and off the antegen constants of popularly known as the Standard Oil Trust.
 The companies named as defendants are the Ohio Oil Company, Solar Refining Company, Buckeye Pipe Line Company and the Standard Oil Company of Ohio.
 The petitions allege the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey owns and controls all of the stock of these four companies except an amount necessary to maintain a directorate and a corporate existence in Ohio. It is further alleged that the control of these companies is exercised in restraint of trade and in contravention of the anti-trusts laws of the State. The petitions ask the court to oust the four companies from their assumed rights to permit their stock to be controlled by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and that they be prevented from continuing their occupations as auxiliaries of the so-called oil trust, and for such other relief as may be deemed proper under the laws of Ohio.
 The suits are the outgrowth of the trial of the case against the Standard Oil Company at Findlay, during which the facts alleged against the subsidiary companies were brought out.
