Someday around the house is pretty sure to get a bump or a knock every day, and quick comfort comes to those who are wise enough to have a bottle of our Nerve and Bone Liniment handy.

Editor Bishop Makes Correction.

MEYERSDALE, PA., Nov. 8, 1906.
P. L. Livengood, Salisbury, Pa.
Dear Sir and Friend:—I write you to make an apology for a statement that I made editorially in today's Republican, and which I just discovered. I say that but three papers in the county were for the Republican ticket, and enumerate them, and leave you out in the matter. It is an error in statement that I regret, and I hasten to make a proper apology to you, for most certainly THE STAR and its editor were true to the party, and to their friends in this county.

I therefore humbly crave your pardon in the matter. Fraternally yours,
G. E. BISHOP.

Brother Bishop's explanation is entirely satisfactory, so far as THE STAR is concerned, providing he publishes it in his paper, next week. But we claim he also owes the Turkeyfoot News an apology, for that paper supported the Republican ticket as loyally as any of us. Honor to all whom honor is due.

In addition to what we have already said, it may be well enough to state the additional fact that a few days prior to the election it was openly boasted by some of the Fusionists of this town that not more than four straight Republican votes would be polled in Salisbury borough, and that those would be voted by Albert Lowry, Howard Meager, W. B. Stevanus and the editor of THE STAR. Well, we considered that a fine compliment to the four persons named, but there were other loyal ones, too, although not as many as there should have been.

Trolley Grade Completed.

The trolley line grade between Salisbury and Meyersdale was completed this week, and work on the power house at Boynton is progressing rapidly.

Now, if the company could only get the rails at once, the track would be laid within the next few weeks. It is hard to tell just how soon the rails can be secured, as all the rolling mills in the country are overstocked with orders, owing to the great prosperity that the Republican party has given the country ever since the close of the last Democratic soup house administration. However, the road will be completed and in operation at an early date next spring, if not sooner. The cars are contracted for, and the only delay the company has to contend with is in having its rail order filled.

HURRAH! HURRAH!

Hip, Hip, Let 'er Rip, the G. O. P.
Still Salls the Ship!
Whoop, whoop! Hip, hip!
Now let 'er rip!
With pen and tongue
And iron lung
And megaphone
Of thund'rous tone,
And pound—pound! pom!—
The big bass drum,
Because we see
The G. O. P.
On top today
And booked to stay.
The greatest this of days and dates,
Hurrah for these United States!

Hip, hip! Whoop, whoop!
The Bryan group
Of kickers lies
Collapsed, to rise
And howl no more.
Its bovine roar
Is hushed for keeps.
Of all clean sweeps
'Er made, this ranks
The first and yanks
The belt. The Grand
Old Party's hand
Prevails and makes marauders flee.
Hurrah, then, for the G. O. P.!

Hip, whoop! Great Scott
But it was hot.
Hearst's yellowjork
Made old New York
Look shaky. Here
Lew Emery's queer,
Unwholesome crew
Made things look blue.
But Hearst fell down
And missed the crown.
And Emery struck
The bogs and stuck
Therein. Both states proved staunch and wise.
Hurrah, then, for these old stand-bys!

Hip, whoop and 'rah!
Likewise ha! ha!
The lads that fuse
Are in the blues.
Their gibes and jeers
Give place to tears.
With many a pang
The Bryan gang
Receives the news;
Hearst licked by Hughes
And Emery's horde
By Stuart floored.
Thus Rooseveltism prevails once more.
Hurrah for Roosevelt ten times o'er!
—Pittsburg Gazette Times.

A YEAR OF BLOOD.

The year of 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tackett, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tackett's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me to death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored, and as time has proven, permanently cured." Guaranteed for Sore Lungs, Coughs and Colds, at E. H. Miller's drug store. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. 12-1

Wabash Surveyors at Work.

A number of civil engineers in the employ of the Wabash railroad have located at Downey, and their purpose in that locality is to make surveys to be submitted to the proper department of that company who will decide upon the most feasible route to cross the Alleghenies in order to reach their eastern extension at Cumberland. The men themselves are very reticent as to what they expect to do in that locality, and it is yet too early to hazard any conjectures as to the route most likely to be taken up. It appears that the route via Meyersdale is by no means a settled thing, notwithstanding the rumors of rights-of-way being taken up in that section.—Somerset Democrat.

Crude Thoughts As They Fall From the Editorial Pen—Pleasant Evening Reveries.

Home Circle Department.

A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers As They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

If there is one thing above another a young man should be ashamed of doing, it is loafing without aim or purpose or profit, on the streets or in stores, day after day, all week. If you have nothing to do, stay at home—a part of the time at any rate. No young man with any self respect will content himself with aspiring to no higher reputation than that of a chronic loafer and store box magnate. Nothing will so blunt the higher faculties of the mind as inactivity; and no inactivity is so baneful and malevolent in its effect as that voluntary idleness termed loafing.

TEACH OBEDIENCE.

Many a passionate child rules the household. The little baby on its mother's knee goes into a passion because its dinner is withheld from him, or some toy denied him. He shrieks, and strikes his mother, and the mother says: "Poor little boy, he has such a passionate nature; he can't be crossed," and yields to him. She ought to spank him—spank him hard—for being in a passion, and give him nothing till his passion had cooled. The child, though he is so young that he cannot speak, if he is old enough to lift his fist and strike a blow, deserves punishment, needs to have a lesson of repression taught it. The mother who neglects this increases the chances of her son's going to the gallows. When the child is older, there are better disciplinary punishments than spanking, but when the child reaches such an age that they are useful, it may be too late, his temper may have grown into a dominating force in his character that cannot be eradicated. Mothers sometimes say when a child shows a vile temper and shrieks a good deal, that it would endanger his life to punish him; perhaps so, but you still more endanger his future if you don't punish him. Many a gallows tragedy has had its beginning on the mother's lap. We wish we could write it in imperishable, glowing letters on the walls of every home—obedience, obedience, obedience! Obedience to law—to household law; to parental authority; unquestioning, instant, exact obedience. Obedience in the family; obedience in the school! Wherever, from the beginning, from the first glimmering intelligence in the child, there is expression of law, let there be taught respect for it and obedience to it. It is the royal road to virtue, to good citizenship, it is the only road.

HAVE SOME ENJOYMENT.

How much better to use some of the good things of life as we go along; to make our humble homes as cheery and bright as possible now. Do not starve today, either body, mind or soul, thinking that poverty will knock at your door tomorrow. Don't hoard and scrimp through all the best years of your life that you may be generous in your will. Life is uncertain, and it is better to make your children happy while they are under the home roof; to call to that home every agency that will make their lives sweeter and better, than to deny them these that you may leave them a large account when you are gone. It will be too late for them to return kindness to you then. Don't keep the parlor shut up and live in the kitchen, unless you want the boys and girls to be anxious to leave you. Don't think they must not go anywhere but to Sunday school and prayer meeting; remember you were young once yourself. Do not ask them to walk two miles to a singing or lecture after working hard all day, when there are two or three horses in your barn that would enjoy the trip as much as they. For God's sake show them you think as much of them as you do of your beasts, if not more.

Take time to enjoy the society of your friends, especially the companionship of your children; it will only be a few years at the best that they will be with you, and these ought to be years of happiness to both you and them. Would you not rather have them look back when out in the world to that blessed home (though it may not have been a mansion) where they received more joy and comfort than the world can afford, than to have them forget home in a week and hardly return to your burial? If we are ever happy in this life we must enjoy what every day brings. We should be grateful and glad for all the good that comes into our lives, and patiently bear our trials.

HOME.

Too many of us are looking forward to happiness in the future years instead of getting all the enjoyment possible out of the present. It is well to remember that the time never will come, in this world, when we shall have everything we want just where and when we want it. The only way to be happy is to enjoy all we have to the utmost as we go along. It is right to lay up for old age in youth; right to prepare for a rainy day, but it is not right to bend all our energies to this end and put off until the future the happiness we might enjoy every day. It is very common to see people working and saving, denying themselves all recreation and many comforts, to lay up money to buy more land, to enlarge their stock (to save for their children) thinking that when they have accomplished this they will be happy and begin to take comfort. The hoped-for point may never be attained, or if it is, sickness or death may have come first, and the dear ones whom we expected to be happy with may be gone forever.

GO HOME, BOYS.

Boys, don't hang around the corners of the streets. If you have anything to do, do it promptly, right off, then go home. Home is the place for boys. About the street corners and at the stables they learn to talk slang, and they learn to swear, to smoke tobacco and to do many other things which they ought not to do.

Do your business and then go home. If your business is play, play and make a business of it. We like to see boys play good, earnest, healthful games. If we were the Town Council we would give the boys a good, spacious playground, if we could. It would have plenty of green grass and trees and fountains, and broad spaces to run and jump and play suitable games in. We would make it pleasant, as lovely as it could be, and we would give it to the boys to play in, and when the game was ended we would tell them to go home.

The new Pure Food and Drug Law will mark it on the label of every Cough Cure containing Opium, Chloroform, or any other stupefying or poisonous drug. But it passes Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure as made for 20 years, entirely free. Dr. Shoop all along has bitterly opposed the use of all opiates or narcotics. Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is absolutely safe, even for the youngest babe—and it cures, it does not simply suppress. Get a safe and reliable Cough Cure, by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's. Let the law be your protection. We cheerfully recommend and sell it. Elk Lick Pharmacy. 12-1

THE CALF PATH.

SAM WALTER FOSS.

(By Request.)

One day through the primeval wood
A calf walked home as good calves should;
But made a trail all bent askew,
A crooked trail as all calves do.
Since then three hundred years have fled,
And I infer the calf is dead.
But still he left behind his trail,
And thereby hangs my moral tale.
The trail was taken up next day
By a lone dog that passed that way;
And then a wise bell-wether sheep
Pursued the trail o'er vale and steep,
And drew the flock behind him, too,
As good bell-wethers always do.
And from that day, o'er hill and glade,
Through those old woods a path was made.

And many men wound in and out,
And dogged and turned and bent about.
And uttered words of righteous wrath
Because 'twas such a crooked path;
But still they followed—do not laugh—
The first migrations of that calf.
And through this winding wood-way stalked
Because he wobbled when he walked.

This forest path became a lane,
That bent and turned and turned again.
This crooked lane became a road,
Where many a poor horse, with his load
Toiled on beneath the burning sun,
And traveled some three miles in one.
And thus a century and a half
They trod the footsteps of that calf.

The years passed on in swift fleet,
The road became a village street;
And this, before men were aware,
A city's crowded thoroughfare,
And soon the central street was this
Of a renowned metropolis;
And men two centuries and a half
Trod in the footsteps of that calf.
Each day a hundred thousand rout
Followed this zigzag calf about,
And o'er his crooked journey went
The traffic of a continent.
A hundred thousand men were led
By one calf near three centuries dead.
They followed still his crooked way,
And lost one hundred years a day;
For thus such reverence is lent
A well-established precedent.
A moral lesson this might teach,
Were I ordained and called to preach:
For men are prone to go it blind
Along the calf-path of the mind,
And work away from sun to sun
To do what other men have done.
They follow in the beaten track,
And out and in, and forth, and back,
And still their devious course pursue.
To keep the path that others do.
They keep the path a sacred groove,
Along which all their lives they move.
But how the wise old wood-gods laugh,
Who saw the first primeval calf.
Ah, many things this tale might teach—
But I am not ordained to preach.
