Cheaper Raw Materials and Open Markets a Necessity.

New England: has two of the factors of wealth—cheap water power and cheap labor. She needs cheap raw material and open markets. Without them she will see her shee factories one by one follow her cotton mills into the region of the raw materiall—West and South. If any man is qualified to testify and be heard respectfully upon this point that man is Governor William L Douglas. He has built up and successfully conducts a big business employing an army of contented men and women, he is a conservative and he says Massachusetts and the finished products of her factories and mills. His successor, Governor-elect Curtis Guild, equally recognizes the gravity of the situation. Either of these men, if he represented Massachusetts in the United States Senate, would work and vote for such modifications of our trade relations with Canada, as would permit Massachusetts factories profitable to utilize the hides and lumber and coal of the Dominion. Senator Lodge it is explained by one of his recent interpreters, prides himself upon his "statesmanlike" recognition of the fact that Massachusetts "cannot get what she wants." What Massachusetts needs first and most is a group of men in Congress who will make a fight for Massachusetts' interests. A statesman is a man who builds a state, not one who, holding great power and large responsibility, sits cynically by and watches the state decline for lack of stout fighting that might save it.—National Magazine.

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually Due to Female Disorders Perhaps Unsuspected

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

How often dowe hear the expression, "I am so nervous, it seems as if I should fly:" or, "Don't speak to me." Little things annoy you and may are unable to quietly and calmly perform your daily tasks or eare for the relation of the new

The relation of the nerves and gen-The relation of the nerves and generative organs in woman is so close that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Fits of depression or restlessness and irritability; spirits easily affected, so that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps; pain in the abdominal region and between the shoulders; loss of voice; nervous dyspepsia; a tendency to cry at the least provocation—all these point to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration and suffering so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. M. E. Shotwell, of 103 Flatbush Avenue, Brookiva, N. Y., writes:

"I cannot express the wonderful relief I have experienced by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, backache, hendache, loss of appetite. I could not sleep and would walk the floor almost earlier and the seep and would walk the floor almost earlier and three doctors and got no better, and life was a burden. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has worked wonders for me.

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all women of its virtues? Surely you cannot wish to remain sick, weak and discouraged, exhausted each day, when you can be as easily cured as other women.

Buried in Glass Coffins

Buried in Glass Coffins

The glass coffin in which Tamagno, the great singer, was buried recently was not the first which has inclosed a curious character. There was a miserly Sir Thomas Bancroft, who in London days heaped up great riches. Even when his time came to die he could not bring himself to give his property away and so he left his estate to be improved until he should arise again, which he expected shortly to do. He had a window built in his coffin movable from the interior, and windows and and a glazed door to his tomb, and ordered that at frequent intervals these should be opened and himself inspected by the trustees. But the latter has had enough of the man. They built almshouses with his estate.—Detroit Free Press.

DUN'S WEEKLY SUMMARY

Demand For Steel Far Exceeds Output Leading Industries Falling Further Behind With Deliveries.

Weather conditions have continue o stimulate retail trade in season able merchandise, part of the earlier a vigorous demand for winter clothing and footwear, while household consumption of fuel has revived retail trade, so that coal dealers will not carry over as heavy stocks at the end of the season as was indicated by last month's business. Nor has the possibility of a strike unsettled confidence in the future, jobbing and wholesale sales of dry goods for the spring trade reaching a greater aggregate than last year, and collections are prompt in most instances. a vigorous demand for winter cloth-ces.

Manufacturers in most leading industries are falling further behind with deliveries, particularly in the steel business, while increased capacity has not kept pace with requirements. As to foreign trade, preliminary statistics of exports in January fell short of the month preceding, but promise to surpass all records for the corresponding month in previous years, while for the last week at New York exports were $2.911.396 larger than a year ago, but imports declined $1,741,880.

Immigration Falls Off.

The immigration from all countries for January, 1906, according to a statement issued by the Bureau of Immigration, was 51,127, a decrease of 9 per cent. over January, 1905, but an increase of 79 per cent. over 1904. The total immigration from Europe for the month was 46,269; from Asia, 1,374; all other countries, 3,484. The largest immigration came from Italy, who sent over 11,229 persons. Hungary was next with 11,108, while the Russian Empire and Finland sent 10,382.

Important Novement in Advertising.

The creation of a General Advertising Department for the New York Central Lines, and the placing in charge of that department the veteran railroad advertiser, George H. Daniels, who has been for nearly twenty years the General Passenger Agent of the New York Central Railway, marks an era in the history of advertising in America.

The New York Central Lines are the first great system to create an advertising department which covers all the railways in their systems, and the farreaching consequences of such a movement cannot be appreciated at first sight, but this action on the part of the management of these lines emphasizes the value of advertising generally, and forces the conclusion of a strong belief in the efficacy of railroad advertising in particular.

Mr. Daniels has for many years been a firm believer in newspaper and magazine advertising, and, therefore, the organization of the Central Advertising Department of the New York Central Lines is of importance to every legitimate publication in America, daily, weekly or monthly.

In an address before the New York State Press Association a few years ago, Mr. Daniels made the point that the railroad is the advance agent of commerce and that railroad advertising had been of immense value to American manufacturers in calling the attention of the whole world to the excellent work done by our inventors and manufacturers is flustrated in the same colors.
