Good roads are indicative of a Nation's greatness, promoting a desire for change and intercourse between communities, contributing fresh air and exercise which are so essential to health.

THE Somerset county Orphans are still without pay. They wanted the county to be a mother to them, but the old lady had a number of legitimate children of her own to raise.—Connellsville Courier.

Good roads are an evidence of civilization and should be furnished at the public expense. They stimulate cycling, automobilism, driving and riding, all of which in exercising the body divert the mind, rejoice the heart, and sweep the cobwebs from the brain.

THE roads are for everybody, and it should be one of the first cares of the community to put them in good order, and keep them so. It is cheaper in the long run to lay out a good deal on a road than to "potter" at the business as is the fashion in these country districts.

At the spring primary election the highest Orphan vote was 2341. Since John Calvin Lowry, attorney-at-law and ex-editor of the "Tax Payer" has acted chairman, the vote at the late election was reduced to 735. Another year of this "wise" politician's bossing the party, and it can crawl into a knot hole and pull the hole in after it.—Somerset Democrat.

CHAIRMAN-WILL-HE-NEVER-GET-AN-OFFICE J. CALVIN LOWRY assumed the chairmanship of the Orphans' party, and immediately proceeded to inaugurate an idiotic campaign, which closed in an act of undoubted imbecility, that of congratulating the members of his party on the defeat of the Corrupt Democratic ring. J. Calvin is a beautiful bird; one whose plumage and flocking propensities well entitle him to speak of corrupt rings. As long as the people of Somerset county persist in putting the triangular ring in the nasal appendage of said John Calvin, it is not likely that he will root in or turn up the paying sod of public office. The electors of Somerset county sometimes make mistakes, but they know a razor-back when they see him.—Somerset Democrat.

THE Somerset Herald pretends to feel greatly consoled over the defeat of Commissioner Joseph B. Miller, and the old family organ tries to show that Miller's defeat is entirely due to the fight the Herald and Commercial waged against him. However, the official vote of the county tells quite a different tale. The tabulated returns show that Mr. Miller received 1458 votes, or 109 more than the Democratic candidate for Superior Court Judge, 259 more than the Democratic candidate for Sheriff, 231 more than the Democratic candidate for Prothonotary, 284 more than the Democratic candidate for Recorder, 305 more than the Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Courts, 262 more than the Democratic candidate for Register of Wills, 304 more than the Democratic candidate for Treasurer, 147 more than the Democratic candidate for Auditor, 246 more than the Democratic candidate for Poor Director, 200 more than the Democratic candidate for County Surveyor, and 200 more than the Democratic candidate for Coroner. The only reason Miller ran so far ahead of the balance of the Democratic ticket is because the Herald and Commercial put up such a hard fight against him and pursued him all through the campaign with falsehood and misrepresentation. Had a few more yelping coyotes like the Herald and Commercial been at Miller's heels, he would undoubtedly have been elected.

BUT FEW ARE FREE. But few people are entirely free from indigestion at this season of the year. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is not only the best remedy to use because it digests what you eat, but because it also enables the digestive apparatus to assimilate and transform all foods into tissue-building blood. Kodol relieves sour stomach, heart burn, belching, and all forms of indigestion. Sold by E. H. Miller. 12-1

Sensation Promised. John Collins, of Oakland, Md., has been arrested on a charge of perjury and bigamy. Collins has a wife and seven children at Oakland. Last May, it is alleged, he married Fannie Seibert, of Jockey Hollow, Fayette county. Five weeks ago the mother of the second wife died. County Detective McBeth and Coroner Hagan will go to Somersetfield to exhume the remains of Mrs. Seibert for the inquest and post mortem examination.

POWER OF THE COUNTRY EDITOR.

It is not necessary, these days, to rebuke sneers often made at the country editor, because these days nobody does sneer at the country editor. That time has passed.

Yet it is not because the country editor has taken to office-holding that he is an influential figure in the nation. It is rather in spite of this fact. Therefore, the exultation of a member of the rural journalistic fraternity over the rise to power of many of his contemporaries is due to a misapprehension of cause and effect. The country editor is a power, not because he is in office, but because he is an editor.

It is true that the country editor nowadays aspires to more important posts than the local postmastership. It is true that in Kansas, Minnesota and Oklahoma he has attained to the gubernatorial chair, and that in other states he holds hardly less important office. But these honors are, after all, merely incidents of his chief glory which arises out of his journalistic vocation.

Anybody with strength enough to draw a salary can be an office holder, but it takes a pretty good all-round man to be a country editor. Such a man must combine business and literary ability with more political sagacity than falls to the lot of the average politician. He must be a diplomat, and a good one. Must be mixer, possess the judicial temperament, and, above all, he must have a reputation for honesty that is beyond suspicion. It is the possession of these qualities which make the editor of the patent-inside weekly a power in his community far out of the influence which is exercised by the metropolitan journalist.

The country editor is close to his constituents. They know him, and if they support and indorse him he is second to no man in the power that he wields in his neighborhood. If he falls in honesty or in fairness, he will not long remain a country editor, because his influence vanishes with his good reputation.

It is to the credit of the country editor that he is, to the number of several thousands, in full enjoyment of public confidence, and that he is, incidentally, earning a good living. He is not second to anyone in his power for good in this country, and that his power is rightly exercised is known of all men.—Chicago Chronicle.

EVERY OUNCE YOU EAT.

Every ounce of food you eat that fails to digest does a pound of harm. It turns the entire meal into poison. This not only deprives the blood of the necessary tissue-building material, but it poisons it. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is a perfect digestant. It digests the food regardless of the condition of the stomach. It allows that organ to rest and get strong again. Relieves Belching, Heart Burn, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Palpitation of the Heart, etc. Sold by E. H. Miller. 12-1
