Colonel Arthur L. Hamilton, of the 7th Ohio Volunteers, 259 Goodale street, Columbus, O., writes: "As a remedy for catarrh and stomach trouble, I can fully recommend Pepsin Tonic. Mrs. Hamilton, wife of the gallant Colonel, is an ardent friend of Pepsin Tonic also."

Now my head is entirely clear and my hair is growing splendidly. I have used Cuticura Soap ever since and shall never be without it. (Signed) A. C. Smith, 309 Grand St., Jersey City, N. J."

FRUITS GROW IN POPULARITY...

Good Signs of Wholesome Taste Markedly Evident in England.

An interesting and salutary phase of modern civilization is its growing regard for a fruit diet.

To what extent the teaching of vegetarian doctrines has influenced the popular taste, or the unhealthy conditions of present-day life have given rise to a spontaneous demand for the "kindly fruits of the earth" cannot, perhaps, be determined; but the fact remains that there never was so much fruit consumed in England, in the history, at any rate, of its markets, as there is to-day.

This popular demand has taken many interesting turns. One is the plea for cultivation of several of our wild berries; another is the extraordinary increase in the consumption of bananas, the imports of which have risen annually during the last three or four years by millions of bunches.

The Beauties of Our Land.
Nature's beauty in America is a marvellous and rarely wonderful spectacle. The great long rivers, the rushing sweep of which drain the heart of the continent, the Rocky Mountains lifting granite peaks, alien and remote, far up into the clouds; scarred cliffs and canons, deep wooded valleys that hint of savage withdrawal from human association. The mysterious and barbaric land of the mesas, and the great primeval forests that whisper and rustle, and gleam and bloom in light and darkness, and through every season of the year. The forest that is never seen twice in the same aspect and never tells the same story; is as silent as the grave, and yet is filled with constantly moving, hidden, unseen life; as changeable and mutable as human thought, and as mysterious as the impulses that sway human acts—Metropolitan Magazine.

Beautifying West Point.
The experts of the Forestry Bureau of the Government are carrying out the plans prepared by themselves in conjunction with Mr. Clmsted, the landscape architect, for the beautifying of the West Point military reservation. General Mills, the superintendent of the Academy, takes a keen interest in this project, which is to be carried out in conjunction with the new construction at the Military Academy. Already some fifteen acres of old growth of the land bordering on the Academy limits have been cleaned out and improved. A forest nursery has been established which will yield 40,000 white pine, 5000 red spruce, 4,000 eastern hemlock and about 2000 American elm—New York Tribune.

A Stupid Bull.
It happened in North Carolina. The scene was a freight train of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad. One of the cars contained a bull which was harnessed by a rope and the rope was attached to a flag bearing the animal's destination. At one of the stops the brakeman looked in the car to see if the bull was all right, and found that he had chewed up the rope tag and all.

"Cap'n, I dunno what we're goin' to do 'bout that bull down yonder in the car," said the brakeman to the conductor a few minutes later.

"Why, Beh, what's the matter with him?" replied the conductor.

"He's eaten up where he's gone."

Baltimore Sun.

His Reason.
A young man from the South, who had secured a position in a mercantile house in Philadelphia had, at the recommendation of a fellow employe, engaged board and lodging in a private family. The family were extremely devout. Before each meal a long grace was said. To their dismay and horror the new boarder sat bolt upright while the others at table reverently bowed their heads. When the second day passed and the man from the South evinced no disposition to unbend, the good lady of the house could endure the situation no longer.

"Alas!" asked she, sharply.

"No, madam," humbly responded the new boarder, "boil."—Harper's Weekly.

Benefits of Standing Up.
Women are supposed to grow more masculine as time changes and one man's change with the times, so it may not have attracted much notice how lately they have taken to stand talking, male fashion, in front of the fireplace after luncheon or dinner instead of sinking gracefully into the nearest comfortable chair.

This is, however, no attempt at manliness, but simply the following out of the latest medical fad, which advises us to stand for at least half an hour after each meal, to avoid the pains of indigestion. Food is better assimilated so, it seems, than if we adopt a semi-recumbent position.—London Onlooker.

Paste Jewels.
What man is a mathematician clever enough to solve the girl proposition?
A fool who can be flattered is ten times a fool.

As cold waters to a thirsty soul, so is new thought to a starving poet.

An ounce of ingenuity is worth a ton of energy.

Art is all well enough, but a start is everything.

Mock not the starving man with advice—before dinner.

There never was a man who didn't feel he was being held up and robbed—for his part of the preacher's salary.—New Orleans Picayune.

FINANCE AND TRADE REVIEW

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW
Activity is Still the Keynote in the Industrial and Commercial Situation.

A temporary flurry in the money market had little deleterious effect in commercial channels, most reports indicating a further increase in the volume of business. Orders coming forward are all for distant delivery and buyers experience much difficulty in making purchases for quick shipment.

Wholesale trade in holiday goods is now well under way and retail distribution of seasonable merchandise responds to the generally lower temperature. There is still some delay in mercantile collections, especially at the South, where cotton is not being marketed freely, and to a less degree in grain regions, because traffic facilities are not adequate, but the majority of reports indicate that payments are more prompt in spite of the higher money rates.

Manufacturing plants have scarcely a drawback, except scarcity in labor in a few instances, and small strikes do not interrupt structural work to some extent. None of these influences affect any considerable proportion of the capacity, and there are many new high records of production. This is the case at pig iron furnaces and coke ovens, while textile mills and shoe factories make almost as satisfactory exhibits.

Traffic conditions have improved and railway earnings for the first week of November were 4.9 per cent larger than in the corresponding time last year, while the official statement offering in commerce for the month of October showed a very large increase in the aggregate, and at New York for the last week exports gained $3,993,083 in comparison with 1904, while imports decreased $1,160,047. Increased imports of iron and steel, especially structural shapes, testified to the current of consumption, as domestic production is undoubtedly at the maximum. Hides continue firm, but that trading is restricted by the light offerings of packers, who are sold far ahead rather than any lack of demand. Further advances occurred in foreign dry hides. Leather is also somewhat less active.

Failures this week numbered 240 in the United States, against 217 last year, and 42 in Canada, compared with 27 a year ago.

Japanese Holidays.
There are only three national holidays in Japan. January 1 is one of them, and the birthday of the reigning Emperor, November 3, is another. But February 11 is the greatest of the three dates, for it is the anniversary of the coronation of the first Emperor, Jimmu.

The Sensible Child.
A flaxen-haired tot—a boy of three— attracted much attention by wandering alone along the main aisle of a department store the other day. Crowds flocked and pushed, but the little fellow trudged onward manfully, apparently with a definite object in view. A floor walker, seeing that the child was unaccompanied, stopped him. "Where are you going, son?" he asked. "I'm looking for mamma; she's lost," responded the youngster bravely. "She got lost when I was looking at the pretty things." At this moment there was a little shriek heard, and a half-hysterical woman ran forward to clutch the boy. "That's mamma; I've found her," said the lad, calmly, as he was led away. "That boy has more sense than his mother," the floor walker commented.—Philadelphia Record.

Seven Feet Ten Inches Tall.
Frederick the Great's father, Frederick William, the creator of the Prussian army—whose special mania was the collection of giants from all parts of the earth—would have given something like a king's ransom for "Long" Joseph, who has just joined the First Foot guards at Potsdam, at the age of 20, with a weight of about 18 stone and a stature of seven feet ten inches—an ugly man, decidedly, to meet in a bayonet melee. Frederick William had a whole regiment of such colossi, knows as the Riesengarde, among the tallest of them being one Kirkman, a Scotch-Irishman or Ulster Irishman, whose portrait may still be seen in the palace at Charlottenburg. One of Frederick's first viceroyal acts was to disband this preposterous brigade of giants, which had cost the Prussian State about as much as all the rest of its army.

HOSPITALS CROWDED

MAJORITY OF PATIENTS WOMEN
Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Saves Many From this Sad and Costly Experience.

It is a sad but true fact that every year brings an increase in the number of operations performed upon women in hospitals. More than three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow white beds are women and girls who are awaiting recovery from operations made necessary by neglect.

Every one of these patients had plenty of warning in that bearing down feeling, pain at the left or right of the womb, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, lumbago, diarrhoea, flatulency, displacements of the womb or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the ovaries or womb, and if not heeded the trouble will make headway until the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation, and a lifetime of impaired usefulness at best, while in many cases the results are fatal.

The following letter should bring hope to suffering women. Miss Luella Adams of the Colonnade Hotel, Seattle, Wash., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham—
"About two years ago I was a great sufferer from a severe female trouble, pains and headaches. The doctor prescribed for me and finally told me that I had a tumor on the womb and must undergo an operation if I wanted to get well. I felt that this was my death warrant, but I spent hundreds of dollars for medical help, but the tumor kept growing. Fortunately I corresponded with an aunt in the New England States, and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was said to cure tumors. I did so and immediately began to improve in health, and I was entirely cured, the tumor disappearing entirely without an operation. I wish every suffering woman would try this great preparation."

Just as surely as Miss Adams was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman in the land who suffers from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability and nervous prostration.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all young women who are ill to write her for free advice. Address, Lynn, Mass.
