Our Osterburg correspondent reports that Ray Oster, of that place, found a turtle the other day whose age exceeds that of many of our readers. It had the name of J. F. J. Oster carved on its shell, and the date, 1858. Most of the letters were very plain, says the Bedford Inquirer.

John H. Yost and family, of Roanoke, Va., were the guests of P. L. Livengood and family, last Thursday evening. Mr. Yost is a prominent business man of Roanoke, and he reports business very good in the city where he resides. We enjoyed the visit of Mr. Yost and family very much.

This day 23 years ago the editor's father was instantly killed by a fall of coal in the old Williams mine. He was among the first men in this region who lost their lives in the mines, and the accident caused great excitement throughout the region at the time, causing work to be suspended at all the mines.

The old time method of purging the system with Cathartics that tear, gripe, grind and break down the walls of the stomach and intestines is superseded by Dade's Little Liver Pills. They cleanse the liver, and instead of weakening, build up and strengthen the whole system. Relieve headache, biliousness, constipation, etc. Sold by Elk Lick Pharmacy. 9-1

Ester, a little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gartner, of Pittsburg, is down with typhoid fever at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ringler, who reside here. Workmen engaged in digging a cellar for the new annex to the court house at Gettysburg, unearthed about two bushels of human bones, all from arms and legs, and a great many of them bore the marks of saws. The old court house was used as a hospital during the battle, and it is supposed that the bones mark the spot where the amputated arms and legs were buried.

Milton Koontz, of Braddock, Pa., arrived here on Sunday last for a visit with friends and relatives. Milton is a son of Samuel Koontz, who conducted a wagon-maker's shop in this town for many years, but moved with his family to Braddock, several years ago. The young man is a barber, and does a thriving business in Braddock, conducting a shop of his own. He reports all the family well and contented.

You can see the poison Pine-ules clears out of the kidneys and bladder. A single dose at bedtime will show you more poison upon rising the next morning than can be expelled from the system in any other way. Pine-ules dissolve the impurities, lubricate the kidneys, cleanse the bladder, relieve pain and do away with back-ache speedily, pleasantly, permanently. Sold by Elk Lick Pharmacy. 9-1

Lydia Barbara Schramm, a little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schramm, died last Sunday after suffering intensely with inflammatory rheumatism for about a month. The funeral took place Tuesday forenoon, Rev. Young, of the Lutheran church officiating. Deceased was aged 7 years, 5 months a five days. Mr. Schramm requests us to say that he and his wife are deeply grateful to the kind friends and neighbors who did all in their power to assist and comfort them during the sickness and after the death of their little daughter.

A hundred years ago the best physician would give you a medicine for your heart without stopping to consider what effect it might have on the liver. Even to this good day cough and cold medicines invariably bind the bowels. This is wrong. Bee's Laxative Cough Syrup with Honey and Tar acts on the bowels—drives out the cold—clears the head, relieves all coughs, cleanses and strengthens the mucous membranes of the throat, chest, lungs and bronchial tubes. Sold by Elk Lick Pharmacy. 9-1

Pennsylvania last year produced 20,573,738 tons of coke, or 64 per cent. of all the coke manufactured in the United States. In the great Connellsville district of Pennsylvania, where more than one-third of the total coke production of the United States is obtained, the output of coke increased from 8,883,120 short tons to 11,365,077 short tons, while the value advanced from $13,990,329 to $22,815,381, the average price per ton advancing from $1.58 to $1.96. The Lower Connellsville, or Klondike district, shows a gain from 2,887,456 short tons in 1904 to 3,871,310 in 1905, while the value increased from $4,623,139 to $7,532,382.

This is the time of year when the editors of country papers are almost daily in receipt of requests from colleges, Chautauquas, summer schools, camp-meeting grounds and resorts for free advertising, ranging in value from one dollar to a hundred, or even more. On what grounds these people base their claims it is hard to tell. It cannot be on the ground of charity, for they are not charitable institutions. It is simply a case of attempted holdup, or the proposition may be made under the impression that the average country editor is a poor, unsophisticated fool, anyway, and as some papers seem to bite at these propositions it is presumably true, says an exchange.

The editor of this paper would be the last man on earth to knowingly say a word to hurt the feelings of anybody at a time when the dark-winged messenger of death has brought sorrow to the home. But from the best motives we desire to call the attention of our readers to the custom of publishing "cards of thanks." It is a custom that has outgrown its purpose, if it ever had one. When sickness and death come to your home it is only natural that your friends and neighbors should do what they can to assist you. They would be heathens if they did not. They know that you are thankful and deeply appreciate all they do, and it is not necessary to rush into print to tell the world that your neighbors were kind when you were in trouble.

Long Miners' Struggle at Lilly Is Finally Ended.

All the mines at Lilly, Cambria county, Pa., are now working full time, with a full complement of men. Some few weeks ago one or two companies granted the demands of the union, and their employes returned to work, but other companies held out until this week, when they signed the scale on condition that hereafter the open shop should prevail. The miners finally agreed to this, and thus ended the long struggle. Hence all the mines are now in full operation.

Another Big Timber Deal.

A timber deal of considerable magnitude was closed in Somerset county a few days ago, when P. C. Isaacs, a Stoyestown capitalist, sold a tract of about 750 acres to Charles H. Wheeler, of Akron, O. The tract is located in Stonycreek township and is heavily timbered with hemlock, maple and oak. It is one of the few pieces of virgin forest standing in Somerset county, and, it is stated, brought a fancy price. Mr. Isaacs has controlled it for some time.

Mr. Wheeler will incorporate a company composed of Ohio capitalists, and expects to have a large force of men on the property within the next ten days, preparatory to converting the timber into lumber. The work of getting this timber ready for the markets will give employment to a great many persons, and will result in a boom to the Stoyestown section of the county.

NEW FUEL.

Out of Chemicals and Fibrous Matter—Gives More Heat Than Coal.

Aged Daniel Drawbaugh, whose litigations in the Federal courts many years ago against Alexander Bell, in which Drawbaugh claimed to be the prior inventor of the telephone, but lost to the Bell, and who has been turning out wondrous inventions at Edebelly's mills, near Carlisle, Pa., for the past 25 years, has announced that, with the aid of Dr. E. E. Gamble he has discovered a practical fuel to take the place of coal.

This new fuel, it is stated, is being manufactured now at Bowmandale, east of Carlisle, by a secret process. It is composed of chemicals and fibrous matter, and weighs only half as much as coal. The new fuel will be made in different sized molds.

Tests made with the new fuel show, it is claimed, that it does not clinker, burns freely, gives off more heat than coal, and lasts longer. The statement is made that it will probably cost about half as much as coal, says an exchange.

Three From The Cumberland Courier.

A cigar salesman met another knight of the grip at the Queen City station during the week, and after certain preliminaries the cigar man handed the other a cigar. "This looks like a good weed," said the latter, "but you can't hold a candle to my line." "What! you sell cigars, too?" "No, gunpowder."

A Washington street father had a talk with one of his daughters about her beau. "I am willing to admit," said the girl, "that he has a few shortcomings." "I could overlook his shortcomings," replied the father, "were it not for his long stayings."

A man in this city says that ever since he was quite a young man he has been trying to outdistance something, and has finally discovered that he has succeeded, as he has learned that his income is in the rear. 9-1

Some More Big Coal Developments to be Made in North of County.

J. H. Wheelwright, of Baltimore, vice president of the Consolidation Coal Company, has returned from a trip through the Somerset region of Pennsylvania, having completed arrangements for opening coal mines with a capacity of 1,000,000 tons a year. The lands to be opened up comprise 20,000 acres, according to Baltimore dispatches. Mr. Wheelwright said:

"The property lies in what is known as the Johnstown basin, above the town of Boswell and in the Jenner field. We have authority to open two mines, which will have a capacity of from 2,000 to 3,000 tons of coal a day, and by fall will have a town of 2,000 inhabitants located nearby. The Quemaquing creek runs through the property, and we will found another town of equal population on this creek within the next 12 months.

"It is planned to have a big central power plant to furnish electric current to run the cars in the various mines. In addition, we shall build a railroad through the property to connect with the Baltimore & Ohio. At present the branch we have to use is more than 22 miles long, and traverses a circuitous route. The new line will be only 14 miles long, and the grade will be less than one-half of 1 per cent.

"By fall we shall be mining not less than 1,000 tons a day. In one of the towns we have over 100 houses already built. The new field lies north of the mines which the Somerset company is now working. We were anticipating the development of this new territory last spring, when we ordered 1,000 steel coal cars of 100 tons capacity from the South Baltimore Steel Car and Foundry Company, for the Somerset Coal Company."

The Consolidation Coal Company owns a tract of about 27,000 acres of coal land in Pennsylvania, in what is known as the Berlin basin, southeast of the new mines of the Somerset company. 9-1
