benefit his health, which had suffered a breakdown two months ago.

About three weeks ago his condition became such that his physicians and family deemed it advisable to remove him to Lakewood. During all this time Mr. McCall worried constantly about his business affairs. He was compelled first to mortgage and then to sell his handsome country place at Long Branch, N. J., in order it was stared, to repay to the New York Life Insurance Company $255,000 on the Andrew Hamilton account. Mr. Hamilton, the legislative agent of the company, having made no accounting for this sum.

Miss Alice had no bridesmaids, for from her host of girl friends she could scarcely have selected any without hurting the feelings of the others. The bridegroom was attended by Thomas Nelson Perkins, of Boston, a member of the corporation of Harvard University. Nearly all of the ushers were Harvard men.

The list of those invited included certain official classes, aside from the relatives of the Roosevelt and Longworth families. It was announced officially that the list of guests included the members of the cabinet and their wives; former members of the cabinet and their wives; former members of the cabinet who are now in the United States Senate, and their wives; the heads of foreign ambassles and missions and their wives; the heads of foreign ambassles and missions and their wives; the heads of foreign ambassles and missions and their wives; the heads of foreign ambassles and motes and the has obtained the stock of the bank that he has obtained the stock of the amounts aggregating $146,000. The other three officers are G. F. Sorrow, vice president; Jerome V. Pierce, cashier, and F. E. Creelman, director. It is charged that they have dominated the directorate, have voted themselves each salaries as they desired, and have lent the money of the incorporation as they saw fit. Judge Smith is said to have borrowed money and placed it in the treasury to deceive the state auditor into believing that the stock had been paid up. Notice of the alleged insolvency is said to have come to the notice of Kavanagh and other stockholders two days ago.
