establish and maintain perfect sanitary conditions about the home; they are prepared for positions as office nurse and physician's assistant; they get a practical knowledge of City Mission movements, Deaconess training, College settlement work, and are trained for special positions of trust in institutions.

The school is ten years old and is endorsed by physicians, leading educators and prominent men throughout the country.
