Fits the Lunch! Fits the Pocket!

The Ideal Lunch Box represents the end of possibility in a Lunch Box, for the reason that it possesses every desirable feature that a Lunch Box can possess, and has more than one valuable advantage that no other lunch box ever had. It is strong and durable, and will give years of continued service. It is convenient to carry both in and out of use. It is attractive in appearance, and because of its being used for more purposes than one, it is a great relief to sensitive people who dislike the idea of being seen with a dinner basket. The Ideal Lunch Box is so low in price anyone can afford to buy it. Can be folded up in a moment to fit pocket, with no more inconvenience than an ordinary pocketbook. ROCHESTER LUNCH BOX MFG. Michael C. Lowry Succumbs to Tuberculosis After Long Siege of Suffering.

It is with much sorrow that we this week chronicle the death of Michael C. Lowry, who passed away at 11:15 p. m., last Friday, aged 34 years, 7 months and 24 days. He was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lowry, and like his parents, he was ever generous-hearted and open-handed. Michael had a host of warm friends who fondly hoped for his recovery, and at times the indications were that the hopes of his many friends would be realized. But the fates willed otherwise, and at the time aforesaid, the spirit of the deceased left the diseased, emaciated body, and suffering was changed to rest and repose.

It is generally believed that Mr. Lowry was afflicted with tuberculosis, but the disease seemed to afflict his stomach more than his lungs, and he battled with the disease about five years before the end came. After suffering a year or more, Mr. Lowry went to North Carolina, where he remained a couple of months, and after his return he seemed to be thoroughly cured. His health remained quite good for a year or more, but he made the fatal mistake one day to walk through Brooks tunnel with a friend who was out with him for a pleasure jaunt, and they found the tunnel full of gas and smoke, which affected Mr. Lowry's lungs, bringing on a hemorrhage. From that day he grew steadily worse until death claimed him.

The deceased was well known to many of our readers, and a few years ago he served as Burgess of Salisbury, to which office he was elected by a handsome majority. He was popular with all his acquaintances, and his death is mourned by all who knew him. Deceased is survived by his aged father, also by a brother, J. C. Lowry, Esq., of Somerset, and one sister, Mrs. Margaret Spaulding, of Alma, Mich. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. H. S. May, of St. John's Reformed church, and was attended by a large number of people.

Boynton Lad Meets Death Through Playing With Powder.

Last Friday evening a 13-year-old son of Wm. S. Darr, of Boynton, met with an accident that cost him his life. He and some other boys had been in the habit of playing pranks with mining powder, setting quantities of it off with mining squibs, etc., and while amusing themselves in that way they ignited more of the powder than they had intended to, causing an explosion that inflicted frightful burns on young Darr, from which he died the next day. He slightly would have escaped with only slight injuries, had it not been for the fact that he had a lot of powder in his pockets, which the explosion also ignited, setting fire to his clothes. Arthur Robertson was near by when the accident happened, and he at once went to the poor boy's rescue, tearing his burning clothes from him, which probably saved him from being burned to death then and there. Mr. Robertson burned his hands quite badly while trying to save the boy. Mr. Darr and family have the sympathy of the community in their distress. The remains of the boy were taken to Bedford county, Pa., for burial.

IN SELF DEFENSE

Major Hamm, editor and manager of the Constitutionalist, Eminence, Ky., when he was fiercely attacked, four years ago, by Piles, bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, of which he says: "It cured me in ten days and no trouble since." Likes the "Twinkler," but Thinks West Virginia Does not Agree With Him.

Our genial friend "Lon" Shumaker, manager of the Merchants Coal Company's store at Tunnelton, W. Va., writes as follows in making a remittance for this great family paper: "I beg to hand you check for $2.00 to apply on subscription to the 'Twinkler.' Talk about letters from home! They come to hand about once every six months, while THE STAR never fails to reach us every week, and gives us more news than our friends could possibly think of. Long may it twinkle! I am afraid this country does not agree with me, as I have fallen away to 208 pounds, and am still falling. Vivian, our youngest child, had been ill for about four weeks, but is improving rapidly, now. Hope you and family are well. Regards to all." Thank you very much, Alonzo, and may your shadow never grow less. As the Dutchman says, you are "not yoost so dick up an' down, over pooty vied out." Be sure to call at our den if ever you come our way. You'll be welcome, even if we have to saw a portion of the wall out to let you in.

GALVESTON'S SEA WALL makes life now as safe in that city as on the higher uplands. E. W. Goodloe, who resides on Dutton St., in Waco, Tex., needs no sea wall for safety. He writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption the past five years and it keeps me well and safe. Before that time I had a cough which for years had been growing worse. Now it's gone." Cures chronic Coughs, La Grippe, Croup, Whooping Cough and prevents Pneumonia. Pleasant to take. Every bottle guaranteed at E. H. Miller's drug store. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. 9-1

Some Amazing Facts About the Late Russell Sage.

Russell Sage died worth $100,000,000. He made $2,000,000 in one hour, selling gold.
Each of his suits of clothing cost him about $12, and he wore three suits a year.
His midday luncheon usually cost him 20 cents.
He made $555 when interest rates were high, by getting out of a sick bed to loan money.
When a bomb was thrown at him in 1901, he used Walter Laidlaw, a clerk, as a shield. Laidlaw was injured and sued him. Sage won.
"The vacation habit," he said, "is the outgrowth of abnormal or distorted business methods."
When a MAN TELLS YOU it does not pay to advertise, he is simply admitting that he is conducting a business that is not worth advertising, a business conducted by a man unfit to do business, and a business which should be advertised for sale. tf

For Hay Fever.

To the Editor of The Gazette Times.
Sir: Hay fever season is almost here with its hindrances, annoyances and suffering. After 30 years of its periodical attacks, I have found a remedy. Its very simplicity makes it seem to be almost absurd. If just now, in its incipient state, the patient will relieve the congested, watery condition of his head by means of alum held between the lips and the gums, he will ward off the attack. He should give himself this treatment once a day for about ten days, and add to this a free use of lemons and mild cathartics.
My home was in Pittsburgh. I contracted hay fever there and had it in its most severe form, always ending with an attack of asthma. I have tried every known remedy, but without avail. I find the alum to be a perfect remedy. I know there are at least 1,000 persons in your city suffering from this disease whom I would gladly help.

IN SUMMER.

Why does the sun burn? Why does a mosquito sting? Why do we feel unhappy in the Good Old Summer Time? Answer: we don't. We use DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, and these little ills don't bother us. Learn to look for the name of E. C. DeWitt & Co. on the box, to get the genuine. Should be kept handy. Sold by E. H. Miller. 9-1

The Carrier Pigeon.

One day a carrier pigeon tapped at the window of Mrs. Nansen's home at Christiania. Instantly the window was opened, and the wife of the famous arctic explorer in another moment covered a little messenger with kisses and caresses.
The carrier pigeon had been away from the cottage thirty long months, but had not forgotten the way home. It brought a note from Nansen, stating that all was going well with his expedition in the polar regions.
Nansen had fastened a message to the bird and turned it loose.
The frail courier darted out into the blizzard air, flew like an arrow over perhaps a thousand miles of frozen waste, and then over another thousand miles of ocean and plains and forests, to enter the window of its waiting mistress and deliver the message which she had been awaiting so anxiously.
We boast of human pluck, sagacity and endurance, but this loving carrier pigeon, after an absence of thirty months accomplished a feat so wonderful that we can only give ourselves up to amazement and admiration.—Ex.

"Baby Talk" Harmful.

"If parents would begin to speak English to a child as soon as he can talk, instead of some absurd 'baby-talk' lingo, the work of a primary school teacher would be lightened by half," said one of them recently. "Half the children who start going to school don't understand what you are saying to them, and it adds to their terror in their strange surroundings, and to the work of the instructors. One little boy whom I have just transferred, impressed me at his first appearance here as one of the dullest children I had ever encountered. I soon found what the trouble was. The boy was the only child of a widow, who made him her constant companion and never spoke a word to him that was intelligible to any one else. All food was known to him as 'doodie,' chairs as 'rakker' and money as 'kip.' It took that poor child two years to learn enough of the right English to be transferred from my grade to the next."—Washington Post.

The Editor Ship Wrecked.

The editor sat in his office whence all but him had fled, and he wished that every last deadbeat was in his grave—stone dead. His mind then wandered far away to the time when he should die, and his royal editorial soul got scooting to the sky; when he'd roam the fields of paradise and sail o'er Jasper seas, and all things glorious would combine his every sense to please. He thought how then he'd look across the great gulf dark and drear, that'll yawn between his happy soul and those who swindled here, and when for water they would call, and in agony they'd caper, he'd shout to them: "Just quench your thirst with the 'due' that's on your paper."—Ex.
