NAMES OF A CONTRACT OF A CONTRACTACT OF A CONTRACT OF A CONTRACT OF A CONTRACT OF A CONTRACT OF A CO A COWBOY'S ROMANCE

HE huge Arizona man-here to observe the drift of statehood cur-rent events in the Congress-gazed reflectively at the large promising looking slab of straw-y shortcake on the plate before and promisi berry

"I never see a piece of that," he aid, alming with his immesse fore-finger at the hurk of strawberry short-cake as if he meditated shooting it up some. "that I don't think of Chuck O'Mallon. A strawberry contraption of that same general kind, only better - a heav hotton were sume of the -a heap better-was sure one of the factors that helped to get Chuck hap pily hobble huck was foreman of the old Tri angle-T, and before it happened th rest of us used to fritter away a lot of the boss' good time in trying to shame or kid Chuck into annexing unto him-self a long-haired side partner to take charge of the neatest foreman's wick-ieup that I ever saw on a ranch. All of us in the bunk house regarded it as a sin and a shame that that tidy fore-man's shack should go to waste, with nobody but Chuck to hold it down and no woman to train the honeysuckle and the wistaria over the front and tear the boss' good time in trying to sham the wistaria over the front and rear trellises and show herself once in a while sweeping down the back steps wife and a herd of young 'uns. When Chuck was made foreman he had the whole foreman's wickleup to himself, rassling his own hash and doing his own house cleaning after the round-ups. "'I hain't much of a bridle-wise, corral-break caynse, 'Chuck rounded upon us once when we got after him on the matrimony game, 'and I sure need a bull lot o' stampin' ground-the length and breadth of the range hain't none and breach of the range hand hone too spacious for me when 1 want t' roll and buck and hang my heels up in the air. And I hain't mentionin' noth-in' about the het-up periods when I git the hunch t' hop the reservation—when I feel like I jes' nachully got t' pull down a few honkatonks in the adjoining settlements after gittin' lit up with the purlin' loco juice. Which hain't reck-onin' up, neither, what a pizen 'Pache I am when the grub hain't skated t' the centre prompt on the minnit when the chimes is pealin' the hour-and l hain't never yit seen the female indi-vidjool that was prompt in the matter o' fodderin' her two-legged stock, wimmen havin' no idee whatever o' the meanin" o' time or the value o' the same. Them is on'y some o' the rea-sons why your'n truly hain't a-jogglin' along t' pole

"In private, though, Chuck told me-"In private, though, chuck told me-I was assistant foreman — that he wouldn't mind snagging a wife, 'ef I on'y knowed how t' git th' same,' he was accustomed to add. "That's the way it was set with Chuck on the day the boss notified him to prepare to take a trainload of steers to Kansas City. As Chuck had never convoyed any cattle farther east than Omaha, and I had been to Kansas City, the boss told me that I'd better hike along, too, to see that Chuck didn't step into any ground owl holes or get ditched or sidetracked in the more or less perpendicularly hustle burg on the Wyandotte.

"The night refore Chuck and I were scheduled to slope toward the railroad the boss sent for Chuck. After the talk with the boss Chuck nudged me into a corner of the bunk house. "'What-all kind of a stunt d'ye reckon the old man's got framed up f'r your'n affectionately now? Chuck asked me, nervously mopping his brow with his bandana

"'Wants you to keep sober till after you've delivered the steers, eh?' I sug-

"'Worse'n that-a good sight worse,' replied Chuck, gloomily. "The boss has given me the job o' ropin' a pot-wal-lower in Kansas City for his wife. The Dutch kitchen mechanic they got now is slopin' back East nex' week, and the old man hereby delegates me t' rope, tie and brand a housemaid and general hash-mixer down yonder in Kansas City, and fetch her back on our return. What d'ye s'pose-what "Yes, Kate would tak

-and a big way o' bizness, at that f you're askin' me. Now, what's the openin' break and the preliminary move, as it were, toward achievin' this rere quest f'r a skirted spud-peeler? For a function of a dirk hold up every and at the point of a dirk hold up every ibbon wearer that sashays by and ast ribbon wearer that sashays by and ast her questions 'bout her 'bility t' cook and wash and iron and sew and do up the boss' wife's hair, or do I—-' "Well. I could see that Chuck was some liable to make a rockyle finish there in Karger of the distingtion.

some hable to make a rockpile mish there in Kansas City if I didn't get in to the extent of handing him a tip or so as to the prevailing methods in civ-ilization of engaging serving women, and so I steered him to an employment agency and myself unreled to the fat woman in charge of that plant the pualifications desirable in a ranch house servant. The fat woman asked

"That was a lucky fat woman for Thuck. She had the goods all ready in took, it seemed, which was why she trellises and show herself once in a stock, it seemed, which was way sne was asking me so many questions. She was asking me so many questions. She had on her list a widow-oh, a woman "The foreman's house had been built for Chuck's predecessor, a man with a wife and a herd of young 'uns. When the mane was Kate McGlone, and she the there made foreman he had the lived across the river in the other Kan-sas City-the one in Kansas. The fat woman thought Kate McGlone would not mind going West, because she had t brother working in a mine some-where in New Mexico.

" "This,' delightedly remarked Chuck when he got outside with Kate Mc-Glone's address on a slip of paper, 'is sure some easy. It's as easy as stam-pedin' a bunch o' locoed cattle plumb into the corral and then oncoilin' a spool o' barbed wire around that corral to keep 'em there—it sure is.' "So Chuck and I charter a caloosh and spin over to Kansas City, Kan., to give Chuck a chance to make a lariat throw for this Kate McGlone and get that errand off his mind.

"Kate McGlone's address was a rick-y, tumble-down shanty in a long row t them, occupied by coal miners and their families, but poor and common their families, but poor and common as it was on the outside, it was uent, shough uncommonly bare, inside—the urniture had been going out piecement for the necessaries of life since Kat's man's death, we found out afterward. "But the neatest thing in or within forty miles of that shanty was Kate McGlone herself. For Kate was a staving beauty from the far south of reland-a smashing, handsome woman of buxom sinuosities that were dis-ceruable even arrayed as she was in her poor calico dress.

"Chuck took one look at Kate Mc-Glone when she came to the door in re-sponse to our knock. Then he acted like he was going to sit down on the rickety steps and take a rest for him-self. There was no manner of doubt whatever that Chuck was all in, all right, so powerful was the immediate mpression created upon him by the boks of Kate McGlone. Chuck could not much more than wobble in when she invited us into her poor little old stripped outfit, 'and when he thought Kate wasn't looking Chuck gave me a kick on the leg that I can almost feel

"For her part Kate cast quite a num re of sidelong glances at Chuck when her of sidelong glances at Chuck when he seemed to be not paying any atten-ion. Chuck was something good to ook at, an arrow-straight ombrey, two nches above the six foot mark, broad or door of the sharling and which as

as a door at the shoulders, and with as good a head and countenance as you'd over see on a cow-thumper if you ooked from the Columbia to the Rio Grande. I'd seen many a smart wom-in in Kansas City wheel in her tracks take another view of Chuck afte: he'd gone by, although Chuck himself didn't know that there was much dif-ference between his looks and a jack-rabbit's, not being any whatever stuck 'Yes. Kate would take the ranch job

nery grub plants that's all lugs and thin' t' eat on.' "Kate McGlone's smile of acquies-mce when Chuck got off that delicate aggestion was worth seeing. Of ourse she would be glad to cook anyhing for us. She hated to be so situ ted as to have folks bring in their

"Well, Chuck was already out of the door and sailing for the nearest market house at a pony lope. That left me be-hind with Kate McGlone, and I put in the time plugging for Chuck. Kate sat with her hands in her lap and looked a-plenty interested while I talked of Chuck's good points. 'huck's good points.

"In about twenty minutes Chuck staggered in under a load of eatables big enough for a juniper-country hired man's mess—about seven pounds of rich, thick-cut lamb chops, sack of new spuds, four cans of the most expensive French peas he could nail, four boxes of strawberries, box of new tomatoes and a raft of other truck, as much of it as he could carry, and Chuck was a powerful strong carrier, at that. Kate conducted Chuck to the kitchen, where he sat down, the bedeat for her to reie sat down the basket for her to g through and do what she liked with, and then Chuck and I sat out on the little front porch and smoked our corn-cobs and inhaled the fetching aromas hat presently began to float from the kitchen. Chuck was pretty taciturn during that smoke. He seemed to have a lot on his mind. The only remark he made was when a particularly ap-pealing whiff of those broiling lamb hops slipped through on to the front porch and passed our nostrils, and then Chuck knocked the ashes out of his pipe and pulled his hat over his eyes and, looking at me solemnly, observed: "'Jes' because their names happen ' be McGlone and such like, they don't all have t' be kitchen mechanics, pod-ner. I've knowed \mathbf{a} heap o' range bosses t' be disapp'inted some in little natters sence I been punchin' cattle and no mistake,' with which myster ious utterance Chuck again relapsed into silence until Mrs. McGlone ap-peared at the front door and summoned us to the feed.

us to the feed. "I'm not going to try to describe that feed or how good it tasted. But, just to give a line on how good Kate Mc-Glone was in fixing up little impromptu hings of that kind, I'll remark that those southdown lamb chops were pan-broiled by Kate, and she served 'em each on a little triangular piece of toast to sop up the good juices of the meat, with a little sprig of parsley from her back yard patch garnishing each chop. And that strawberry shortcake was one of those things that you could just take a bite out of and then throw your head back and listen to the, music. And the rest of it was to match. We just ate and ate for haif an hour o- so ithout a recess, and then Chuck ushed his chair back a little to give without self some breathing space. 'Which I'm bound to remark,' said which I in bound to remark, said Chuck, then, looking square at Mrs. MeGlone, that they's other jobs, 'sides that o' which me and my podner spoke, out yonder on the old Triangle-T, ha-waitin' fr a lady what knows so much about heavin' th' eats t' the centre as you all do, Mrs. McGlone. Better jobs, too, in a way. One of 'em in partic'-ar is a hull heap better, the on'y drawback t' the same bein' that it involves livin' alongside o' the meanest, satanountest, onnervest, no-countest om-breys this side o' Yuma or that other warm place-the same ondesarvin' in-dividjool bein' a ombrey by the name o' Al (long f'r Chuck) O'Mallon, which shere present t' take whatever pun-shment is a-comin' t' him.' "Kate McGlone blushed very red at

As for me, I always knew when ck. I bolted what remained of o duck. to duck. I bolted what remained of my last hunk of strawberry shortcake and then I grabbed my hat and told Chuck that I'd meet him at our hotel later along in the evening. I passed a hasty thank-you to Mrs. McGlone for he feed, and then I made my getaway. "'You all want to keep sure sober, "'You all want to keep sure souer, podner,' Chuck called after me as I hiked out, 'because if I'm as lucky as I'm beginnin' t' feel I'll be needin' a pal as a witness t' some doins' in these yere parts d'rectly. I sure hope so.' "I stood up with Chuck when they faced the priest a while before moon faced the priest a while before noon the next day, Kate in a powerful be-coming suit of ready-made togs that Chuck staked her to, and looking as sh and wholesome as a dew-streaked orning glory around the hour of lawn. After the ceremony I ducked again and executed a mysterious dis-appearance for four days, and when I showed up again Mr. and Mrs. At Mallon were all ready and packed for the start for the old Triangle-T. for the start for the old Triangle-T. "One of the boys had the two-seated buckboard waiting for us at the sta-tion, and the four of us made the thir-ity miles to the ranch comfortable enough. The boss and his wife were on the porch when we drove up. "'And this,' sail the boss' wife, as good a woman as ever willingly passed up a month's sleep to nurse a poor sick man in a bunk house, 'and this' me-

A FROLIC WITH THE VACROM BOYS

The night owl is hooting "To-whit" and "To-whoo" "To-whoo" Where the slender church steeple looms in the twilight. he roofs of the city are fading from view, And Pm romping along with my com-rades to-night.

"Hullu" comes a cheery voice down the old street; "Hullu" and "Hullu" echoes the glad refrain. Then a calvacade swoops to the jolly retreat, And the village green's peopled with fel-lows again.

t's "Beard the red lion," "Pomp-pomp (15) Deard the red hot, "Temp-point pull away," "High spy." "The sheep stealer" and "Tag, you are it." t's frolic and rollic and madean and play, While the owl from the hillside re-echoes "To-whit." t's froli While

A cloud scurries swift o'er the face of the The forms disappear and the voices are Ah! then from my dreams I awaken too soon— The city sleet's weeping its tears on my sill. —Horace Seymour Keller, in The Sun.

"It sounds very strange to hear you talking that way," said Chumley, "When we were at college you didn't believe in a place of eternal punish-ment at all." "I know," replied Bitter, "but I didn't have any enemies then." Dididathin Discover -Philadelphia Press.

> "Non sense! he's in the insurance business still." "I know, but it keeps him busy taking new cooks out to his place to spend a few days."—Philadelphia

We got a new servant-girl, Myra, We had lots of trouble to hyra; She broke all our china, I.wanted to fina. But couldn't-so we had to fyra! —Town Topies.

Reggy Frappe - "Yes, I met the chawming Miss Flasher when she was on her tour and she asked me for my picture, weally." Miss Tabasco-"Yes, heard her say she was collecting pic-ures of all the curious objects she ran eross in this country."-Chicago Daily News.

"You objected to Jack because he "You objected to Jack because ne had to work for a living, didn't you, mamma?" "Yes, my dear. He doesn't belong to our class." "Well, it's all right now. May he call to-right?" "Has some one left him a fortune?" "No, but he's lost his job."—Cleveland Loador Leader.

"I like people who always tell me the plain truth," said the idealist. "I'm plain truth," said the idealist. "I'm not sure that I do," rejoined Miss Cayenne. "I'm a little disappointed if people don't indulge in the conventional falsehoods sufficiently to show that they care for my good opinion."— Washington Star.

Old Lady-"What's the matter, little y?" Street Urchin (whimpering)-'Fraid." Old Lady-"Afraid? Well, a braid. On Lady-Arraid? Wen, I do declare! I didn't know you street gamins were ever afraid of anything, seen or unseen, in this world or the next." Street Urchin-"Y-e-s, we're 'fraid of-of each other."-New York

Weekly.

"I love the ground you walk on," Said he. He did, I wot, Because the two were walking On papa's corner lot, -Joe S. Miller, in Indianapolis Star. "In this instance," explained the pro-fessor of surgery, to the group of medi-cal students, "the left leg of the patient segmentate shorter than the right cal students, "the left leg of the patient is somewhat shorter than the right limb, thus causing the patient to limp. Now, Mr. Fresh, what would you do in a case like this?" Well," responded the alert Mr. Fresh, "I guess I'd limp,

."-Brooklyn Life. "Excuse me," said the old lady with cycglasses in the art gallery, "but haven't you got any more figgers in marble?" "These are all, madam," re-plied the polite attendant. "Is there have but ny particular one you are looking or?" "Yes. I wanted to see the statue of limitations my husband was telling about."—Milwaukee Sentinel. about.

Bill Nye's Ad.

present home with a stay chain, but treat her right. She is one-fou shorthorn and three-fourths hyena will also throw in a double ba

Will Explore Kamschatka.

vho writes from Freiberg that F

Bill Nye, the humorist, once had a ow to sell, and advertised her as foi-ows: "Owing to my ill health, I will ways returned on cooling. Rubies show no change, and tinted ourmalines very little. Brazil tour-19. sell at my residence, in township 19, range 18, according to the Government survey, one plush raspherry cow, aged eight years. She is of undoubted courmalines slightly colored green and pink respectively at one end acquired the same color at the colorless ends on ex ge and gives milk frequently. To a man who does not fear death in any form she would be a great boon. "She is very much attached to her posure to radium. This coloration took day two to appear .- Jewelers' Cir ular-Weekly

The greatest monument of the mound builders, not only in Ohio, but in the entire country, is the Ser-pent Mound, in Adams County. This immense mass of earth, probably piled up for purposes of worship, has had a curious history in respect to changes of ownership in recent times.

As an illustration of the widening As an injustration of the widening of the realm of electrical selence ap-plied to the practical needs of civili-zation, it is noted that the giant tur-bine steamship Mauritania, which the Cunard compnay is building, will have two electrical passenger eleva-tors, two for baggage and six smaller electric elevators for mails and other light work.

It appears that a small mixture of that a few hundreths of one per cent. of aluminum in metals used for valves will cause leaks.

The reason why birds do not fall off their perches, says Health, is be-cause they cannot open their feet when their legs are bent. When a hen walks its toes close as it raises its foot and open as it touches the ground ground.

Dr. W. J. Goodhue, the medical uperintendent of the leper settle nent at Molokai, declares that he has discovered the germ of leprosy In the mosquito and vermin. He was born in Quebec in 1869 and is a personal friend of Sir Willifred Lau-

By a secret method a London firm is able to make hollow lead soldiers. This greatly reduces the cost of production, and the trade in these toys auction, and the trade in these toys, which once belonged almost exclu-sively to Germany, is now rapidly increasing in England. The weight of the hollow soldiers is one-third of the solid.

Tortoiseshell is not the bony cov-ring or shield of the turtle, but only he scales which cover it. These are thirteen in number, eight of them flat and five a little curved. A large turtle affords about eight pounds of them, the plates varying from an inch to a quarter of an inch in thick-

In recent Russian trials to test the adaptability of snow breast-works against an enemy's fire, it was found that a thickness of six feet was a perfect protection against bullets fired at three hundred paces. Packing the snow and pouring water over it to make a crust of ice was found to keep the bullets out when the thickness was only three and a half feet.

GEMS COLORED BY RADIUM.

Diamonds Made Yellow by the Bays -Opaque Stones Show Little Change. Glass is colored brown or violet by radium rays. A. Miethe studied the action of these rays on a large number of gems and found that many of them are influenced by the rays. No genera principles can be indicated except tha the more transparent genus show a greater tendency toward coloration than the opaque or highly colored ones. Mr. Miethe used a preparation of sixty mgm. of radium bromide. A col-orless diamond from Borneo was col-ored a light yellow after eight days and a decided lemon yellow after another eight days. On heating the diamond to 250 degrees the yellow color was di-minished, but it could not be entirely got rid of, even at a red heat. A color-less Brazil diamond showed no colora-

A neculiar behavior was shown by a blue sapphire from Ceylon. After only two hours' exposure to radium brom-ide it showed coloration-green at first, then light yellow, and after a few more hours reddish yellow. After a fortnight it was dark yellow approaching chest-nut. The color could be got rid of by heating, but the light yellow color al-

COMPLETEST BUSINESS BUILDING Features of W. L. Douglas' Administration and Jobbing House.

.

145

NI

Pres ing, Rich gatio for Jesu so d

mean when Of c not is th quess it b what that and call we histo

one follo be v Jesu it w er e But

Jesu as t low

som caus

prec

you

mor

any

way thin Kin Cae

not

any "Re

are abou

ance that

sum rose ther

was true that of a bega casi thin rule now upo Jesu secr coul of a he

cont and gav man It s this min ing tion unti the was sens it God it t His nes

emp our it w thin edge you of C

whee His creese periver the say, exp folld folld our "An cipl Jesu Jair exau que the lead of c that

1.24

The dedication of the new adminis-tration and jobbing house building erected at Brockton, Mass., by the W. L. Douglas Shoe Co. as a part of its mammoth manufacturing plant at Montello was marked by the thoroughness and attention to detail characteristic of the firm in all its undertakings. As the new building is said to be the most complete and convenient of any ever built for a connercial house in the United States, so were the expres-sions of appreciation by the many per-sons who visited it for inspection sincere and of a highly congratulatory nature

The dedicatory program included open house from 11 a. m. to 8 p. m. with concert by the Mace Gay orchesthat and the presence of a Boston caterer to attend to the wishes of all. The building itself afforded a feast for the eye, especially the offices, which are marvels in many ways. Fifteen thousand invitations were sent out, including over 11,000 to the retail dealers in the United States, who hardle the W. L. Douglas Co. shoes, the others going to shoe manufacturers and all allied industries in Brockton and vi cinity. Mr. Douglas will be glad to have anybody who is interested call The new building is situated just north of the No. 1 factory on Spark street, facing the Montello railroad station. Its completion marks the es-tablishment of a modern up-to-date wholesale jobbing house and office building. Mr. Douglas has long considered the advisabilty of a jobbing house, not only for the purpose of sup-plying his own retail stores more rend-ily, but that the 11,000 dealers through-out the United States handling the W. out the United States handling the W. L. Douglas shoe might be able to ob-tain shoes for immediate use with with

Under the present system all shoes are manufactured to order, and customers sometimes lose sales waiting for shoes to arrive. With the new job-bing house they will be enabled to have their hurry orders shipped the same day they are received, which will be far more satisfactory to the cus-tomer and will result in a largely-in-creased business to the W. L. Douglas

Shoe Co. The new building is 260 feet long and 60 feet wide and two stories in height. The jobbing department will occupy the entire lower floor, while the offices will occupy the second floor. Leaving the new jobbing house on the first floor, the main staircase ascends to the second floor level in two divisions separating on the first land-ing and meeting again upon the fourth, where the large Palladian window is situated, which appears over the en trance

At the head of the staircase in the he mosaic floor appears the word 'Atrium," the name of the inner hall, planned and decorated after the of the ner of the central apartment of the Pompeiian house. This room is direct-ly in the center of the main building, Pom being 20x68 and 16 feet in height, and is lighted by three large ceiling sky-lights of classic design. Around the atrium are placed the private offices, where the heads of the denorthments, and departments are located, with their assistants. Beginning at the right of the main entrance, in order, are those of the C. F. Richmond, buyer; H. T. Drake, general superintendent; H W. L. Douglas, president; and H. Hon Tinkham, treasurer. They are finished and furnished in mahogany and are ensuite. Mr. Douglas' own room oc-cupies the southwest corner of the building, and is a very handsome apartment. To the left of these comes the room of C. D. Nevins, assistant the room of C. D. Nevins, assistant treasurer, Mrs. Marion Shields, correspondence clerk, and the store de partment.

On the east of the atrium and opening into this hall are two alcoves sep-arated by malogany counters, the fronts of which are plate glass and grilles of bronze. These are the offices of Warren Weeks, paymaster, and Hatry L. Thompson, the bookkeeper. The next in order to the left are two rooms devoted to the credit depart-ment, one the private office of A. T. Sweetser and the other occupied by his clerks. The next two offices are those of F. L. Erskine, advertising manager, und his assistants.

"It seems," said Citiman, "that Sub-bubs spends most of his time nowadays arranging Cook's excursions."

Press.

does the old man s'pose-what lassoin' a all-'round ranch maiden, when I hain't had the nerve or the gitthe said after Chuck had nudged me the centre and made me tell her all yout it. There was nothing to keep when I han't had the here's of the gi-up t' lariat a presidin' skirt for my own layout yit? And the boss' wife has give me a list as long as a Moqui's ride fer water o' the things this yere hash-slinger's got t' be able t' git by er in Kansas City, now that-well, sh lidn't say what, but we upperstood all dight say what, but we understood all right, and coughed a-plenty so's to get her off that. She'd like to get within reasonable distance of her brother in New Mexico, and she had no children to hobble her movements. We had with-cook and wash and iron and dust and sweep and do plain sewin' and put up preserves—say, podner, how am I goin' t' git the loop around a female able t' do all o' them things? me at an opportune .im "Chuck didn't say thirty words while

Kate McGlone was telling me that she vould do fill the things a ranch-serving voman would be called upon to do, but vhen she got to that Chuck crossed "I told Chuck that I had many passing troubles of my own when I saw that he was trying to cook up a job to shift the responsibility for 'ropin' a pot-wallower' onto my shoulders. "Well, Chuck looked a lot worried recrossed his legs four or five imes and twirled his sombrero around on his thumb and cleared his sombrero around on his thumb and cleared his throat several times, and then he asked her, in a hoarse, embarrassed kind of way: "Some few on the cook, I reckon, Mrs. McGlone?" over that end of his mission all the way to Kansas City. I didn't have any consolation to offer him. Didn't know much about any kind of women myself at that time. Since then I've met up "Kate smiled confidently at that, and several thousand of 'em - and with now I know less.

.

replied that she regretted that she had no means of proving it to him by lay-ing a meal before him, her larder not "Chuck was a conscientious fore man and a rattling good one, and after we'd seen the trainload of steers un-loaded he threw a jar into me by sol-emnly announcing that the drunk was being exactly overflowing. "'A sure-enough hungry camp, this ere K. C.,' said Chuck then. 'Ain' never been so hungry nowheres as I am yere. Could get away with a to be postponed until after he'd at to be postponed until after he'd at least made some kind of a bluff to ac-complish the task given him by the boss and the boss' wife. " 'I know it's a buil heap hard or you all, ombrey: (man). Chuck said to me, sympathetically-and the ruffan's teeth were leaking a good deal worse than mine were—but this yere is bizi-an in a bunk house, 'and this,' preparing to greet Kate, 'is-

"Mrs. O'Mallon, ma'am,' said uck, stepping forward and looking eepish, but pushing his handsome dent." Thuck. vife forward, and making a mighty weeping sombrero flourish and bow imself. And then the boss' wife steps p and kisses Kate like the fine, sweet-ouled woman that she was, plumb.

'Ain't

who writes from Freiberg that F. 2-Rabuschinski, of Moscow, has offered 97,330 to the Russian Geographical Society toward the expenses. It is pro-losed to organize a party of specialists who will go to Kamschatka in the The next day I was sent a-rustling Tucson to snag out a Chinaman to take the place of the boss' wife'd Dutch hired girl, who'd already jumped the ranch. "That's how Chuck O'Mallon started pring of 1907 and spend two years.

When strong westerly winds pile up out to 'rope a pot-walloper' and ended by getting a wife, and they're on their own Arizona ranch to-day, with as nifty a bunch of handsome, Irish-eyed young 'uns around 'em as you'd meet by with on a form day over duet he water of Lake Brie at its eastern and, where the outlet is, the flow over the Niagara cataract is sometimes in-preased forty per cent. above the nor-

There are now 303 schools in Can² of as Joey Bagstock Foraker.

Kipling as a Hoodoo Man

she will be sold to any one who will treat her right. She is one-fourth Kipling is in reality a caster of spells—a man with an "evil eye." His pose as a poet and a novelist is a mere disguise, says Tit-Bits. So, at least. believe the fishermen of Massashotgun, which goes with her. In May she usually goes away for a week or two and returns with a tall, red calf with wobbly legs. Her name is Rose. I would rather sell her to a non-resichusetts; and this is why: He wrote a book entitled "Cap-tains Courageous". In it he vividu tains Courageous." In it he vividly described the lonely lives of the fish ers off Newfoundland, and he named twenty boats which were actually en gaged in the fishing industry. Since the publication of that book every one of those boats has foundered, and the superstitious survivors of the The proposed exploration of Kamshatka is reported by Consul Liefeld, crews are quite convinced that Kip-ling is what they call "a hoodoo"— which is the male equivalent of a less imaginative than a fisherman.

> They are helped to this belief by They are helped to this belief by the fact that a curious flash seems to come from the pupils of the great pott's eyes—a glint which often strikes an observer, when caught in certain lights, as being quite un-canny. The explanation of this "flash" may be, however, that Kip-ling's weak eyes compel him to wear divided lenses in his spectacles, and the glitter of light on the sections of glass would unnerve mkny a man less imaginative than a fisherman.

The three other rooms completing the outer wall line of the atrium are the reception room to the left of the staircase hall, directors' room and lavatory and the sample room. Here are located the telegraph instruments, telephone switchboard and booths for of guests.

The directors' room is a fine cham-The directors' room is a fine cham-ber occupying the space in the north-west corner of the building. This room is finished and furnished in ma-hogany and all appointments are in keeping. Here hangs a portrait in oil of Mr. Douglas, the president. The last room in this series is the sample room, also in malogany. On center with the entrance and he-fween the healthcore and the tween the bookkeeper's alcove and the credit department is a hall leading to the general bookkeeping room, where is located the host of clerks which is located the host of this huge business empl

Romans Used Concrete.

Romans Used Concrete. In these days of increasing use of concrete for building purposes it is interesting to recall the fact that the Pathleon, in Rome, about 2,000 years old, is covered by a dome over 142 feet in diameter, which is cast in concrete in one solid mass.

Need No Compass.

s, as being quite un-explanation of this be, however, that Kip-yes.compel him to wear is in his spectacles, spectacles, and light on the sections of unnerve many a man ive than a fisherman. Need No Compass. South Australia travelers need not carry a compass. The district abounds with the nests of the mag-netic, or meridian, ant. The longer ayouth.

The senior Republican United States