Horne A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers As They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide,

Untidiness is something that ever girl should beware of. Her personal appearance is ruined by it, her chances of success are diminished by it; and oftentimes home life is made almost intolerable by the presence of one untidy person.

It does not take wealth to create home, neither does it take riches to make a girl good to look at, but it takes that in describable charm of neatness. It is virtue, and if a girl possess it to a high degree, she can surpass many a girl of wealth in style and appearance and that, too, on a small income. Every fastidious woman loves dainty things, of them, they will not look so long.

Have we not all met the gentle. kindly, good-natured woman, who takes life serenely and simply, who reaches out after happiness wherever it may be found, and does all she can to make others happy? Often she is care-less in her home, in the little things that make a fine house-keeper. Seldon is she very wise or witty. She does not talk much, she is willing to listen. She has a lovely smile, a soft touch, a responsive glance and a kind word for everyone. She has many faults, and as they are on the surface, they are readily seen—but everyone loves her. The strenuous turn to her for rest; the hasty-tempered go to her for counsel the sorrowful go to her for comfort the erring go to her for sympathy. She is not so perfect that she fails to understand the mean and the wicked. Peo ple do not judge her, for she judge none. They offer her love, and as love is the one thing in the world that seems to her worth winning, she is content with what they give.

There is no suffering like heart pain that she can endure for her loved It is the anguish of the heart that kills her-anguish caused by their ingratitude and wrong-doing. A saintly old woman once said: "When our children are small they trample upon our toes; but when they grow up they trample upon our hearts." That was the cry of a broken heart. She had a drunken, debauched son, who had squandered her money, forged his father's name and disgraced the family. That mother complained not of any physical suffering she had endured for her boy. She had gone down into the very jaws of death, almost, to give him SAFE AND GENTLE horses at the Williams Livery. All good travelers and suitable for either young or old persons. J. W. Many things are to be considered many things are to be considered carefully. Natural fitness and inclination are important elements. The advice of parents should be considered. But in all walks of life, no matter how humble the pursuit may be, the foun-dation of success is embedded in good habits. Clean living, right thinking and plenty of action are the key note looking toward the rounding out of a useful, happy life.

BEN BOLT.

Oh, don't you remember sweet Alice, Ber Bolt, Sweet Alice, whose hair was so brown, Who wept with delight when you gave her a smile, And trembled with fear at your frown? In the old church-yard, in the valley, Ber Bolt.

gray, And sweet Alice lies under the stone.

Under the hickory tree, Ben Bolt,
Which stood at the foot of the hill,
Together we've lain in the noon-day shade
And listened to Appleton's mill.
The mill-wheel has fallen to pieces, Ben

you gaze,
Has followed the olden din,
And a quiet that crawls round the walls you gaze, Has followed the olden din.

Bolt,
With the master so kind and so true,
And the shaded nook by the running brook,
Where the fairest wild-flowers grew?
Grass grows on the master's grave, Ben

A few days later a tramp turns up with a pin, presumably a diamond, which he says he found. The farmer usually takes the balt and gets the pin mitting that he is conducting a business.

Divorce Expensive.

The taking of testimony in the sensa tional Hartje divorce case, which had been in progress for several weeks in Pittsburg, closed on Saturday and arman or woman finds the right toach travel. However it is much easier to follow the road of life if the individual ever tried in the Pittsburg courts, and it is estimated that by the time Judge Frazer hands down his opinion, which may not be for some weeks, Augustus and Mary Scott Hartje will have expended not less than $250,000 in the effort to have all marital relations severed. If either side appeals to the Supreme court this penditure will be greatly increased, as the printing of the Paper Book alone would reach fully two thousand dollars.

Among the heaviest expenditures were for securing handwriting experts —men of recognized ability—who invariably testified for the side by which they were employed. These experts received from $40 to $250 per day and expenses. One man, Carvalho, of New York, was paid $1,000 down and $250 a day, and he was in Pittsburg for three

The cost for detectives was enormous and the estimate of $100,000 for attorneys' fees is considered low.

Free Scholarships in Nurse Train-

The Philadelphia School for Nurses has purchased large properties at 2219-25 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, and will extend the benefits of the Free Course in Nursing to young women of every rural community and of the smaller towns and cities throughout the entire country.

The Course is two years, but may be shortened to eighteen months by six months' reading and study at home

The School provides room, board, nurse uniforms, gives full instruction, and pays the student's fare home at the

A special short course is provided for those who cannot spend two years in the study but who wish to quickly prepare themselves for self-support.

The object of those who are provid-ing the funds for this work is to ultimately extend the benefits of skilled nursing to every village and township in the land.

Nearly 200 Free Scholarships will be available this year.

Cure for Gossip.

"One Sunday night at church not so long ago," said a city employe, "the congregation was much disturbed during the singing of the hymn by a wom-John Sotach to Andrew Polack, in loud tones. At last the minister grew tired of the disturbance and devised a plan to put a stop to it. At a given signal, the choir was to stop singing abruptly. The plan worked all right, and everybody stopped at the sign, but one of the gossipers was unable to check herself so suddenly and was heard to say: 'I always fry mine in lard.' Then it was that the minister had his innings and in a clear, calm voice he announced: 'Now that we know she always fries hers in lard we know she always fries hers in lard, we will proceed with the singing,' the choir took up the hymn again, the gossiping woman looked red and uncomfortable and the rest of the congregation wore looks on their faces hardly in accordance with a charitable spirit."—Columbus Dispatch.

To Repair all Freight Engines.

It is reported at the beginning of next month every engine on the Con-nellsville Division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will be taken into the shops and given a thorough overhaul-ing, preparatory for the heavy winter traffic expected. It is generally be-lieved that tonnage records will be shattered on the division during the comming autumn and winter, and it is in anticipation of this that the engines will be overhauled. The Connellsville Division is in better shape to handle heavy traffic than ever before in its history. The immense freight engines placed in service during the past year are of enormous capacity, and these, with the engines that were displaced Note—"Ben Bolt" was first published by their introduction, gives the divi-
