

Coffee—A Question of Taste

Don't let anyone tell you what coffee to buy. Connoisseurs and expert coffee judges differ in their tastes. The point is to get a coffee that suits your taste. GILLIES' COFFEES—"the finest obtainable," are blended to suit different tastes—all tastes. There are four distinct flavors, characteristic of coffees from different parts of the world, consequently four different prices. These different prices mean that some coffees cost more to import than others. If your choice is the lowest or the highest priced—you may be sure that you have the very best of its kind. GILLIES' 35 cent coffee is mellow, aromatic and very delicately flavored, while GILLIES' 30c coffee is rich, full-bodied and delicious—the 25c or 20c blend each has a distinctive flavor which may please you.

HON. J. A. BERKEY.
He and His Law Partner, C. L. Shaver, Win Great Legal Victory in the Flickinger Murder Trial.

A Hotly Contested Trial in Which Berkey & Shaver are the Winners—Flickinger a Free Man.

The celebrated Flickinger murder trial, which occupied more than a week of the court's time, was given over to the deliberations of the jury, last Saturday afternoon. The jury was out but a few hours when a verdict of "not guilty" was rendered, and thus terminated one of the hardest fought legal battles in the history of Somerset county.

John Flickinger, the young man who had been accused of the murder of Wesley Emerick, is now a free man, and that he owes his life to his able attorneys, and to J. A. Berkey, the senior member of the firm, in particular, there is little doubt. With poor lawyers to defend him, his life would in all probability have paid the penalty for the crime of which he had been accused.

District Attorney Meyers was assisted in the prosecution by Messrs. Wm. H. Ruppel and C. W. Walker, Ruppel being the head man in the prosecution of the case.

Public sentiment was strongly against Flickinger, which gave the prosecution a decided advantage; but it seems to us, and seemed so all along, that the prosecutors managed their side of the case very poorly. It is generally believed that if the widow of Wesley Emerick, and probably one other person, had been promptly arrested after Mrs. Emerick made her statement that led to the arrest of John Flickinger, the case would in all probability have had quite a different ending.

Whether justice was cheated or not, we do not pretend to say; but as Flickinger has not been proven guilty, he must be regarded as innocent. Even if he had been convicted, the people of this community would never have believed that he alone was responsible for the death of Wesley Emerick.

It is needless to review the case, as our readers are all familiar with it; and while public sentiment has not changed materially since the trial, it is nevertheless conceded that J. A. Berkey is rapidly becoming one of the leading criminal lawyers of Pennsylvania, and all who admire ability, congratulate him on his success.

THE MILLER MURDER TRIAL.

The trial of John H. Miller, of Stonycreek township, who was charged with the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Stauffer, came to a sudden close on Tuesday afternoon, when Judge Kooser directed the jury to return a verdict of "not guilty." This action was taken by the Court after listening to the remarks of Percy Allen Rose, private counsel for the prosecution, and District Attorney Meyers, who stated that they had exhausted the testimony for the Commonwealth, and had failed to produce testimony that would warrant them, under either the law or their conscience, in pressing for a verdict of guilty.

Mr. Rose stated that matters had developed in the case unexpected by them, and that they had learned the nature of the defense, which would certainly lead to such a doubt that the Commonwealth would not be warranted in pressing the case further.

Therefore, no witnesses were called by the defense. After the formality of having the jury render a verdict of "not guilty," the defendant was discharged, and the Court adjourned.—Somerset Standard.

OUR LOBSTER POLICE.

He Threatens an Old Gray-Haired Woman.

Mrs. Thomas Eckerd informed us last week that our lobster policeman threatened her with dire things because she said he had used about $30 of the United Mine Workers' money to which he was not entitled. He failed to bluff the old lady, however, and when he found out that she could not be bluffed, he told her husband that he did not want the $30 business blown around. The fact is that Mrs. Eckerd had told the truth. It is not generally known, but it is nevertheless true that Wm. Radcliffe, George B. Walker and other high "muck-e-mucks" of the local union of the United Mine Workers were recently summoned before a Meyersdale Justice of the Peace, where Radcliffe was shown to have misappropriated a lot of the aforesaid organization's money.

The hearing was brought about by Messrs. Drum and Ford, two district officers of the U. M. W. of A. who were instrumental in having money sent into this region by the National organization of their order, during the late strike. When the strike collapsed, Radcliffe, who was Treasurer of the local union, had over $100 of the National organization's funds in his possession, and the amount was divided between several favorites of his, one of whom was George B. Walker, our lobster policeman, and his share of the "divy" was something like $30.

It devolved upon Messrs. Drum and Ford to clear their own skirts and show the National officers where the misappropriated money went. This they did by causing the hearing before the Meyersdale Justice of the Peace, which brought out all the facts and showed that our lobster policeman was one of the persons whom the money wrung from the pockets of poor working men in other regions was unjustly divided with, instead of being sent back to the National organization, where it belonged as soon as the strike was declared off.

It was thirty pieces of silver which led Judas to betray the Saviour into the hands of his enemies, but Judas had conscience enough left to condemn him in his own estimation after the deed was done, and he promptly went out and hanged himself.

Thirty-dollar George should do the same thing, or else return the ill-gotten $30 to which he was not entitled. Isn't the big lobster a pretty thing to parade the streets of a decent community with a club in hand to preserve order? Wasn't he a "peach" to go nosing about during the strike, telling men what they must do to be decent? Think of the big, able-bodied lobster feeding his ugly mug on the proceeds of other men's hard labor! The very sight of him in uniform is enough to make a dog vomit, and the dogs could not find a more appropriate object to vomit against and keep moist than our lobster policeman.

Labor unions have ever been in more danger from shysters within than from opponents outside.

An Oratorical Set-Back.

When Bishop Berry, of the Methodist Episcopal church, was a young preacher, he once gave a lecture in a rural community. Wishing to be witty, he announced to his audience that he was a berry and called upon them to state what kind of one. Nearly every berry known in the vicinity was guessed, and the speaker refused to share the qualities of any of those named. At last an old lady, who was not sympathetic with the seeming levity of the lecturer, arose and exclaimed in a squeaky voice: "I know what kind of a berry you are. You are a gooseberry, and a very green one at that. Go on with the lecture." And the lecturer did, laughingly and jovially. He has since proved anything but what the old lady called him.—Will Carleton's Magazine.
