A Knights of Pythias lodge is to be instituted at Garrett, on the evening of March 27th. This will make the eighth K. of P. lodge for Somerset county. Four very ugly looking tramps were prowling about town last Saturday night. Policeman Frank Wagner routed one of them away from Lichter's store, where he had been hanging around with the apparent motive of robbery in view. He ran down an alley when he saw the officer coming, and a few shots from the officer's pistol caused the tramp to greatly increase his speed while going.

If you don't just like everything you see in your paper, go around the streets and loafing places and howl. The editor is never supposed to make a mistake any more than you do. He simply can't. Other people can, but an editor is ubiquitous, omniscient, omnivorous. If you cannot see a good point, do not fail to see a bad one. If a thousand pleasant things are said of the people, hunt for something unpleasant. If you don't find it, howl some more; if you do, howl anyway.

You should be very careful of your bowels when you have a cold. Nearly all other cough syrups are constipating, especially those containing opiates. Miss May Cosgrove, the efficient and obliging manager of the telegraph and telephone office at this place, has resigned to accept a more lucrative position at telegraph operating in Frostburg, Md., in the near future. Her successor will likely be Mrs. Baumgardner, who was telegraph operator in Salisbury for many years, and who also gave excellent satisfaction in that capacity. The Baumgardners now reside in Morgantown, W. Va., but are thinking of moving back to Salisbury.

Our all-wool-and-a-yard-wide friend, warranted never to rip, ravel nor run down at the heel, John Blanchard, who is working in the mines at Windber, has our thanks for a $2.00 bill on subscription, and a letter accompanying it that caused us to roll on the ground and laugh. John is a comical duck, and always sees the humorous side of life. His remittance pays his subscription to April 1st, 1908, and entitles him to a four-months subscription to the Every Where Magazine, one of the best publications on earth.

The people who are contributing to the prosperity of the mail order houses would do well to think long and earnestly over the following remark recently made by Governor Folk, of Missouri: "I do not believe in the mail order citizen. If a place is good enough for a man to live in and make his money in, it is a good enough place for him to spend his money." This item will, no doubt, be read with interest by the merchants and business men who send their money away from town to pay their printing bills, says the Everett Press.

Samuel P. Maust, of Elk Lick, who is interested in the contest of the rival trolley companies for the right of way between Meyersdale and Salisbury, was in Somerset yesterday, and also last week, in the interest of the original company, whose right of way traverses his farm. Mr. Maust is a representative of one of the oldest and most influential families of Elk Lick. He lives in comfortable retirement on his farm, midway between Salisbury and Meyersdale, and whichever claimant wins he will have the trolley line practically at his door.—Somerset Democrat.

THE STAR was in error, last week, in stating that Miss Cora Keim went to Pittsburg in company with George Huston, to meet Mrs. Jonas J. Keim and her two children, who were en route to Salisbury from the state of Indiana. It was her brother George who accompanied Miss Cora, and not Mr. Huston. We are always glad to correct mistakes when our attention is called to them, but a mistake like the one in this instance is hardly worth mentioning, as no harm was done, and surely none was intended. There wouldn't have been a thing wrong about it, even if Geo. Huston had accompanied Miss Keim to Pittsburg instead of her brother George.
