LOYAL WINDBER.

A LOYAL REPUBLICAN TOWN AND ITS LOYAL REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE.

Why the People of the Big Coal Town in the North Are for C. J. Duncan for Assembly. Read and Reflect.

Next Saturday the Republicans of Somerset county will go to their respective polling places and place men in nomination for the various offices to be voted for at the election next fall.

Four good men are trying to be nominated for Assembly, but as this county is entitled to only two members in the House, only two can be nominated, and the people of Windber think that their only candidate, Mr. C. J. Duncan, should be one of them, for the following reasons: Windber is the largest town in the county, although it is only about nine years old. With its teeming thousands of busy workmen; its large number of bustling business men; its many heavy tax-payers; and above all, its enormously large and loyal Republican vote, it is indeed strange that the big coal town has not put in the field a larger number of candidates. But Windber is modest, having but one candidate in the field.

Surely Windber is entitled to recognition, and as the big coal town has but one candidate, it is but just to say that the town's one candidate is entitled to nomination. Mr. Duncan is a Republican of the old school, one of the kind that never bolt. He has been an active party worker ever since he is a voter, always advocating fair play and the best interests of the Republican party. But he has never asked for office until now. True, he is now a member of the Windber Town Council, an office without a salary, but that honor came unsolicited, and as president of the Windber Borough Council, Mr. Duncan is serving his fellow townsmen with signal ability and credit to himself and to the town.

Mr. Duncan is a man of independent spirit, a good talker and a man of splendid business capacity. If sent to the Legislature he will be an able representative, and there is no doubt that he will do all in his power for the best interests of this county, and the commonwealth. He is a warm friend of the toiling masses and the common people in general, and surely he has a strong claim on the Republican voters of Somerset county, as has also the town in which he resides.

Windber has very sensibly stood aloof from factional quarrels within the Republican party, and her loyalty has on several occasions stood the good old party well in hand when at general elections there was danger of defeat.

In his personality Mr. Duncan is one of those warm-hearted, open-handed men that make friends wherever they go, and when you cast your ballot, next Saturday, as loyal Republicans you should keep in mind the loyalty of Windber and her only candidate, Mr. C. J. Duncan. A vote cast for him will be a vote that you will never have cause to regret.

RELIEF IS POSSIBLE.

It is possible to obtain relief from chronic indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of KODOL FOR DYSPEPSIA. Some of the most hopeless cases of long standing have yielded to it. It enables you to digest the food you eat and exercises a corrective influence, building up the efficiency of the digestive organs. The stomach is the boiler wherein the steam is made that keeps up your vitality, health and strength. Kodol digests what you eat. Makes the stomach sweet—puts the boiler in condition to do the work nature demands of it—gives you relief from digestive disorders, and puts you in shape to do your best, and feel your best. SOMERSET county has had only four judges that hail from the good old hills of Somerset. Two of them were uncles of "Our-family-in-Congress-forever Ogle," one his father-in-law and the other his brother-in-law. Don't you think this family has been sufficiently honored?—Berlin Record.

The coming September term of court will likely be held in the new court house. Carry the news to "Timmie" and "Bobbie," and just watch them shed crocodile tears for the old court house that for years handed out to the Scull family the great political stealings that made the Sculls rich.

ATTORNEY Ernest O. Kooser, of Somerset, son of Judge Francis J. Kooser, of the Somerset County bench, is prominently mentioned as a candidate on the Democratic ticket for Congress from the Twenty-third District. Judge Kooser is a Republican, and his son a strong Democrat.—Connellsville News.

Oh, no, fellow citizens, a man who votes for Democrats, Socialists, Prohibitionists and Mugwumps at the general election in the fall, can't vote at the Republican primaries in the spring. The rules won't permit it, and committee men who regard their oaths just can't allow it. Republican primaries are for Republicans only.

What has become of "Timmie" Scull's "Linkum" Club? Perhaps Edw. Werner's court house anaconda has swallowed it. Koonz & Ogle, "Timmie," "Edw." and his anaconda all occupy the same bed, these days, and "Danny" Horner is strongly suspected of sleeping in a trundle-bed near by. Strange bed-fellows, indeed.

In speaking of the candidacy of J. W. Thompson for Governor, which we also favor, the Somerset Herald makes a capital out of the fact that Mr. Thompson is interested in the Wabash and the having of it built through Somerset county, but it fails to state that J. G. Ogle, the Scull's choice for Congress, and his law partner, Wm. H. Koontz, represent the B. & O. in this county, and are working to keep the Wabash out. But then, that's the Scull gang consistency, and it is to be expected.—Berlin Record.

JOHN G. OGLE stated in THE STAR office, last week, that he had Clinton C. Wagner "fired" from the office of Koonz & Ogle, whose stenographer he was, for coming out on the Orphans' and Citizens' Union tickets for Prothonotary, last fall, after being defeated at the Republican primary in the spring. Yet John G. Ogle is going about begging for the votes of the people that supported Wagner on the ticket. Wouldn't such consistency jar you? The better any man becomes acquainted with John G. Ogle, the less stock he will take in the little, cold, clammy swellhead.

THE claims of Windber's candidate for Assembly are strongly set forth in an advertisement on this page. How, Mr. N. Duncan does not state what his platform is. Messrs. Knepper and Endsley have openly declared themselves for a 2-cent-per-mile railroad passenger rate, also a law that will give trolley roads the right to carry freight and express, and the repeal of the compulsory vaccination law. In short Knepper and Endsley are for the reforms the people and the State Superintendent of Public Instruction are clamoring for, and we believe they will both be nominated and elected.

In mentioning the various candidates to be voted for at the Republican primary election to be held May 28th, the non-partisan Windber Era has the following to say concerning Hon. J. W. Endsley: "Among the candidates coming before the voters of Somerset county for endorsement, there is perhaps none more worthy than Hon. J. W. Endsley. Mr. Endsley is well known to many of his constituents, and has served faithfully the trust imposed upon him in the last Legislature—Always conscious of the high trust of the office, he has striven to do his duty, and he is therefore popular for the standard he has taken in the past on matters that concern the common people.

CANDIDATES for the Legislature will be pledged over the entire state to repeal the vaccination law, as it affects the public schools of the state. Vaccination may be all right in its proper enforcement—if it can be properly enforced; but it is a cowardly indefensible policy to deprive a child of the privilege of a public education because its parents refuse to have it vaccinated on account of natural parental solicitude for its well being. Medical records teem with the innocent little victims of bungling vaccination, which is sufficient cause for parental solicitude and parental objection to such a deadly prophylactic treatment as is vaccination. Down and out with the vaccination cranks.—Rockwood Leader.

It was the late Colonel Edward Scull who said of his nephew, John G. Ogle, that he was the degenerated son of an illustrious sire. That saying, because of its great truth, made Colonel Edward Scull famous over all Somerset county. The only thing little "Johnny" has to run on is his ancestry, and while prominent ancestry is a good thing to have, a candidate ought to have some redeeming features of his own, all of which John G. Ogle has not. He wants to get there by clinging to the judicial arm of his brother-in-law, Judge Kooser, and by the shades of his departed relatives. But Kooser and the shades of the departed will avail him nothing. Kooser came near going down to defeat himself, and the people who helped him into a high-salaried job feel that they have done about enough for the blue-blooded aristocracy of which Mr. Ogle boasts so much. Although this paper supported Judge Kooser, it is not over-proud of the fact, and we draw the line at supporting Ogle, the brother-in-law of Kooser.

ABOUT all the Somerset Herald can do during this campaign is to resume its tirade of abuse against J. A. Berkey, but like water on a duck's back, it just rolls off and doesn't hurt anybody. Besides, J. A. Berkey is not a candidate in this campaign, but if he were, he would "get there" more easily with the Herald's condemnation than with its praise. J. A. Berkey rose from the ranks of the common people, and by his own efforts has already risen higher than the editors of the Herald, who were born and reared in luxury, can ever hope to rise, for they lack the Berkey ability, honor and common sense. J. A. Berkey is most liked and respected by those who know him best, except by a few who are envious of him, and by a few others who have reaped and are still trying to reap the reward of his untiring political and personal labors. No man in Somerset county has done more for his political friends than J. A. Berkey, and no man has been more shamefully treated than he has been treated by some who reached the goal of their political ambitions only through and by his gallant and able leadership. But Berkey will take care of himself in spite of little "Jack" Ogle and a few other ingrates that have been trying all manner of dastardly schemes to ruin him both politically and personally. The world admires an honest and manly fighter, and that's what Berkey is, every inch of him.

QUITE A DIFFERENCE.

Mr. Voter, Draw Your Own Conclusion in this Case.

Hon. E. D. Miller has made a clean and honorable canvass for Congress in this campaign, while his opponent has done nothing but make very faces, pervert the truth, indulge in personalities and try to deceive voters.

MILLER'S PLATFORM.
Furthermore, Mr. Miller is running on a very desirable and substantial platform—a platform calculated to benefit the common people. Here is what he says:

"I shall seek your endorsement and the district nomination by every honorable means, and if elected, shall stand for a 'square deal for every man'.

I shall advocate a pension for every soldier who has rendered his country service in any of the wars, no matter as to the term of service.

I shall stand for federal legislation abolishing all railroad passes, and for a uniform passenger fare of two cents per mile.

I shall favor a naturalization law requiring all aliens desiring to become citizens to read and write the English language."

OGLE'S PLATFORM.
Mr. Ogle remains silent as to what he will do if elected. He promises nothing to the old soldiers, because he considers the old soldier beneath his dignity. He is a cold, clammy aristocrat, you know.

He is not in favor of a uniform passenger fare of 2 cents per mile, because he is a minion of the B. & O. railroad, one of its attorneys, and "dassen't" go contrary to the wishes of the B. & O. He and his law partner, W. H. Koontz, are also hired to do all in their power to keep the Wabash railroad out of Somerset county.

Neither is Mr. Ogle promising to do anything to restrict foreign immigration. He is a corporation attorney, you know, and he "dassen't" do anything against the kind of people that the corporations need to keep wages down.

Mr. Ogle is simply running on his family pride, and because he alleges that some one promised him the office, also because his father and grandfather, were in Congress, his father-in-law and brother-in-law on the Judge's bench, etc., etc.

He meows, frets, scolds, fusses and tumbles, makes ugly faces at Miller, and generally speaking, makes a blamed fool of himself. But maybe he can't help it, for his uncle, the late Colonel Edward Scull, declared him a degenerated son of an illustrious sire.

Mr. Voter, take your choice, but don't forget that John G. Ogle will never go to Congress, for there are not fools enough in Somerset county to nominate him.

A CANDIDATE CHALLENGED.

Ogle's Bluff Called—What Lie Will He Spring Next?

SOMERSET COUNTY, ss:—

E. D. Miller being qualified according to law says the statement made repeatedly by his opponent that he, E. D. Miller, is a candidate for Congress in the interest of Allen F. Cooper, of Fayette county, is an untruth. Affiant says he is a candidate in his own interest, and has no arrangement with Mr. Cooper or any other person, either directly or indirectly, to give the nomination to Mr. Cooper or any other person should affiant be successful in securing the endorsement for Congress in Somerset county. Affiant challenges Mr. Ogle to make affidavit to the allegations he has made. E. D. MILLER. Affirmed and subscribed before me this 19th day of May, A. D. 1906.
