The following letter was written by Mrs. Kellogg, of 1628 Lincoln Ave., De nver, Col., to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.: Dear Mrs. Pinkham; was troubled with a tumor, which kept growing, causing me intense agony and stream to me to me intense agony and stream to me intense agony and stream and to my house work, and life became a burden to me. I was conied for days to my bod, lest my appetite, my counsed for days to my bod, lest my appetite, my counsed for days to my bod, lest my appetite, my counsed for days to my bod, lest my appetite, my counsed for the superior of the sum of Legal and the sea of the my distress I tried every remedy which I thought would be of any use to me, and residue of the visit a trial. I felt so discouraged that I had little hope of recovery, and when I began to feel better, after the second week, thought it only meant temporary relief; but to my great surprise I found that I kept gaining, while the tumor lessened in size.

"The Compound continued to build up my general health and the timor seemed to be absorbed, until, in seven months, the tumor was entirely gone and i a well woman. I am so thankful for my recovery that I ask you to publish my letter in newspapers, so other women may know of the wonderful curative powers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Anybody who has had a good case of seasickness must have felt that he would welcome the electric chair as a relief. Now an electric chair for seasickness has been tested in an English Channel steamer and an ocean liner. You sit in a sung arm. chair. A motor under the seat is connected with the ship's electric current. You sit and take vibratory treatment. Up and down and crosswise you are shaken. Most sitters need but one treatment. Their tendency to seasickness is vibrated out of them. Some peed a second sitting. A few are seasick as soon as their treatment ends. It is a preventive, mark you, not a cure. The theory is that seasickness is essentially a nervous malady and that vibration reduces the nervousness. Certainly imagination and expectation have much to do with the disorder. Elessings on the new armchair if it can block quick-coming seasickness. But many believe and many doubt.—Everybody's Magazine.

A physician speaks of his own experience:

The Keeley Motor.

About 1872, John W. Keeley, of Philadelphia, began his experiments in that city to attempt to develop to practical results a machine worked by power without cost, i. e. running itself. Nothing definite, however, was ever given out concerning this motor except the name. "Pneumatic-Pulsating-Vacuo-Engine," until the motor was denounced by a Boston lawyer as a huge fraud, run by a water motor in a sub-basement. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were lost by stockholders. The machine at last accounts was stored in Jamaica Plain. Keeley died in the fall of 1898.

Only 5,000,000 "hot-cross buns" were consumed in London on Good Friday, indicating the dying out of the custom. The cross-bun is the modern equivalent of the cakes eaten in honor of the Saxon goddess Eostre, from whose name the word Easter comes. Her worshipers became Christians, but, unwilling to give up the buns, compromised by making them with a cross.

Impossible to Get Employment, as Fact and Body Were Covered With Sores —Cured by Cuticura.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the female organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female illis.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She is daughterin-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease has been advising sick women free of charge. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

A moderate reduction in commercial activity is to be expected at this time of the year, but confidence in the future is so strong that there is evident reluctance to assume seasonable quiet conditions. This attitude is most pronounced in the industrial world, preparations for fall and winter distribution being on an unprecedented scale, and several leading producers announce that the customary summer shut down will be entirely omitted or curtailed to the extent necessitated by repairs. The heavy movement of merchandise is attested by an increase in railway earnings thus far reported for June of 11.8 per cent over the corresponding period of 1905, and foreign commerce at New York for the last week shows a gain of $1.841,071 in exports and a decrease of $671,000 in imports as compared with the movement a year ago.

as compared with the movement a year ago.

All classes of farm staples except cotton were exported more freely in May than in the same month last year, and the loss of almost $10,000,000 in cotton failed, to prevent a gain in all exports of $6,755,718, while imports showed an increase of $12,423,669 over the corresponding month of 1905. There is no diminution in the activity of steel mills and iron furnaces, and the consumption keeps pace with production and new business holds the date remote at which shipments can be made in most departments.

Quarrying Ice—A New Industry.
The great glacier on Mount Blanc is being used for other purposes than furnishing an occupation to guides and an attraction for tourists. An ice trust has gone into the business on an extensive scale of quarrying the clear, hard ice, at an altitude of 4,000 feet. The ice is blown out in great blocks by means of dynamite, after which it is sawed into regular sizes and sent down the mountain on a narrow-gage railway. Down in the valley it is loaded into freight cars and distributed through southern France.
