Holds That Provisions of Federal Con stitution Would Not Allow Tax to Be Levied.

Both branches of the West Virginia legislature were in session for a short time on the 10th during which the Governor's message was received.

The message proposes further restrictions on tax levying bodies, the creation of a new source of revenue changes in the methods of taxing banks, the regulation by law of po litical parties, nomination of all candi including those for United States Senator, by the primary elec-tion system; amendments of the in-surance laws, regulation of the pro-duction of gas, creation of a board of managers for State institutions and the enlargement of the Senate. One extract from the message follows: "I take it we could not, in the face of the provision of the Federal Constitution, levy any tax on natural gas for the purpose of preventing its be ing taken from beyond our State; and that we could not do any other act which would interfere with the power of Congress over inter-State com-
