MUST LOOK AHEAD

Pennsylvanians Have Vital Interest In the Future of Republicanism.

AN ISSUE IN THE PRESENT FIGHT

President Roosevelt Can Only Carry Out His Great Policies With a United Party.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Oct. 14.

A communication has been addressed by State Chairman Wesley R. Andrews to all the Republican committeemen in the state outside of this city urging them to take every party voter to the polls on election day, as the result "will greatly affect the campaign of 1906, when a governor, members of the legislature and congressmen are to be chosen." He adds: "On the verdict to be rendered on November 7 next depends very largely whether the representation of Pennsylvania in the halls of congress at Washington shall be maintained or reduced.

"If the latter should be the case, the failure to maintain her present representation might eventuate in the election of a Democratic speaker in the house of representatives, and, thereby, not only greatly embarrass the administration, but lead to a widespread lack of confidence in the business and monetary worlds, to be followed by the suspension of industrial enterprises, throwing out of employment thousands and tens of thousands of workmen, and, in consequence thereof, the cheapening of farm products and, possibly, the return of the 'soupouse era,' which marked the last Democratic national administration."

Effect of Party Defection.

Party defection in so-called "off years," said Mr. Andrews, "invariably affects party success in subsequent elections, when the governor, members of the legislature and congressmen are to be elected."
"In the fifty-eighth congress, elected in 1902, the Republicans had only 20 majority in the house of representatives at Washington. The Roosevelt tidal wave last year increased the Republican majority to 116. Next year the Republicans will not have President Roosevelt as their standard bearer, and there is a danger that the Republican representation in congress may be reduced. It will not do for Pennsylvania to contribute to that reduction. Yet, if the Republican voters should fail to respond in November, as they have in years past, at least three congressional districts in Pennsylvania, if not more, now represented by Republicans, would next year send Democrats to Washington to sit in the sixtieth congress, which will legislate for the last two years of President Roosevelt's term.

Should Take No Chances.

"It is only the unpractical party man, who refuses to learn by experience, who says that you can throw off your Republicanism in off years and put it on when a governor or a president is to be elected. In 1882 many Republicans were led from their party by that cry, and the result was the election of a Democrat for governor, followed two years later by the election of a Democratic president. In 1890 Republicans again elected a Democratic governor and a Democratic president was inaugurated two years later. These two elections should teach Republicans that they cannot fault their party allegiance in the state without contributing to Democratic success in the nation.
"Still, I do not anticipate any trouble in Pennsylvania at the coming election. Reports from the country districts indicate that there is no defection in the Republican ranks. I have all along said that Mr. Plummer will have 100,000 majority. I shall increase that estimate and say that it will be much nearer 200,000."

Republicans Will Win.

The Wanamaker newspapers are making a desperate fight to elect the City Party ticket, but they cannot win. There is an immense amount of money being put in the campaign against the local Republican candidates.
Former Judge Gordon, who has for years been an ardent Democrat, is working with the Wanamaker interests against the Republican party. He has with him Chairman Donnelly, of the Democratic city committee, who has organized a gang of Democratic workers to vote and work for the City Party ticket.
What arrangements have been made with Donnelly to swing Democratic votes to the Wanamaker combine are not known, but the fact remains that many Democrats have refused to follow Donnelly into the Wanamaker camp and will vote the full Republican ticket.
Wanamaker, Gordon and Van Valkenburg, the trio of active spirits in the City Party, actually dominate the anti-Republican forces in this city.
They have full sway in the direction of the employees of the Weaver administration and they are giving orders right and left to the police, firemen and other subordinates under the city administration.
Mayor Weaver is not a dominating factor. He takes his political instructions from Judge Gordon, a Democrat, and as he knows little about what is going on, Gordon is admittedly the real boss.

THE SAME OLD TACTICS

Unsuccessful Efforts to Discredit Republican State Leaders.

PENROSE QUICKLY NAILS A LIE

Unwarranted Use of His Name in Connection With the Bank Failure in Allegheny.

[Special Correspondence.]

Pittsburg, Oct. 24.

In the closing days of what has been a more or less exciting political campaign the Democratic managers are making a desperate effort to turn the tide in favor of William H. Berry, the Prohibition-Democratic-Lincolnite candidate for state treasurer.
Everything has been going against Berry since the day he was nominated, and his defeat by an overwhelming majority is inevitable. They know this, but they still hope to cut down the Republican vote by continuing their schemes of misrepresentation and deliberate falsehood.
The failure of the Enterprise Bank was at once seized upon as furnishing a new field for activity in their peculiar and unenviable methods of campaigning. They have been striving to have it appear that some of the Republican state leaders are, in some inexcusable way, responsible for the closing of the bank, but they have not been able to produce a scintilla of evidence to substantiate their vague intimations.

A Young Man's Statements.

Homer Castle, one of the Prohibition nominees for the Superior court, who has been going up and down the state making wild and irresponsible allegations regarding the management of the state finances, has been one of the most conspicuous of those who have been trying to use the failure of the Enterprise Bank to advance political interests.
Up to the time of his nomination, Castle was not known outside of the small circle of acquaintances near his home, and among them he had little standing as a lawyer, as it has not been long since he was an office boy in a law firm here. Nevertheless he has assumed to speak of matters of personal knowledge, as though he were fully and authoritatively informed as to facts and circumstances.
The despicable attempt to connect Senator Penrose with the affairs of this bank was met with a prompt and emphatic denial from the senior senator, as well as with a public statement from John R. Cunningham, the United States bank examiner.

Penrose's Prompt Denial.

This is Senator Penrose's signed statement which effectually nailed the lie, circulated for political purposes, that he had a note in the Enterprise Bank:
"I have no obligations of any kind in the Enterprise National Bank. I am not connected in any way, directly or indirectly, with the notes of W. H. Andrews, if there are any such in the Enterprise National Bank. I have no interest whatever in the Pennsylvania Development Company or with any other project in New Mexico. Any intimations to the contrary are malicious falsehoods for political effect.
(Signed) "BOIES PENROSE."
Following this statement from Senator Penrose, Bank Examiner Cunningham made public this announcement:
"An examination of the papers in the bank shows that there is no paper there with the name of Senator Penrose upon it, either as maker, indorser or guarantor."
Despite these positive statements showing that Senator Penrose's name was used in this connection without authority or justification of any kind, the Democrats have continued to distort the facts in trying to win votes for their candidate for state treasurer.
But there is no reason to believe that they will be successful in that direction.
Berry Not Taken Seriously.
There is no Berry sentiment in this part of the state, and from what is heard from other sections the same condition of affairs exists everywhere throughout the commonwealth.
The Berry candidacy has been more or less of a joke. It has not been taken seriously even by many Democrats who, when they heard that their party had put up a Prohibitionist to head their state ticket, at once reached the conclusion that the Democratic ticket was doomed to defeat by even more than the usual majority.
J. Lee Plummer, the Republican nominee for state treasurer, will get an unprecedented majority for an off-year in Allegheny county. His name is on both the Republican and the Citizens tickets. He will also run well in every county west of the Alleghenies.
The Republican leaders here look for Plummer's total majority in the state to reach nearly 200,000.

GET TO WORK.

If the skies look dull to you,
Get to work;
If the atmosphere is blue,
Get to work.
Fostering your discontent
Will not pay the landlord's rent,
Will not gain for you a cent—
Get to work.
Brooding doesn't help your cause,
Get to work;
Nothing gained by picking flaws,
Get to work.
Weak are trampled by the strong?
You a victim of man's wrong?

Not a Bee Hive.

They were newly married and on a honeymoon trip. They put up at a skyscraper hotel. The bridegroom felt indisposed, and the bride said she would slip out and do a little shopping. In due time she returned and tripped blithely up to her room, a little awed by the number of doors that looked all alike. But she was sure of her own, and tapped gently on the panel.
"I'm back, honey, let me in," she whispered.
No answer.
"Honey, honey, let me in!" she called again, rapping louder. Still no answer.
"Honey, honey, it's Mabel. Let me in!"
There was silence for several seconds; then a man's voice, cold and full of dignity, came from the other side of the door:
"Madam, this is not a bee hive; it's a bath room.—Ex.
