MODEL HUSBANDS.

Perhaps every married woman in ou community supposes she possesses a model husband, and we should be sorry to say anything that might be the means of dispelling the delusion. We We feel sure no two women weigh man-kind in exactly the same scales. What one woman may regard as virtues another may regard as faults.

A model husband in our opinion i not a man who alone brings wealth to his home; nor one who endows his wife with a fine social position; but the one who gives to his wife the best of himself; who appreciates her virtues and pardons her faults. A model husband may be a day la who returns to his home at night with a hard-earned dollar clasped in his honest hand, and adds it to the family fund to be used to provide necessary comforts for the family. He shares faithfully with his wife whatever he may earn by trade or profession. When business matters perplex, he does not go home with a woful tale of his hard. ships, and turn the bright side of his character to his associates, but he comes into his home with a cheerful face that inspires his wife with new courage after a day of perplexing du-ties which women alone have to meet and in their monotony become distaste ful to the most patient of them. A model husband does not hang up his fiddle at the door, to be taken up a he goes out to entertain outsiders, and omes into his home as devoid of any suggestion of music as is the face of a

A model husband is one who will share every hardship or sorrow life may bring to his wife, and sweetens suffering with his words of love and sympathy, and when age and infirma ties rob her of her personal charms and wrinkles take the place of dimples, his ove is like the bolly that blossoms in he winter of adversity. The model husband does not allow his selfish nature to accord to himsel all the blessings which come with a well kept home, and permit his faithfu wife to bear all the burdens.

A model husband prefers the societ of his wife and children to that of club opera or dance, and when his wife ares in these recreations they pleasure to him, when she is absent hey cease to amuse. A model husband is not only tender and kind, he is manly and brave. It is a pitiful sight to see a strong, well-bal anced woman yoked to a pigmy of a man who never had an aspiration higher than his stomach : who whine when he is hungry and grunts when he is fed. A model husband must be an hones man: not only honest with his fellow men, thus keeping his commercial rep-utation above reproach, but honest in p ying his obligations to his family When he allows vice and dissipation to rob him of his manhood and selfrespect he cheats his wife out of her lega rights. Model husbands as a rule are not the outcome of circumstances, but they are natural products. A kind, loving so will become, after marriage, a mode husband. A selfish, arrogant son will grow into a tyrannical, unreasonabl husband, because he loves himself bet ter than any one else, and his wife wit always occupy a second place in his af fections. A model husband delights to bring happiness to the heart of the one he calls wife, and never forgets to cherish in and protect the atom of humanity the law made his own. His marriage vows are not made on Thanksgiving to be broken on Christmas.

He bears your name, and is to send it on down the stream of time. He inherits your fortune and fame, and is to transmit them to generations to

It cannot be otherwise. A daughter divides your fortune, transmits less of your fame and losses your name. A boy is more nearly yourself than anything else can be. It is through your boy you go down in history; through your boy you are to live in the future; by him you are to act upon the genera tion that is to come.

It may be difficult to govern him, but be patient. He may seem adverse to everything useful and good; but wait. No one can tell what is in a boy. He may surprise you some day. Hope. Let him grow. While his body grows Let him grow. larger and strouger, his mental and moral nature may expand and improve.

Educate your boy. You may think money spent in this way is money spent in vain. There is nothing in him; he has no pride, no aspirations. You don't know. No one can tell what is in a Besides, there may be an unkindled spark, an unfanned flame, a tion, which the books and men may arouse, develop and direct, and thus start a boy going, with such energy and determination that no power on earth could stop him short of the topmos round in the ladder of fame.

KENNEDY'S LAXATIVE We believe in the existance of model husbands; in truth we have known great, noble, self-sacrificing men who would scorn to impose on any creature dependent upon them for care and pro tection. Yet we are skeptical of the abundance of such men, and we too often find a vast gulf between the real and the ideal, which cannot be bridged by human prayers or human tears. Some men may run well for a season, then drop their masks at intervals later these are laid aside, revealing the true character of the man. Then the beautiful bubble bursts and the rainbow tints vanish in mid air, leaving wiser and sadder women to mourn over their shattered idols.

When a woman does possess a model husband she should crown him with earth's brightest and most precious diadem, a woman's love.

Unless strong measures are taken by the governments of the United States and Canada, the perch and whitefish of the lower lakes seem doomed early to extinction.
