

WEDDING ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Bomb Thrown at King Alfonso and His Bride in Street.

MISSILE HIDDEN IN BOUQUET

An Electric Wire Deflected the Course of the Bomb and Royal Couple Escaped Injury.

King Alfonso and his bride, Princess Ena of Battenberg, had a narrow escape from death, on the return from the church where they had just been made man and wife. A bomb concealed in a bouquet was thrown from a balcony and exploded in front of the coach occupied by Grand Duke Vladimir, of Russia, which followed that of the royal couple.

Probably, King Alfonso and Queen Victoria escaped by an electric wire deflecting the bomb, but at least a number of persons, most of them being of the personal and military escort, and the other spectators, were killed. Many others were injured. The following are the killed: Captain Barros, commanding part of the king's escort; Lieutenant Reysent, Lieutenant Prendergast, six soldiers, the Marquis of Colosa, her daughter, Don Antonio Calvo, his niece, aged 6 years; Jose Sola, 70 years of age; Luis Eonessa. One royal groom was killed who was leaning a horse drawing the coach carrying the king and queen. Several of those killed were standing on the balcony of the house from which the bomb was thrown.

The explosion occurred just as the royal couple was about to enter the palace. The route of the cortege had been diverted from Arsenal street to Mayor street, owing to the popular desires. The procession had just passed through Mayor street and was about to turn into the esplanade leading to the palace when an explosion shook the buildings in the vicinity, stunning a large number of people and throwing the cortege into inextricable confusion.

The royal coach was brought to a sudden stop by the shock, officers and soldiers of the escort falling to the ground about the carriage and horses that had been killed. The screams of the terrified multitude mingled with the groans of the dying. It was immediately seen that the royal coach was intact except as it had been damaged by flying splinters. King Alfonso immediately alighted and assisted Queen Victoria out of the carriage. They then entered another coach and were driven swiftly to the palace.

The Madrid police had received a warning from London to be on the outlook for anarchists, a plot having been discovered in that city to assassinate the king and queen on their leaving the church.

It was just a year ago that a bomb was thrown at King Alfonso in Paris. As the king, accompanied by President Loubet, was driving away from a gala performance in the opera, an anarchist threw a bomb at the royal carriage.

The wedding of Alfonso and Ena was celebrated in the historic church of San Jeronimo. The gathering in the church was the most brilliant one that has ever graced a similar occasion in any capital in the world. Princes, dukes, generals, admirals and ambassadors from every nation were there in glittering array.

His majesty entered the church under a pallium held over him by high church and palace dignitaries. He was attired in the uniform of a captain general and wore among his decorations the Order of the Golden Fleece and the English Order of the Garter. The blonde bride, in her wonderful robes of white and silver, seemed a fitting figure in this fairy pageant of the king and cost $7,000. It was of white brocade overlaid with silver embroidery and Spanish lace. The latter was valued at $50 a yard. The lace was caught up with orange blossoms.

Monsignore Sancha, archbishop of Toledo, and primate of Spain, performed the ceremony, assisted by 20 bishops and priests, all in gorgeous vestment of white and gold, scarlet and old lace.

At the words, "With all my worldly goods, I thee endow," the king presented to his bride 13 golden "arad." The ceremony was long, almost an hour being required for its observance, and concluded with the nuncio pronouncing the Pope's benediction on the newly-married couple, and the chanting of the Te Deum.

After the ceremony the bride and bridegroom knelt before the altar, their sponsors holding lighted tapers on either side. Then they heard the nuptial mass, one of the most impressive services in the Catholic Church, with its musical chanted invocations and responses from the organ.

BOMB THROWER KILLS HIMSELF

Morales Who Tried to Kill King and Queen of Spain, Takes His Own Life.

The capture and suicide Saturday night at Torrejon de Ardos of Manuel Morales, the chief suspect in the bomb outrage against King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, adds another dramatic chapter to the incidents surrounding the royal wedding.

Morales was recognized in the little town of Torrejon de Ardos, midway between Madrid and Alcalá. A guard sought to detain him, but Morales, drawing a revolver, shot the guard dead. Then he turned to flee, but a number of the inhabitants of the town were upon him and, turning the revolver upon himself, he sent a shot in the region of his heart, expiring a few minutes later.

Senor Cuesta, proprietor of the hotel from the balcony of which Morales threw the bomb, viewed the body this morning and completely identified it as that of his recent guest.

An examination of the pockets of the dead man revealed nothing that would give a clue as to his identity. This fact created a doubt that the man was Morales, but when the Governor of Madrid arrived with Senor Cuesta identification was immediate and positive.

The American envoy to the royal wedding, Frederick W. Whitridge, and his suite, had an opportunity for a brief conversation with King Alfonso during the reception at the palace Saturday night. When the conversation naturally turned to the attempt on the King and Queen King Alfonso shrugged his shoulders and made the following significant statement, showing how he views the future:

"Yes, fortunately it was unsuccessful, but it will come again. It may be any time—perhaps to-morrow, perhaps within a month, perhaps within a year—but it will come."

DECISION AGAINST SMOOT

Committee on Elections and Privileges Adopts Resolution.

That Reed Smoot is not entitled to his seat in the United States Senate as a Senator from Utah was the decision of the Committee on Elections and Elections, by a vote of 7 to 5, on Senator Dubois' resolution, offered at the meeting two weeks ago, which was carried by Senators Burrows, Dilliver, Pettus, Overman, Bailey, Dubois and Frazier voting in the affirmative, and Senators Foraker, Dillingham, Hopkins, Beveridge and Knox in the negative.

The vote of Senator Depew was not cast. Votes were had on the constitutional questions of expulsion and exclusion, after which the members of the committee expressed themselves in favor of a vote in the Senate at the present session of Congress.

The effect of the resolution adopted will be to place squarely before the Senate the question whether Senator Smoot shall continue in his seat and leave to somebody the decision as to the method of procedure. A majority can declare that it is the sense of the Senate that Senator Smoot be excluded, and under the form of the resolution proceed to unseat him by that method.

IMMUNITY BILL PASSED

Measure to Aid the Prosecution of Trust Cases.

Senator Knox secured the passage through the Senate of his immunity bill, one of the most important measures this session. The bill declares the intent of the laws creating the interstate commerce commission, the department of commerce and labor, and the bureau of corporations. It provides that immunity under these laws shall be extended only to "natural persons, who in obedience to a subpoena, give testimony under oath or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, under oath." It prevents men who have been guilty of an infraction of the law from going before the nearest official of the department of commerce and confessing their sins, thus taking the immunity bath which guarantees them from prosecution and makes them immune from punishment.

ELEVEN DEAD; MANY HURT

Disastrous Trolley Wreck Follows Outing in New Jersey.

PLUNGED THROUGH DENSE FOG

More Than a Hundred Young People Were Aboard When Accident Occurred.

Eleven persons are dead and a score seriously and many others slightly injured as the result of the overturning of a crowded electric car at Moore's Corner in East Providence, R. I.

More than 100 young men and women, who had spent the evening at Crescent Park, a pleasure resort on the Providence river six miles below Providence, were on a chartered car returning to their homes after midnight.

The Dead: George Atcherson, 20 years; Thornton; Edward F. Brennan, 18 years; Cranston, R. I.; Alice Franklin, 17 years old; Thornton; Enrico Gamboni, 23 years; Thornton; John Gavin, 20 years; Providence; Angelo Germain, 39 years; Thornton; Gustave Guerin, 25 years old; Onleyville; William W. Luther, 27 years; Providence; Bertha M. Kelley, 18 years; Thornton; John Schneider, 19 years; Onleyville; Ethel Whitely, 19 years; Providence.

The motorman in charge of the car, W. J. Laucher of Onleyville, although experienced in his calling, was unfamiliar with the road over which he was traveling for the first time. Laucher was put in charge of the car at the solicitation of the passengers, members of a Catholic society, which had been to Crescent Park for an outing.

Fog prevented a clear view of the road ahead and the motorman, unaware of the sharp curve below, allowed the car to coast rapidly down the hill. Suddenly he felt the car swing into the curve, and, realizing the peril, applied the brakes and reversed the power. The weight of a number of men on the running board and the momentum sufficed to derail the car and throw it into the road 20 feet from the track.

Seven of the passengers were pinned beneath the car and instantly killed. Those who were able began the work of rescue. A large joist was utilized as a lever, a pile of stones forming a fulcrum, and the car was raised from the ground just enough to permit the escape of its imprisoned passengers.

Two persons had succeeded in escaping when the joist broke under the weight of the car and the heavy vehicle fell back, killing two of the injured.

The rescuers again raised the car from the ground and by building a pile of heavy stone kept it in position while the dead and injured were removed.

PREMIER EXPECTED TO RESIGN

An Attempt Was Made to Assassinate the Governor General of Kusais by Bombs.

A campaign of unceasing attacks upon the Russian ministry by means of a daily bombardment of interpellations on the inexhaustible subject of bureaucratic abuses was mapped out by the Constitutional Democratic central committee and discussed in detail at a meeting of the members of that party.

The general opinion still prevails that Premier Goremylin will resign and that M. Shipoff will succeed him. The members of the conference were aroused from a dry discussion of tactics by the news of condemnation to death of Warsaw terrorists and the trial by court-martial of 36 more political prisoners at Riga, who are in jeopardy of the fate of the eight who were executed there May 29.

This precipitated another characteristic outbreak of fury against the government. The government, however, is taking its time to answer even the most pressing interpellations.

An attempt was made on the life of General Alikhanoff, governor general of Kusais, as he was about to take a train for Tiflis. The general arrived at the station surrounded by an escort of Cossacks, when two bombs were thrown at him and exploded in the midst of the party, seriously wounding Alikhanoff, a member of his staff and several Cossacks. The remainder of the Cossacks forced indiscriminately into the crowd, killing many persons.

Death Caused by Blood Poisoning—Spent Years in Prison for Political Offenses.

Michael Davitt, the famous Irish leader, died in a hospital in Dublin of blood poisoning, following two operations for necrosis of the jaw-bone, due to an attack of influenza. Michael Davitt was born in Straide, Mayo, Ireland, in 1846. This was at about the time of the beginning of the famine, and in 1851 his parents, poor peasants, were evicted from their farm. The Davitt family were compelled to emigrate to England, and Michael, then a boy, was forced to obtain employment. He was 10 years old when he entered a cotton factory and soon afterward he lost his right arm in the machinery.

From the time he was 15 years old until he reached the age of 23 he was engaged in the printing business. During this period he educated himself. He joined the Irish revolutionary movement in 1867 and was present in the attack on Chester castle. In 1870 he was arrested in London, charged with transporting arms into Ireland. He was convicted and sentenced to fifteen years' penal servitude. He was released in 1875. At his birthplace Mr. Davitt organized the Irish Land league movement. It was in connection with this work he gained much of his popularity in Ireland. He came to America in 1880 and organized a branch of the Land League. When he returned to England he was arrested and sent to prison for the balance of his term, but was released in 15 months on a ticket of leave.

While in prison Mr. Davitt was elected a member of parliament for Meath, but was disqualified. Several times after his release he was again disqualified. He was finally elected and unopposed in 1893 for Northeast Cork. In 1895 he was re-elected to parliament for East Kerry and South Mayo.

TORN FLAG TO SHREDS

Anarchists Hold Memorial Services in Chicago.

On Memorial day a large assembly of Chicago "Reds" gathered at a memorial service in Brand's hall for the executed Haymarket anarchists. They listened to violent harangues by Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman and cheered wildly when a small American flag was grabbed from the hand of a little girl who wandered into the meeting and was torn into strips and trampled on the floor. The affront to the flag came in the midst of Berkman's speech, and the attention of the crowd was drawn to the act by the cries of the child. When the import of the act became known the cheering began and Berkman was interrupted.

Policemen, under the command of Captain Healy, of the Chicago Avenue station, who were stationed in the rear of the hall, hurried to the scene of commotion and the tumult was quickly stifled.
