Joseph Horner, a prominent resident of Somerset, lies at his home in a serious condition. He has cancer of the stomach, and his recovery is not looked for. Mr. Horner served two terms as County Commissioner, and he is a brother of Daniel J. Horner, former Associate Judge of the Somerset county court. The Conneville Courier is authority for the statement that Mr. Horner has cancer.

A Confluence reader writes that our editorials are getting "too dam smart" and are making the Democrats up that way real mad. We didn't know there were any Democrats in Somerset county. We understand there are a few Bryan men there, and, of course, we know that a few Bryan men can make a heap of noise. But we didn't think any Bryan man would endorse President Roosevelt's spelling reform.—Conneville Courier.

Mr. Whitacre, of West Salisbury, who has a very bright little girl bereft of hearing and speech, will take the child to the Edgewood Park school for the deaf, near Pittsburg, next Sunday. That is a wise move on the part of the parents, for the Edgewood Park school is one of the finest schools for the deaf in the world. Pupils who finish the course of study there get a good, practical education in all the common school branches, and the institution turns out many very bright men and women.

C. H. Jennings, President of our street railway company, passed through Salisbury, Tuesday afternoon, en route to a Philadelphia hospital, where he will take treatment for severe injuries sustained a couple of weeks ago while driving from Grantsville to his home at Jennings, Md., where he and J. P. Shirk were both thrown from their buggy by the team becoming unmanageable and colliding with a fence. We trust that both gentlemen will completely recover from their injuries at an early date.

Prof. Tyler, of Amherst college, said recently: "A man can live comfortably without brains; no man ever existed without a digestive system. The dyspeptic has neither faith, hope or charity." Day by day people realize the importance of caring for their digestion; realize the need of the use of a little corrective after overeating. A corrective like Kodol For Dyspepsia. It digests what you eat. Sold by E. H. Miller.

A peculiar coincidence in deaths occurred near Dubuque, last Monday night. Sixty-one years ago this summer, George Haberkorn and John Boemecke came to this country from Germany, in the same vessel, and located on farms within one mile of each other, in Dubuque county, where they have been neighbors and the warmest of friends for 61 years. Both have been ailing for a few weeks past, and at exactly twelve o'clock, Monday night, both passed away, each leaving a family of ten children, all living.—Lanark (Ill.) Gazette.

A youth came to Cumberland from a rural district to clerk in a store. His friends told him before he left home that he had better be on the lookout, as the town people would try to guy him. He had only been in the store a few days when a man stepped in and asked for some bird seed. The youth looked at his customer and smiled. The customer grew angry and wanted to know what was the matter with the clerk. The latter chuckled and said: "You can't fool me. I know that birds grow from eggs and not from seeds," says the Cumberland Courier.

The Salisbury borough and Elk Lick township schools opened last Monday with a large attendance. In the township the fool vaccination law will be sensibly ignored, as usual, but with a few vaccination cranks in the school board, and at least one in our corps of teachers, here in the borough, parents are insulted and children tortured and poisoned as heretofore in order that doctorcraft may flourish and its greed feed fat upon the helpless children. For the good of our schools and the public health, it is about time to get rid of the fanatics who impress the helpless children as heartless wretches by enforcing a law that's a crime against God and man.

Veterans' Reunion at Gettysburg. The 133d Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, will hold its annual reunion at Gettysburg, October 3. At the same time and place the 54th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry will hold its annual gathering.

WHEN WE ARE IN A HURRY. In these days of rush and hurry courtesy is often forgotten. In the mad, pell mell rush of our life little things are done to offend that we rather remained undone. A hastily eaten meal and its resultant headache may cause us social or financial loss. The wise man or woman is the one who relieves little ills of this sort by a little dose of Kodol For Dyspepsia. It digests what you eat and puts your stomach back into shape. Sold by E. H. Miller.

Prohibition County Convention. The Prohibition County convention is hereby called to meet in the Court House, Somerset, Pa., Sept. 20, 1906, at 1 p. m., for the purpose of nominating two candidates for the Assembly, one for Jury Commissioner and one for Director of the Poor.

DON'T BE SORE. Be sure you get DeWitt's. Good for everything, a salve is used for, including piles. DeWitt's is the original Witch Hazel Salve and the best. You want DeWitt's. Sold by E. H. Miller.

THE ELECTRIC ROAD. Grading Now in Active Operation Between Meyersdale and Salisbury.

Road to Be Pushed to Completion With All Possible Speed.

Last Saturday morning a small force of graders and a team were put to work on the trolley line that is soon to connect Salisbury with Meyersdale. The men were started just outside of the borough limits of Salisbury, working northward. More men and more teams have since been added, and each day the working force is a little larger. The grade is already completed to the bluff back of John M. Write's farm buildings, and the work will be pushed to completion with all possible speed. However, just how soon the cars will be running depends largely upon the weather. If winter sets in at the usual time, the road will not likely be in operation before some time next spring. But if enough men can be secured, and we have a mild, open winter, there is a possibility of having the cars running by the 1st of next January.

With a power house and one bridge to build, as well as grading, laying track, erecting poles, etc., it will be seen at a glance that it would be a big undertaking to try to complete the road by Jan. 1st, even under the most favorable circumstances. Therefore we must have patience, but that the road will be completed at the very earliest possible moment, we have every assurance.

THE BREATH OF LIFE.

It's a significant fact that the strongest animal of its size, the gorilla, also has the largest lungs. Powerful lungs means powerful creatures. How to keep the breathing organs right should be man's chiefest study. Like thousands of others, Mrs. Ora A. Stephens, of Port Williams, O., has learned how to do this. She writes: "Three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery stopped my cough of two years and cured me of what my friends thought consumption. O, it's grand for throat and lung troubles." Guaranteed by E. H. Miller, druggist. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

An Automobile Wreck and Some of the Remarks It Brought Forth.

On Tuesday evening while Dr. McMillen, of Meyersdale, was on his way home from Salisbury in an automobile, a broken axle caused his machine to leave the road and crash into a picket fence a short distance north of this town.

Fortunately for the doctor, but perhaps unfortunately for drivers of teams and others who also have rights on the public highways, he escaped unhurt. When the accident happened, the doctor was violating the law by exceeding the speed limit prescribed by law, and also by not having his automobile lamps lit. The accident happened after dusk, when automobilists are required by law to have their lamps lit.

As soon as the news of the accident reached town, it was amusing to hear the expressions of the people. "It's a pity he didn't break his infernal, worthless neck," and other remarks of a similar nature were freely made.

This paper is a friend of the automobile, but it has no use for the automobile fool who shows little or no regard for the rights of others who use the public roads, and we regret to say that much complaint has been coming to our ears concerning certain automobilists who seem to take a fiendish delight in frightening teams and endangering the lives of persons riding in buggies and other vehicles.

The sensible automobilist is at all times a gentleman, and takes every precaution to avoid frightening horses and causing accidents. It is a lamentable fact, however, that not all automobilists are gentlemen, and there seems to be an unusual amount of complaint against Dr. McMillen and Tom Gurley, who conducts a blackjack store or some such joint in Meyersdale.

In justice to McMillen and Gurley, we must say that we have never seen any of their alleged high-handed capers, except McMillen's exceeding the speed limit and not having his lights lit, Tuesday evening. However, the complaints that reach us seem to be well founded, and if true, McMillen and Gurley will get something one of these days that they will not relish, as certain parties are said to be prepared to make angels of them or prepare them for a long visit to a hospital.

STARVING TO DEATH.

Because her stomach was so weakened by useless drugging that she could not eat, Mrs. Mary H. Walters, of St. Clair St., Columbus, O., was literally starving to death. She writes: "My stomach was so weak from useless drugs that I could not eat, and my nerves so wrecked that I could not sleep; and not before I was given up to die was I induced to try Electric Bitters; with the wonderful result that improvement began at once, and a complete cure followed." Best health tonic on earth. 50c. Guaranteed by E. H. Miller, druggist.
