MIAL E. LILLEY,
Solicitor.

ANY candidate's statements are subject to challenge, and in his announcement in this week's STAR, John G. Ogle makes the astounding statement that he has been a faithful Republican for 34 years. He has been no such thing, as he was one of the leaders in the great bolt against the Republican county and state ticket in 1882. Ogle and others made a desperate attempt that year to down the State and County Republican tickets. They left the Republican party that year and defeated James A. Beaver, a gallant old one-legged war veteran for Governor. The term "half-breed" was most appropriate for the bolters of 1882, of which Ogle was one of the leading spirits, and on whose account many good Republicans have been dubbed "half-breeds" who never bolted a Republican in their lives. Mr. Ogle still boasts to certain people of his half-breed politics of 1882, hence his claim of having been a faithful Republican for 34 years is absurd and untrue. But Mr. Ogle wants office now, and he would have loyal Republicans forget his past record.

"E. D. MILLER has always been a Scull man," nervously exclaimed J. G. Ogle in THE STAR office, yesterday, "and I don't see how you can support a Republican of that stripe." Just keep cool, "Johnny," we have always recognized a man's right to train with either of the two factions he sees fit, but no Republican should go back on the nominations after they are made, if he wants to continue to participate in the party primaries and councils. The Sculls have left the Republican party, just as you did in 1882, but E. D. Miller was too loyal and too wise to forsake the grand old party just because the Scull brother's did so when they lost their grip on the organization. He is a Stalwart Republican of the true and genuine stripe, not one of the bogus Stalwarts that are Republicans only when they can rule the roost. It's the straight, loyal, dependable Republican that gets our support, no matter what faction he has been training with. No great party can long exist without loyal and clean members, and Hon. E. D. Miller is that kind of a member.

A LAZY LIVER.

A torpid, inactive liver can produce more bodily ills than almost any thing else. It is good to clean the system out occasionally. Stir the liver up, and get into shape generally. The best results are derived from the use of DeWitt's Little Early Rirers. Reliable, effective, pleasant pills with a reputation. Never gripe. Sold by E. H. Miller. 6-1
