Widows of veterans are not entitled to any increased pension under the new pension law. A false impression has become current that they are so entitled, but in fact widows are in no way affected by the new law. One feature of the new law may not be known to all the veterans. The third section provides: That no pension attorney, claim agent, or other person shall be entitled to receive any compensation for services rendered in presenting any claim to the bureau of pensions or securing any pension under this act.

There are, and always have been people pretty well blessed (or cursed, we don't know which) with this world's goods, who, with all their means, are very cheap guys. The particular class to which we refer seem to think that a country newspaper man is invariably an easy mark or a cheap guy like themselves, and in consideration of a little, measly newspaper subscription, grudgingly given, they expect an editor to frequently devote a considerable portion of his newspaper space to publishing society items in which the aforesaid class figure prominently, but which is nothing but "tommyrot" and slobber in the estimation of the average newspaper reader. It is all right to make mention of commonplace society matters in a short, concise way as a matter of news, and the average newspaper man is ever willing to devote a reasonable portion of his space to such matter. But when a big, self-laudatory write-up is expected, the persons seeking the notoriety should be willing to pay for it. But some designing grafters and cheap skates seem to think that all that is necessary is to send a check for a subscription and a marked newspaper article or a lot of poorly written manuscript as a hint as to what they expect in the way of self-laudation at the hands of the editor of the home paper. That kind of a broad hint may bring the desired result at some print shops, but it won't go here. We cannot make a living by devoting a whole lot of our space to the doings of codfish aristocracy.

NEW POLICEMAN HIRED.

Last night the Town Council met in special session for the purpose of hiring a policeman. A half dozen or more persons had applied for the position, and it required eight ballots before any of the candidates could muster enough votes to be elected.

George B. Walker was elected on the eight ballot by a unanimous vote, at a salary of $45.00 per month. He was hired for one year, the Council reserving the right to discharge him at any time, if his services should prove unsatisfactory.

There is no use in trying to conceal the fact that the selection of Walker is a very unpopular one, and judging from the comment that is heard on all sides, the majority of the people of this town are simply furious over the result, for the successful candidate has been tried as extra policeman in times past, and it seems to be the general opinion that he has proven himself a miserable failure.

However, we do not blame Walker for going after the job, for it no longer seems to be the desire to hire a policeman in Salisbury for anything but ornamental purposes, and as an object on which to squander the taxpayers' money. It used to be that a policeman in this town was required to earn his salary, but that day has gone by, and we congratulate George Walker on landing a soft snap for himself. Many people seem to think that if a policeman was to be hired merely for dress parade, that "Barney" Krause should have been given the job, arguing that he is a better-looking man than Walker. But there are differences of opinion as to that.

Some of the defeated candidates feel pretty sore, not so much on account of not getting the police job as on account of the discovery that some of their pretended friends who urged them to apply, shamefully and sneakily played the Judas act with them, going back on their promises and showing that their estimate on the value of honor is very low when such pretended friends have an ax to grind and are in a position to make a few flunkies turn the grindstone.

But, let us all hope for the best, and if George B. Walker proves himself a good and efficient officer, now that he is the head of the police force, he will have no supporter more loyal than The STAR.

TRUTH ABOUT GAME LAWS.

A writer for an exchange very truthfully says it seems that the farmer and land owner count for nothing in game legislation. The rabbits may destroy all his young trees and eat up his garden, the squirrels may cut off all of his apples before they are ripe and carry off his shellbarks and chestnuts before he can gather them, while minks, weasels, polecats and opossums may feast on his poultry galore, and yet if the proposed law passes he will not be permitted to go in search of them even on his own land, unless he pays a dollar license. It seems to us that about all he will be permitted to do will be to pay his taxes and listen to some other fellow's gun cracking away and playing havoc with the game, while the farmers are too busy getting away the crops to even stop and shoot a rabbit or see a squirrel. The city hunter who pays no taxes in many instances will deplete the crop of game, and by the time the farmer gets a spare moment to hunt, there is no use in hunting any more.

All this is true, and the kind of a game law that Pennsylvania needs is one that will give the farmer the right to pump every city sportsman full of buckshot that he catches on his land, as nine-tenths of them are a menace to the lives of the farmers, their families and their live stock, and there isn't a bigger nuisance in any rural community than the annual crop of city dudes, thugs and pimps that come out into the country to hunt.

SAVED HER SON'S LIFE.

The happiest mother in the little town of Ava, Mo., is Mrs. S. Ruppee. She writes: "One year ago my son was down with such serious lung trouble that our physician was unable to help him; when, by our druggist's advice I began giving him Dr. King's New Discovery, and I soon noticed improvement. I kept this treatment up for a few weeks when he was perfectly well. He has worked steadily since at carpenter work. Dr. King's New Discovery saved his life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure by E. H. Miller, Druggist. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. 4-1

NEW DESIGNS ON COINS.

For the first time in fifty years the design on the gold coins of the United States are to be changed. This is the decision of the President, who, under the law, may do as he likes regarding such designs, providing that they shall not be changed oftener than once in twenty-five years, and that on each coin there shall appear an emblem of liberty, the year of the coinage and the words "E pluribus unum." Beyond being bound by this general description, the President can make any change that suits his fancy.

President Roosevelt believes that the gold coins now in use are not artistic, and in discussing the matter with the officials of the Treasury Department, he decided to consult an artist. As a result, appropriate designs are being prepared which will be submitted to the Executive for his approval, and to guide him in the selection of a suitable stamp. It is believed he will appoint a commission of officials to assist him in selecting the proper one. Nothing will be done with the silver coins now in circulation, as the emblems on them have been in use only a few years.

PENNSYLVANIA PENSIONERS.

Under the operation of the McCumber pension bill it is estimated by General St. Clare Mulholland, pension agent, at Philadelphia, that veterans in the state will receive an additional $2,000,000 annually.

Pennsylvania heads the pension list, having 98,820 veterans and widows on the list. This is nearly one-tenth of the total number of pensioners in all states, territories and foreign countries, the total number being 980,800.

While the advocates of the bill argued that it would not increase the annual expenditures in pensioners by more than $15,000,000, General Mulholland estimates that the total increase will be nearer $20,000,000, and that Pennsylvania will come in for 10 per cent. of this.

THE NEXT PRIMARY ELECTION.

Law Requires that Nominations for County Officials Be Made in June.

The next primary election, which must be generally observed over the entire state, will be held the first Saturday in June, and is known as the Spring Primary. At this election all candidates for offices to be filled at the general election in November, with the exception of those nominated by National or State Conventions, will be nominated, as well as the officers of the various political parties. As at the January primaries, the Commissioners are required under the act to provide ballot boxes, official ballots for different political parties, and all other supplies. The election will be conducted by the regular election officers, and the polls will be open from 2 in the afternoon to 8 in the evening, and from 1 to 9 o'clock p. m., all licensed places will be closed. The election officers receive one-half pay for their services, which is paid by the County Treasurer, who in turn receives the money from the State Treasurer.

Persons desiring to become candidates for State offices must file petitions with the Secretary of the Commonwealth at least four weeks prior to June 1, and in all other cases at least three weeks before June 1, with County Commissioners. The petitions must be signed by voters representing the party proposed politically, viz.: For members of Congress, Judges of courts and State Senators, 200 qualified electors, and for Representatives and officers to be voted for by the entire county, fifty qualified electors.

One of the changes which goes into effect at the June primary is, "that no elector shall be permitted to receive any assistance in marking his ballot unless he shall first make an affidavit that he cannot read the names on the ballot, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot." Next year, on account of its being the Presidential year, this primary will be held the second Saturday of April.

A SENSIBLE DECISION.

If the following, which we clip from an exchange is true, the B. & O. Railroad Company deserves much credit for coming to a very sensible decision.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company will, in the future, give out general information about the road, and furnish authentic reports of accidents or wrecks, if the public has a plausible interest in such information. The officials of the road have received a letter from the head official of the road at Baltimore, notifying them to give out to newspapers all general information concerning the railroad. The letter did not give a detailed account of what was meant by "general information of the railroad," but mentioned promotions, accidents and wrecks. It stated, however, that when in doubt as to the advisability of giving out certain kinds of information, the general press agent should be communicated with, and his decision abided by. The communication stated that this policy had been deemed advisable, as newspapers all over the country, unable to get authentic information concerning railroad accidents and wrecks, generally greatly exaggerated the facts and criticised the railroad company.
