Little brown legs and dimpled feet,
Little brown dimpled arms and hands,
Child of the sands,
What hath the summer so sweet, so sweet!

-Edit Colby Banfield, in "The Place of My Desire." was a good deal-he put in talking to ing her life on governessing. She ought to get married to some good, honest sea captain (I expect he was thinking of himself), that would know how to value her and make life happy for her. I've half made up my mind to ask her myself.'

"'I wouldn't be hasty if I were you, sir,' I said; 'you just be a bit cautious, and let the good, honest sea captain

"He didn't catch what I was driving He just tugged at his beard.
'You think I'm too cautious?' he said. "'It's a thing I've often noticed about you,' I answered.

"'From your point of view, I daresay you're right,' he replied; 'but young men are rash. It's only natural, There's the whole voyage before us, and I want to see what she's like in a temper, George. That's a tip I'm giving you free, gratis, and for noth

So all the way down the Red Sea

he firted with that girl, and, to do her justice, she wasn't backward. The afternoon we reached Perim Island I was on the bridge with the two of

We slowed down, and ran up

'What are we waiting for, cap tain?' said Miss Price.
"'A new second engineer,' said Hos

'We watched a small boat come ou from the harbor and put off toward us. As it got nearer we could make out the figure of the new engineer. Miss Price suddenly recollected that she'd forgotten her handkerchief, and she would have to go below for it. She left Hoskins and me on the bridge waiting for the new arrival. "He was an undersized, hatchet-faced man, dressed in a dirty suit of white drill. He came up the gang-way and touched his hat to the old

Wilson never said another word

The next time I saw him he had "The next time I saw him he had just come off his watch. I never saw such a sight on a steamer in all my days. He wore a dirty blue shirt, open at the neck to show his chest, and a pair of blue trousers turned up above his kness. He had bare legs conding in a pair of dirty gray socks nding in a pair of dirty gray socks

"I went forward to Hoskins.

"'We've got a rum sort of ash-car of board, sir,' I said. Tree seen some funny sights in my time, but never one to touch him,' and I gave him a country description.

"His mouth opened and then it shut

"'I guess I'll go and talk to hin like a parent,' he said. 'That sort o hing can't be allowed-with a lady or

When he got to Wilson's cabin h leck chewing away at his oiled rag.

teck chewing away at his olich rag Hoskins very nearly bust. "'Mr. Wilson,' he said sharply 'what sort of rig-out do you call this for an officer of a ship?' "Wilson looked down at himself and hen up again. Then he took the rag

"'What's up with it?' he said.
"'What's up with it?' yells Hoskins.
Oh, nothing—nothing. It's all right in its right place—in the middle of a turut of his mouth.

ip field on a pole.

sharply

but turned and went off to his quar

man.
"'Come on board, sir,' he said.

have a chance.

at.

THE SECOND ENGINEER

HE morning was fine, and the sun sparkled on the sea in a thousand dancing points of light. A soft wind blew the clouds above our heads across the hills of Crete, which lay to the north on our port beam. I stood on the starboard side of the bridge, and the third officer came and joined me there.

"If all days were like this, doctor," he said, "the sea'd be a life worth wasn't a spot of vegetation to be seen;"

wasn't a spot of vegetation to be seen; only purple hills and patches of violet rock and long yellow stretches of naked sand. Hoskins was on the bridge, and I needn't tell you that Miss Price was he said, "the sea'd be a life worth living. One could forget the storms and the food and the flies and the cockroaches and the doctors we get on board, and one could enjoy life. It was just such a morning as this, and just about here, too, that old Hoskins came up to me on the Lively Mary some ten years ago. We were taking her out from England for the first time, and its way a good salv years hefters we was a good deal-he put in talking to was a good deal-he put in talking to and it was a good six years before we her.

"'George,' he said to me that night, after Miss Price had turned in, 'it's a sin and a shame to see that girl wasting her life on governessing. She saw the old country again.

"'I had a letter from the owners at Gib, George,' he said. 'We're to take a passenger at Port Said.'

"'A passenger, sir?"
"'Yes; a young woman, George. It seems she's going out to Singapore as a governess. She's a bit short of funds, George, but her people have some in fluence with our crowd. So I've got fluence with our crowd. So I've got instructions to take her from the P. and O. boat at Port Said, and she saves her passage money for the rest of the way. See?"
"I see, sir,' I says. 'I'm a bit sorry for the girl, though. She'll not take kindly to this ship after the P. and O. ""That's all you know, George,' says the old man. 'I'm going to make this the old man. I'm going to make this ship a home for that poor girl. I'm going to be a father to her.'

"'Well, sir,' I answered, 'it ought to come easy enough. You've had some practice since I've known you. Quite a nice little family you've had.'
"He grinned a mount and then he a nice little family you've had."

"He grinned a moment, and then he went on. 'Don't you make no mistake, George; I'm going to protect this young girl. I look upon it as a sacred duty. That's why I'm speaking to you about it now. I know the sort of man you are and how little you're to be trusted when there's a girl about; so I want you to understand that this one is under my protection.'

"Just then the cook came forward to report that the second engineer was ill, and had to go to his bunk. We didn't carry a doctor on the Lively Mary, and Hoskins went off to see what he could do. By and by he sent for me to his cabin, and I found him scratching his head over his medicine chest.

"'The poor chap's pretty bad,' he said; 'but I'm hanged if I can tell what's the matter with him. Here's cough mixture, but he's got no cough. Here's stomach mixture, but he's got no stomach-for food or anything else. This rink stuff looks nice, but the label's come off, and I can't tell what it's meant for. Here's salts. They can't do any harm at any rate. I fancy if I can mix up some salts "'Come on board, sir,' he said.
"'Glad to see you, Mr. Wilson,' said the skipper. 'The sooner you're ready to take your trick of duty, the better the chief will be pleased.'
"Wilson yours old seather word." with a drop of I randy and some "Ken nedy's Painkiller" that ought to fix

"It did. "Of course I can't be sure that it was that that did it, but the poor chap died next day. He was nobody's enemy but his own, and we all missed him. He went over the side under the Union Jack, like many another good man has gone before him; and it's a comfort to think that, wherever he went he was likely to find it cooler than we did at Poet Soid when than we did at Port Said when we go

'At Port Said Hoskins went ashore -first, to telegraph to the owners; secondly, to go on board the P. and O. boat and find the girl who was coming along with us. After about an hour he came back, bringing her with him and showed her into the spare cabin he'd had prepared for her.

"Her name was Mary Price. She was a pretty girl, with a nice figure and black hair that curled about her temples and around her ears. She looked a bit sick when she saw the ship; but when she heard that she was to be the only passenger she bright-ened up wonderfully. I guess she was a girl who liked a bit of attention, and now she knew she was going to get

"I went into the old man's cabin for some orders, and I found him very busy taking down a lot of photographs from the walls and putting them away in a drawer.

"'Clearing the decks for action
George,' he says. "The only girls lever loved."

What about the engineer, sir?'

asked.

"'Oh, that's all right,' he said. 'I've wired the owners and we'll hear something at Suez.'
"We went through the canal, and at

"We went through the canal, and at Suez the old man got his wire. We were instructed to call at Perim Island to pick up a man there to take the place of the one we'd lost. The man's name was Wilson, and he'd only recently been engaged by the firm, and had been at Perim carrying out some repairs to one of the boats that had got piled up there.

"'It's a bit rough on the chief engineer, sir,' I said, 'He'll have to take nip field on a pole."

"If you find that I don't do my duty on this ship, sir,' says Wilson, 'you can tell me about it. For the rest, I was specially told that there were no regulations as to uniform. So I'll trouble you not to make rude remarks about my wardrobe."
"'His—his—what?' yells old Hoskins to me. "His—oh my preclaus eyes! trs a bit rough on the chief engineer, sir,' I said, 'He'll have to take the ship through the Red Sea shorthanded. I don't envy him.'
"'Nether do I, George,' he said, 'I thank my stare that I'm on the bridge 'He stopped suddenly, as Mary Price came round the engine room skylight. She was pretty and fresh in her white dress, but I don't think she expected to see either Capt. Hoskins expected to see either Capt. Hoskins or the engineer. For a moment the three of them looked at each other, and then Wilson spoke.

"'Why, Mary' he said.

'She colored, but didn't look particurly pleased.

"'Mr. Wilson-Tom,' she said.

"'Funny, your coming out on this nip,' he said. 'And you being on it, too,' she an-vered. tere, aren't you going to give me a

'She colored more deeply. I rather ancy she was a bit ashamed of ancy she was a bit assumed of his appearance. As for him, he didn't seem to consider it. He didn't seem to know that there was anything out of the way about it.

"'I don't think I ought to," she said, shyly, with a glance at Hoskins, 'be-snyly, with a glained at Hoskins, be-fore the captain, I mean.'

"'Quite right,' said Hoskins firmly,
'I don't allow my officers to kiss girls in my presence. Some of 'em wouldn't knew where to stop.'

knew where to stop."
"'I'm off duty,' said Wilson, 'and this is the girl I'm engaged to. I haven't seen her for a month, and now I'm going to have a kiss. If you don't like it, captain, you'd better turn your ack. I don't want to hurt your feel-

'You infernal ash-cart!' yelled Hossins. 'Go to your quarters at once.
And, Miss Price, I must request you o go to the cabin.'
"'Now then, Mary,' said the engineer; 'I'm waiting.'

"She hesitated a minute, and then made a little sort of pecking kiss at a lim." Then she ran forward and Wilson, as if satisfied, turned and went nto his cabin.

into his cabin.

"'George,' said Hoskins to me, there's something wrong here. 'Taint in nature for a girl like that to marry a man that looks as though he was a rag-bag struck by lightning. Mark my words, George, that poor girl's being forced into this engagement by her cruel parents. But I won't stand by and see her sacrificed.'

"After that he took extra care of here. She spent more time than ever

"After that he took extra care of her. She spent more time than ever on the bridge, and when she wasn't up there he w.s down on the lower deck with her. It was exactly as he suspected—at least, she told him so. The engagement had been of her parents' making, and she had come to sea, not to escape—she really was very fond of Mr. Wilson—but to find out whether her feelings would stand the est of time and absence.

"'From the beloved object, George,' aid the old man, with a grin. 'What lo you think?'

"'Well, sir,' I said, 'if I'd seen any

"Well, sir,' I said, 'if I'd seen anything like that chap Wilson once, it'd take me a long time to forget it."
"All the time these two were flirting that engineer never said a word. He went down to the engine room and he came up to his cabin, and he scarcely ever showed up on deck. When he did he never seemed to care the toss of a button where the girl was. To my mind he showed his sense, If he'd given any sign of jealousy that girl mind he showed his sense. In het given any sign of jealousy that girl would have gone on a lot worse than she did. As it was, she began to be uneasy—to feel that he didn't care; and now and again, I'd find her communication to grant a word. ng around his quarters to get a word with him; but he hardly ever spoke

"Not until we reached Singapore did he have it out with her. She and Hos-kins were on the bridge, and the old man was pointing out the beauties of the harbor, when Wilson came up the ompanion and touched his hat. For ace in his life he had a clean, white drill suit on. "What do you want?" said the old

"'Shore leave, sir,' said the engineer; 'I want to go on shore to get

"Mary gave a start, and I saw her face flush. Hoskins was puzzled. He got the idea from the chap's manner hat there was some one else on shore on the voyage.

"'It'd be hard to keep you from that,' he said; 'you may go.'
"Wilson touched his cap again.
'Now then, Mary,' he said, 'come ending in a pair of dirty gray socks that fell down slackly over an old pair of tennis shoes, in his mouth he held a piece of cotton waste he'd been cleaning the engines with, and he seemed to be sucking at the oil with which it was soaked. He hadn't shaved, and his face was like a cheap brush.

"I won't," said the girl, indignantly.

'Very well,' said Wilson, but just listen to me for a minute, my girl.
I'm here now, and I'm willing to take you before the consul. If you don't like it, then I shall consider myself like it, then I shall consider myself free again. If you think I haven't noticed your behavior on this ship, you're mistaken, A girl like you want's looking after, and when I'm your hushand I'm going to do it. As for the captain there, if you think he has any idea of marrying you you're wrong. He's not a marrying man. I shall be ready to go on shore in a quarter of an hour. If you're ready to go with hour. If you're ready to go with e then, well and good. If not—' "He nodded significantly and left he bridge. "Mary Price had taken a look at Hoskins while the other was speak-ng, and that told her all she wanted to know about the sincerity of the old hat engineer was going down the rangway, she slipped her arm into his and went with him "Hoskins looked after them rather "Wonderful, George, wonderful!" he said to me. 'If I could be as firm with women as that chap is, I'd have had a lot less trouble with them. He's taught me a lesson, George: He shall have a wedding present.'

-J. Sackville Martin, in the Sketch.

Matters WAR.

The Broken Dishes. 'A French housewife does not throw away her broken dishes, unless their condition is hopeless. She saves them until a mender of faience and porcelain comes to her door for work and he repairs them.

Tip to the Housewife.

Chloride of lime and water will remove ink stains from silver if well rubbed on the stains and then washed off at once, the sliver being then polished as ordinarily. The solution for the purpose is four ounces of chloride of lime to one and a half pints of water. This may be bottled and kept ready for use.—Indianapolis News.

For Wicker Furniture

For Wicker Furniture.

Wicker furniture which has been varnished will not take enamel until the varnish has been washed off with boiling water in which there is a little washing soda. After it dries rub it thoroughly with a piece of flannel dipped in turpentine, and after this has been aired for twenty-four hours rub with sandpaper, after which the wicker may be either painted or dyed satisfactorily. satisfactorily.

Cucumber Milk.

Best thing in all the wide world for a complexion that is yellow or speckled with freckles or dulled with tan. Also with freckles or dulled with tan. Also very nice to use as a cleansing agent. Slice, but do not peel, three good-sized cucumbers; add half a cup of water and boil until pulp is soft; strain and cool. To one and one-half ounces of the cucumber juice add an equal amount of alcohol. This makes three ounces of cucumber essence. In this dissolve one-fourth of an ounce of powdered castile soap. Let stand over night, next morning adding eight ounces of cucumber juice, one-half ounce of oil of sweet almonds and fifteen ounces of tincture of benzoin. Pour in the oil very slowly, shaking Pour in the oil very slowly, shaking the bottle well. Keep in cool place.

Eat Plenty of Almonds.

According to a colebrated health expert, blanched almonds give the higher nerve or brain and muscle food, and whoever wishes to keep her brain power up would do well to include them in her daily bill of fare. Juley fruits in her daily bill of fare. Juley fruits give the same in less proportion and are eaten by all those whose living depends on their clear headedness. Apples supply the brain with rest. Prunes afford proof against nervousness, but are not muscle feeding. They should be avoided by those who suffer from the liver. But it has been proved that fruits do not have the same effect upon everybody. Some people have nevon everybody. Some people have never been able to eat apples without suffering the agonies of indigestion others strawberries are like polse. Indianapolis News.

Preserved Peaches—Peel and slice a gound of peaches, sprinkle with the same weight of sugar and leave twelve hours. Simmer in the syrup till the fruit is clear, and put in jars while hot. Betty's Jumbles-The following recipe is quite famous in a Pennsylvania town where an old negro cook makes what are known and delighted in as "Betty's Jumbles." They are made

"Betty's Jumbles." They are made with one pound each of butter and sugar, two pounds of flour, three eggs, nine teaspoonfuls of orange juice, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, salt to taste. Handle lightly, roll rather thin, and sprinkle with granulated sugar be fore baking in a quick oven. They will keep—if locked up—for severa months.—Harper's Bazar.

Cornmeal Batter Cakes—One and three-quarter cups of cornmeal, a scant half cup of flour, two eggs, one and one-half pints of sour milk, two tea spoonfuls of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of soda.

The meal must be the coarse cornmeal, not the bolted variety. The milk should be thoroughly soured. Soak the meal over night in the milk. In the morning beat the eggs well into it, mix the flour, sugar, soda and salt, and sift into the first mixture. Beat thoroughly, lot, it translated for minutes and oughly, let it stand a few minutes and bake in small cakes on a hot griddle Cucumber Catsup—Before the frosts have killed the vines and robbed you have killed the vines and robbed you of the last of your cucumbers, make some of them into catsup. This relish is really very good, and makes a welcome change from the familiar tomato catsup. Take three dozen cucumbers, peel them and chop fine. Take also four onions (good size) and chop them fine. Add three-quarters of a cup of salt. Mix cucumbers, onions and salt very thoroughly to onions and salt very thoroughly to gether. Put the mixture in a clea as while the other was speakd that told her all she wanted we about the sincerity of the old matrimonial intentions. So r of an hour afterwards, as engineer was going down the ay, she slipped her arm into his of celery seed and two tablespoonful of whole peppers. Mix well and pacl in glass jars, filling the jars only hal full. Boil enough vinegar to fill the jars. Let the vinegar cool and ther pour it into the jars. With a silver fork stir the cucumber as you pour in the vinegar, to make sure that th whole mass is saturated with the vinegar. Screw the tops on your jars and put them away in a dark place.—Harper's Bazar.

KEYSTONE STATE GULLINGS

BIG COAL DEAL CLOSED

Large Tract in West Virginia Bough by Pennsylvanians for $2,-500,000.

One of the biggest ccal sales made by Uniontown capitalists has been closed. About 25,000 acres of coal in Monongalia and Marion counties, West Virginia, passes to a syndicate of capitalists who pay about $2,500,000 for holdings which cost the sellers about one-tenth that amount. All the 25,000 acres, except about 3,500 acres, was controlled by Uniontown men. Colonel J. M. Guffey of Pittsburg had about 2,000 acres. The coal lies in what is known as the Batelle district.

what is known as the Batelle district.

Judge Edward M. Paxson, who died at Bycot, Bucks county, on October 12, left part of his fortune for the endowment of a college of agriculture. The college is to be opened to boys between 12 and 18 years of age and a regular course of study is to be arranged so that mental equipment as well as soil tilling experience will be given. Judge Paxson's estate amounts to more than $3,000,000. The affairs of the institution are to be controlled by a Board of Trustees. It is said this board will consist of Dr. L. Webster, of Philadelphia; former Judge Harmon Yerks, Dr. Wm. Erdman and C. Howard Atkinson, of Bucks county.

One million and a half dollars is the price paid for 1,300 acres of coal lands in the central part of the Connellsville coke region by Roy H. and Paul J. Rainey, of New York. They bought the property from Joseph V. Thompson, of Uniontown. The land is in Menallen township, adjacent to the holdings of the Brier Hill and Orient coke plants. Developments indicate that the Raineys, instead of selling out, expect to expand their operations in the Connellsville region and to become a permanent factor in the coke production of Fayette county. tte county.

After hearing the petition for a writ After hearing the petition for a writ of mandamus presented by the leaders of the Citizens party to compel the Westmoreland county commissioners to file their nomination papers, Judge Lucien W. Doty dismised the writ at the cost of the chairman of the Citizens party. The commissioners refused to file the nomination papers alleging that they were defective. The court sustained the commissioners.

Near the spot where Contractor Samuel T. Ferguson was killed at West Middletown two years ago, about 20 sticks of dynamite were recently found. Ferguson was blown to his death by a dynamite mine in the road. A short time ago two shotguns were found at the same place. The dynamite was found by workmen clearing the field of undergrowth.

A plan to rob the McKeesport Tir A plan to rob the McKeesport Tin Plate company of its pay roll of $22,000 was discovered at the plant in Port Vue borough. The thieves worked under the office of the company, directly under the vault. The boards of the flooring were sawed through, but the thieves then encountered cement a foot thick and evidently gave up the task as hopeless.

Disguised as nuns and claiming to e members of a religious order con-ected with the Catholic church, two nected with the Catholic church, two women have succeeded in collecting about $500 from residents of Honstead. The Rev. Father Francis Walam Jordan of St. Francis Catholichurch, Homestead, learned the twomen had canvassed the borough their black habits and found many victims.

While Thomas Foster, of Oil Creek township, and John Lambert, of Pittsburg, were hunting near Titusville, both men fired at a grouse which arose directly between them Lambert was shot in the right eye, destroying the sight, while Foster escaped with a few birdshot in his hand.

Rocks thrown by a blast on the line of the Pennsylvania railroad near Creswell crashed through the roof of a shanty in which a number of laborers were sleeping, killing one man and crushing the head of a child lying beside its mother. Severa others were injured, one fatally. The victims are all Slavs. victims are all Slavs.

Eugene Roach, 15 years old, was electrocuted at Franklin. He had climed an electric light pole to show his brother how the sparks flew when his knife came in contact with the wire, which carried 11,000 volts When Roach fell, the back of his neck struck the wire and his head was almost severed.

A $5,000 verdict was entered for A $5,000 vertice was entered for the defendants in the case of George W. Campbell and others against the Mountain Water company in the Fay ette county court. The dispute aross over property taken by the water company.

While hanging clothes in her yard at Mahoningtown, Mrs. David Evans at Mahoningtown, Mrs. David Evans was seriously wounded by a shot gun fired by an Italian shooting at a target. The foreigner was arrested. Ray Champ was killed by a train on the Chartiers valley branch of the Pennsylvania Lines West, at Houston station. Champ was 17 years old and was employed as the mail carrier between the railroad station and the postoffice. tween the railroad station and the postoffice. Leonard Magnotta, injured in an explosion of natural gas at South Sharon, died from his burns. He leaves a wife and one son, who were also seriously burned.

Howard Graham, 28 years old, accidentally fell down the stairway in his boarding house at Erie and broke his neck, dying instantly.

Woman Maker of Violins.

Woman Maker of Violins.

To play the violin is the accomplishment of hundreds of young women, but few have constructed the beloved instrument from which such wonderful melody can be obtained. Miss Grace Barstow, of San Jose, Cal., has the unique distinction of being the only woman violin maker in America, if not in the world, and, moreover, she is a noted performer on the instruments of her own making. Possessing a fitting environment and intelligent sympathy, when her desire to make a viclin became known, Miss Barstrow's family gave her every encouragement, and sent to Germany for the necessary woods. Altogether, six violins have been completed by her, each one a noted improvement on preceding effort, until the last instrument is said by experts to possess a delightfully rich and brilliant tone. Miss Barstow has shown considerable inventive genius in constructing her violins, successfully experimenting with the native redwood as a base bar, and will use more of that wood in her next violin.—Philadelphia Press.

Hall vine ing He our God It the reas W can if w and then find at le adec unde Or way

No
Th
Univ
As we the and of to e Life

the than exis wha

an is You or at lear. But agree it a won path real that is pout state state thou belie

more in E need not of G

ance us as

. 4

7 7

Training in Obedience.

A fault of many of our young men and growing boys is their disregard for authority, whether parental or civil, and, accompanying this, a seeming lack of respect toward their elders. Anything that will tend to remedy these observatoristics without less. ers. Anything that will tend to remedy these characteristics without lessening a proper independence and individuality is a wholesome and useful influence. The essential of all things military is prompt and unquestioning obedience, and when this obedience is required of students it cannot fall to inspire in them a certain degree of respect for authority and regard for discipline: results beneficial both to the individual and to the state. Such results are, in part, the object of the military training.—St. Nicholas.

ETATE OF ORIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, S. LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY make cath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the city of Toledo, County and State accessed, and that said firm will pay the sau of County and State accessed, and that said firm will pay the sau of County and State accessed, and that said firm will pay the sau of CARARIE CHENEY.

SWOTH O DESCRIPTION OF THE STATE OF THE STATE

SEAL. Per, A.D., 1999. A.W. GLEASON, Hall's Catarrh Cureista' Contary Public, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimodials, tree. F.J. Chenner & Co., Toledo, O. Soldby all Drugsists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

An Australian Mystery.

With the death of Sir Augustus Gregory the last of the great Australian explorers has passed away. His demise recalls the most remarkable mystery in the annals of the commonwealth. Flifty-seven years have passed since an exploring expedition commanded by a German scientist, Ludwig Leichardt, set out from Sydney to cross, Australia from east to west. To this day no body knows what happened to that exploring party. Not a scrap of paper, not a solitary relic of its fate has ever been discovered. It must have been either overwhelmed in some natural convulsion or absolutely annihilated by the blacks. Sir Augustus Gregory ied two expeditions in search of it, one of them organized by the Royal Geographical Society.—Chicago Journal. An Australian Mystery.

A Queer Barometer.
The inhabitants of Southern Chile re said to fortell the weather by are said to fortell the weather by means of a strange barometer. It consists of the cast-off shell of a crab. The dead shell is white in fair, dry weather; but, indicating the approach of a moist atmosphere by the appearance of small red spots; as the moisture in the air increases it becomes entirely red and remains so throughout the rainy season.

Prices are High.

Prices up in Nome correspond with the latitude. The Semi-Weekly News sells for 25 cents a copy or $1 a month. It appears from advertise-ments that milk brings 25 cents a quart and eggs $1 a dozen.

OLD FASHIONED FARE Hot Biscuits, Griddle Cakes, Pies and Puddings.

The food that made the fathers strong is sometimes unfit for the chil-dren under the new conditions that our changing civilization is constantly bringing in. One of Mr. Bryan's neighwrites writes:

"I was raised in the South, where hot biscuits, griddle cakes, pies and puddings are eaten at almost every meal, and by the time I located in Nebraska I found myself a sufferer from indigestion and its attendant ills—distress and pains after meals, an almost constant headache, dull, heavy sleepiness by day, and sleepless by day, and sleepless the state of the ness by day and sleeplessness at night loss of flesh, impaired memory, etc., etc.

"I was rapidly becoming incapacitated for business when a valued friend suggested a change in my diet, the abandonment of heavy, rich stuff and the use of Grape-Nuts food. I followed the receivable of the second lowed the good advice and shall always be thankful that I did so. "Whatever may be the experience of others, the beneficial effects of the change were apparent in my case almost immediately. My stomach, which had rejected other food for so long, took to Grape-Nuts most kindly; in a day or two my headache was gone, I began to sleep healthfully and before a week was out the scales showed that my lost weight was coming back. My memory was restored with the renewed vigor that I felt in body and mind. For three years now Grape-Nuts food has kept me in prime condition, and I propose it shall for the rest of my days.

"And, by the way, my 2½ year old baby is as fond of Grape-Nuts as I am, always insists on having it. It keeps her as healthy and hearty as they make them." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason. Read the little book "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

Just and, empt glood the in his sooth tenti-dark cry c asha of t the mids its F the cool of a cherifutile make to its frien the God! to be promound moments.

mear God. My youn was I sto