

Cures Woman's Weaknesses.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John Fyfe, one of the Editorial Staff of THE ELECTRIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Helonias (Helonias Dioica) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator... makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues "in Helonias we have a medication which more fully answers the above purpose than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. Fyfe further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back with leucorrhoea; atonic weakness of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhoea (suppressed or absent monthly period); absence of normal menstruation; abnormal condition of the digestive organs and general debility, arising from a draining of the system in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says: "It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb, in all catarrhal conditions, and general debility, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root: "In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal: "Valuable in uterine leucorrhoea, menorrhagia (flooding) and congestive dysmenorrhoea (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

Feat in Bricklaying.

In the erection of the House of Representatives office building, adjacent to the United States Capitol at Washington, an interesting feat has developed in connection with the brick masonry work. The first brick was laid at the site on the afternoon of July 5, 1905, and on July 3, 1906, there had been laid in the walls 11,000,000 brick. This is believed to be the greatest number of brick laid on any one building in one year in the United States, and probably in the world. One of the causes conducing to this record-breaking feat was the remarkably "open" winter of 1905-'06. In those winter months the work continued almost without interruption from either snow or cold, and not more than 12 or 15 days were lost during the entire winter by reason of weather conditions.—Scientific American.

TEN YEARS OF PAIN.

Unable to Do Even Housework Because of Kidney Troubles.

Mrs. Margaret Emmerich, of Clinton St., Napoleon, O., says: "For fifteen years I was a great sufferer from kidney troubles. My back pained me terribly. Every turn or move caused sharp, shooting pains. My eyesight was poor, dark spots appeared before me, and I had dizzy spells. For ten years I could not do housework, and for two years did not get out of the house. The kidney secretions were irregular, and doctors were not helping me. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me quick relief, and finally cured me. They saved my life."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Worth More Than Real Coin.

A well-known photographer who recently paid into his bank a sovereign which appeared to be much worn was astonished a short time afterward to find that its value had been credited to him at 21 shillings. It appears that on reaching the mint the coin was discovered to be a clever counterfeit made of platinum heavily gilt. At the time at which it is supposed to have been made it was worth about seven and sixpence, but at the present price of platinum a sovereign's weight of that ponderous metal is worth much more than a sovereign's weight of gold.—Amateur Photographer.

The members of the new Persian Parliament will be elected by the votes of all male Persians between the ages of 20 and 70 who are able to read and write, are not in the service of the State, and have not been convicted of crime.

MUSCULAR AILMENTS

The Old-Monk-Cure will straighten out a contracted muscle in a jiffy.

ST. JACOBS OIL

Don't play possum with pain, but tend strictly to business. Price 25c and 50c

EPWORTH LEAGUE LESSONS

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 9.

Association Unto Salvation.—Matt. 11. 19.

Daily Readings.

A disciple won from an unpromising source.—Luke 19. 5-10.

A friend of former days brought to Jesus.—Luke 5. 29-32.

Warnings against contamination.—Lev. 18. 3; Num. 33. 55; Deut. 12. 30.

Must be properly armed when among the wicked.—Prov. 2. 11.

Our mission is to the transgressors.—Ezek. 2. 3-5.

Power of association in domestic life.—1 Cor. 7. 12-16.

We are so constantly being warned against unworthy companionships that it is well to have somewhat on the other side to maintain a proper balance of teaching. There are circumstances that justify association with those whom to copy would be ruinous to our own characters. For, first, it is our mission to the world to replace the leaves of wickedness with the leaves of goodness; to make flowers and fruits to grow in the place of briars and nettles. So Jesus mingled in the social affairs of life, even to the scandal of the hypocritical Pharisees, who said, "Behold a man who goes about with the wicked, and eateth and drinketh with them." But wherever Jesus went the people were made thoughtful of spiritual things, and were turned in lesser or larger degree from their evil ways. After the Master spoke to him, Zachaeus said: "Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I (hereby) give to the poor," and so on, showing a thoroughly penitential condition of heart.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson quotes from the diary of George Ticknor somewhat concerning that traveler's visit to the drawing room of the famous philanthropist.

"I always regret because I had been in the midst of influences which ought to have made me better." A man of less admirable character would no doubt have felt in some measure the same inspiration toward goodness.

The mission workers, deaconesses, and Salvationists go down among the vilest and come back without stain, having gone forth enveloped with the heavenly atmosphere of their vocation. If we will "associate with the votaries of folly only to reclaim them," we shall be likely to escape contagion. Let us be sure of our motives.

FINANCE AND TRADE REVIEW

TRADE WELL MAINTAINED

Further Improvement in Mercantile Conditions—Distribution of Staples on Large Scale.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Business was interrupted by the Thanksgiving holiday, but conditions warranted more than ever before a day devoted to grateful recognition. In all departments of agricultural, industrial and mercantile activity the current year is surpassing even the phenomenal record of 1905, which in turn eclipsed all preceding years.

Reprints from leading cities indicate that trade was well maintained during the past week, and further improvement is noted in mercantile conditions. Holiday goods continue to occupy a position of prominence, but distribution of staples is on a large scale. Leading manufacturing industries are receiving orders for delivery far into next year, the volume of forward business being exceptional for iron and steel products, and a sharp advance in the price of raw cotton testifies to the consumption by spinners.

Operations continue at the maximum in pig iron furnaces, yet deliveries are so unsatisfactory that imports are constantly arranged. Confidence in well maintained consumption is evidenced by purchases abroad for delivery next year, and demands from the United States have advanced foreign quotations.

In the primary markets for cotton goods there is increasing difficulty regarding satisfactory deliveries, and the depleted condition makes replenishment imperative. Quiet conditions prevail in the woolen goods market, although inquiries surpass expectations.

Less activity is noted in the hide market, due to the over-bought condition rather than any lack of inquiries. Strength and quiet continues to characterize the leather market. The light demand from shoe manufacturers in this vicinity is attributed to the inventories usually taken at this time.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities of commercial failure thus far reported for November amounted to $9,609,901, of which $2,957,968 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading, and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

Liabilities